ROOSEVELT TO SEE PRESIDENT

FRANCE BARES SECURITY PACT PLAN FOR U. S.

Asks Us to Abandon Neutrality Right.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 14.—After weeks of astute salesmanship the French plan to insure world peace and promote disarmament was laid tonight clothed in all its intricacies before the disarmament conference which now stands a fine chance of getting under way in dead earnest.

For the first time since it convened the miasma of cynicism and discouragement has largely been dissipated. And although Germany as yet has shown no signs of relenting in its refusal to attend the conference until the powers recognize her right to equality in armaments, hopes are strong that when Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, arrives for the league council's discussion of the Manchurian question next week, he will take cognizance of the obvious fact that France has admitted that the Versailles treaty is not inviolate and that she will grant Germany equality under terms yet to be agreed upon.

Hope to Get Germany Back In.

Everything is being done to make it easy for Von Neurath to reenter the disarmament negotiations if the clique headed by Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, German minister of defense, will permit him. The French plan, which welds security and disarmament ideals, breathes the idea of equality, at least juridically, in every line. The French scheme, however, provides for the "progressive disarmament" of the powers. Rearmament for Germany is excluded.

On Wednesday Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, who arrived today, will present British ideas on disarmament, which, while not called a plan because competition of disarmament plans has some of the bad features of competition in armaments, is reported to be meaty enough to be classed as the first British move toward disarmament.

With detailed presentation of the French plan it has become clear for the first time exactly what France expects of the United States. The United States is expected to agree to consultation pacts supplementing the Kellogg peace pact and to abandon her historic claim to neutrality rights.

Wording of Scheme.

This section of the French plan is worded as follows:

"Any war undertaken in breach of the Paris [Briand-Kellogg] pact is a matter of interest to all the powers and shall be regarded as a breach of the obligations assumed towards each one of them.

"In the event of a breach or threat of a breach of the Paris pact, the said powers shall concert together as promptly as possible with a view to appealing to public opinion and agreeing upon the steps to be taken.

"In application of the pact of Paris outlawing war, any breach of that pact shall involve the prohibition of direct or indirect economic or financial relations with the aggressor country. The powers shall undertake to adopt the necessary measures to make that prohibition immediately effective.

"The said powers shall declare their determination not to recognize any de facto situation brought about in consequence of the violation of an international undertaking."

Secretary Stimson Cited.

Secretary of State Stimson's utterances interpreting the Kellogg pact as implying the need for consultation in case of war or a threat of war were again adduced by the French delegation in support of their proposals.

Another section of the French security scheme provides for firm application of the league of nations covenant, particularly the application of sanctions under article 16.

A third security proposal provides for the organization of regional European security pledges for common action against an aggressor. The decision as to who is the aggressor would be reached by a majority vote of the league council after a quick investigation by a permanent league commission.

Would Give League an Army.

The technical aspects of the French plan follow lines already revealed piecemeal. A short term militia is to replace trained troops in all countries. This means that professional armies for home defense, such as the German reichswehr, would be abolished. This would not, however, effect France's huge colonial army.

There is to be a nucleus of long service effectives which will be kept

Jarecki Ends Fight on 1930 Levy.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday dismissed an objection to payment of 1930 taxes filed by the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers and entered an order of judgment and sale against 56,000 parcels of property covered by the objection, on which $22,000,000 worth of taxes are due.

Unless they deposit the full amount of their taxes with the county treasurer his ruling automatically prevents the property owners involved from making any further legal moves to stay collection of their taxes, which constitute 11 per cent of the $200,000,000 which has been withheld from Cook county governments by a combination of the tax strike and hard times.

Judge Jarecki's opinion in dismissing the objection also was believed to foreshadow the failure of another move pending in his court seeking compromise of delinquent tax bills. Several weeks ago Attorney Roy D. Keehn, who with Attorney Morris Schaeffer prepared the Cisar tax case, brought before Judge Jarecki attorneys and other representatives of a number of large properties on which taxes are unpaid.

Plead for Compromise.

They urged the judge to give an opinion as to the percentage of these tax bills which should be paid on the assumption that large amounts of personal property now left off the tax rolls should be assessed. It was in effect a plea for compromise of delinquent tax bills on the ground that real estate now bears a large proportion of the tax load which should be placed on personal property.

Judge Jarecki said yesterday that he had no power to determine what part of the tax roll is valid, and therefore ground for collection of taxes, and what part is invalid.

Judge Jarecki also served notice that after Dec. 1 property owners who withdraw their tax objections and agree to pay will not receive a 50 per cent remission of deliquency penalties unless they have already paid "a substantial portion" of their tax bills. He made this statement after he had been told that the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers has now advised its members to pay 25 per cent of the bills they protest. For the last two years officers of the association have been advising property owners to pay no taxes at all.

28,000 Objectors Affected.

The objection dismissed by Judge Jarecki yesterday was filed in the name of James E. Bistor, chairman of the executive committee of the taxpayers' association, which has been the most active propagandist in the county against tax payments. Objecting with Bistor were some 28,000 members of the association.

The grounds of objection were the same cited in both the Cisar case and a previous tax case brought in Bistor's name against the 1928 and 1929 tax rolls. In both of these cases the objections were held invalid by the Illinois Supreme court, and the United States Supreme court later refused to review the Bistor case. The objectors charged that the assessment officials had omitted from the tax rolls 16 billions of dollars' worth of personal property which is properly taxable. Therefore, they asserted, they, as real estate taxpayers, are bearing a disproportionate part of the tax burden.

Mr. Bell filed an answer to the objection yesterday. He termed it "incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial," pointing out that the same facts had been adjudicated and the objection found invalid in the Bistor and Cisar cases.

Judge Jarecki's Opinion.

"I know of the facts set out in this pleading through hearing the Cisar case over a period of ten weeks," Judge Jarecki said in his opinion. "Although I agree with the reasoning that the tax roll is fraudulent, I can't say that it is invalid. To say that it was fraudulent, I would have to go to the length of determining just what part of the roll was valid and what parts are bad. [This is what Attorney Keehn asked him to do.] I have no power to do this, and in doing it I would become the assessor, and this the legislature specifically desired to keep from the judiciary."

He continued, addressing Attorney Ferre Watkins, representing the tax objectors:

"You have asked me to hold off judgment in your case because of the Koester mandamus case now before the Illinois Supreme court and because the United States Supreme court is now considering an appeal in the Cisar case. If either of these cases is won it will be up to the as-

A NEW PIED PIPER ENTICES CHICAGO'S BLUEBOOK DOGDOM

A new Pied Piper is at large in Chicago. Not a kindly Pied Piper as of Hamelin, but a mean fellow who of late has left a lot of Chicago kids in tears.

Reports of his activities have been about for some time and an investigation reveals that he has been at work in all parts of the city leaving a trail of broken hearted Jimmys, Bettys, Tommys in his wake. Their dogs have followed him away.

There are no alleviating circumstances, like the non payment of the reward promised the legendary flute player for ridding the town of rats, in the Chicago Pied Piper's scheme. He's a racketeer and after the valuable dogs trail away after him he sells them.

So far only dogs that are bred in the purple, breeds that are in constant demand, have been his objectives, police say. The Piper is reaping a big profit.

Instead of appealing to the auditory senses of his intended victims as did the Pied Piper with his flute, this new desciple attracts his canine victims through their sense of smell.

The investigation revealed that the Pied Piper of Dogdom has the recipe for a food that is tantalizing to any dog's appetite once he smells it. One whiff will make even the most aristocratic dogs wag their tails, smack their lips and follow wherever the Piper might lead them.

The food is rolled into the shape of a hamburger ball and the Piper carries it in his outside coat pocket. Then he strolls through the neighborhoods where high priced dogs are at play or out for an airing.

The first smell of the magic mixture finds the dogs at the heels of the Piper. The dog follows to an automobile parked around the corner. The Piper frequently returns to the kennels he maintains with a dozen highly prized pups after a stroll of but a few hours.

He markets the dogs to acquaintances or friends of acquaintances who want a good dog cheap and ask no questions. To strangers his kennels appear legitimate.

Burbank, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Breaking the transcontinental east-west speed record by two hours and seventeen minutes, Roscoe Turner set his airplane down at the United airport at 5:15 p. m. Pacific standard time today, 12 hours and 33 minutes out of New York.

Turner said he averaged 199.2 miles an hour against strong headwinds the entire distance. He left New York at 7:46 a. m. eastern standard time.

Turner took off from here at 2:34 a. m. last Saturday in an effort to set a new round trip speed record between New York and Los Angeles, but damage to his landing gear in setting the ship down at Columbus, O., forced him to abandon the attempt.

TOKIO, Nov. 15.—[Tuesday.]—Sustaining the full force of a terrific typhoon, described as the worst in 13 years, 10,000 houses in Tokio were flooded and all main lines of communication were disrupted early this morning. The typhoon struck the central coast of Hondo island and swept southwest.

Three were killed, several were injured and 100 persons are missing at Yokohama, large seaport on Tokio bay. The casualties occurred when 30 houses were buried beneath a landslide. Two hundred residences were destroyed by fire during the typhoon at Shizuoka, coastal city southwest of here.

Service on the main line of the railroad to Osaka, west of Tokio, was disrupted. The typhoon covered a wide area and the details of the damage wrought still are meager.

GOVERNOR ACCEPTS BID TO VISIT WHITE HOUSE

TELEGRAM ASKS "PERSONAL AND INFORMAL" TALK

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt accepted tonight the invitation of President Hoover to attend a conference on international war debts.

In a telegram directed to Pratt, Kas., to intercept the eastbound Hoover train, the New York governor urged a "wholly informal and personal" talk. At the same time he carefully pointed out that it was the President and not he who for the present bore the responsibility of dealing with the problem.

The exact date of the conference was not set and will not be until the President elect fixes a time for his departure for Warm Springs, Ga., for he will talk with the President on the journey to the south. In Georgia he will confer with the Democratic leaders of congress.

Text of the Message.

"I appreciate your cordial telegram. On the subjects to which you refer, as in all matters relating to the welfare of the country, I am glad to cooperate in every appropriate way, subject, of course, to the requirements of my present duties as governor of this state.

"I shall be delighted to confer with you in Washington, but I have been confined to the house with a slight cold and I am, therefore, not able to suggest a definite date. I shall call you on the telephone as soon as the time of my departure for the south has been determined.

"May I take the liberty of suggesting that we make this meeting wholly informal and personal? You and I can go over the entire situation.

"I had already arranged to meet a number of the Democratic leaders of the present congress late this month at Warm Springs. It will be helpful for me to have your views and all pertinent information when I meet with them. I hope that you also will see them at the earliest opportunity because, in the last analysis, the immediate question raised by the British, French and other notes creates a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority.

"My kindest regards.

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Governor Hard at Work.

The governor spent a good part of the day preparing the reply to the President on the conference invitation.

Recognizing the importance of the decisions he will be called upon to make as he halts at Washington on his way to Warm Springs for the unprecedented talk with the President, he spent hours drafting the response.

Gov. Roosevelt talked on the long distance telephone with Col. Louis McHenry Howe, his chief adviser, with Col. Edward M. House, inherited from the Woodrow Wilson days, and with Bernard M. Baruch, outstanding Democratic financier, who is close in his official family.

Prof. Raymond I. Moley, head of the Roosevelt "brains trust," who for many months has been the chief aid in preparing statements for public consumption, was with him most of the day working over the wording of the reply to the President.

Conference Likely Next Week.

As the governor already has laid plans to remain in Albany until the end of the work week laboring on state affairs it is believed that the meeting with the President will take place about next Monday or Tuesday. The President elect will probably stop off for a few hours of exchange of information and views at Washington and then continue to the Georgia resort where he will meet with the Democratic leaders as the curtain is about to go up on the "lame duck" session.

Debts Issue Still Faced by Present Administration.

President Hoover received Gov. Roosevelt's reply as his special train sped eastward through Kansas. It was put aboard at Hutchinson, having missed the train at Pratt. He refused to make any comment. But his aids said he seemed pleased. Details on page 2.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—President Elect Roosevelt's reply to President Hoover's invitation to confer on the British and French pleas for revision of their war debts owed the United States was interpreted here tonight as evidence of a determination to avoid direct commitment on the question before March 4.

The President elect in the message gives an indication that he declines to be drawn into any argument on the course to be adopted before he assumes the presidency. He consents to confer with Mr. Hoover informally and the surmise here is that he does this in order that he may the more helpfully advise Democratic leaders in congress on the eve of the December session of congress.

But, pointing out that the responsibility for dealing with the French and British notes rests upon the present administration, Gov. Roosevelt suggests further that the President confer directly with the Democratic leaders.

Takes No Responsibility.

Thus the President elect washed his hands of responsibility for what the Hoover administration will do with regard to the war debts. When he becomes President on March 4 it will be a different administration with a different congress, which may have entirely different views of the attitude to be taken toward the European debtors. Gov. Roosevelt carefully avoided foreclosing the future and left the present responsibility with President Hoover, at the same time agreeing to confer informally with him.

Gov. Roosevelt's reply struck a medium between the views of those Democratic leaders who thought he should accept the President's invitation unreservedly and the views of those who counseled him to reject it unconditionally.

Doubt Wisdom of Invitation.

Others were convinced that the President is maneuvering to commit his successor to a course of action envisaging the modification of the debt terms in accordance with the Hoover-Laval understanding.

It also transpired that some high officials of the administration doubt the wisdom of the invitation extended to Gov. Roosevelt. In their opinion the President should content himself with transmitting the French and British notes together with his recommendations to congress, which alone possesses the authority to revise the debt terms.

It is pointed out that congress repudiated the position of the President on the debts last December when it rejected his proposal to reconstitute the debt settlement commission to consider temporary modification of the debt terms and instead adopted a resolution declaring against either cancellation or reduction.

The prevailing opinion among administration officials is that Europe has no intention of paying the war debts and that the whole question is one of educating the American public up to the realization that they will not be paid and that the best policy is to seek some trade or other concessions in lieu of the stated bond.

Stimson Favors Revision.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson represents the administration element that is in thorough sympathy with the course the President has taken, if indeed the American foreign minister did not counsel it. Mr. Stimson is understood to be in favor not only of postponement of the payments due Dec. 15 but a reopening and revision of the debt settlements downward. What he contemplates is a reopening of the settlement with each debtor individually and an adjustment of the debt on the basis of the debtor's capacity to pay, as was done originally.

The secretary of state is positive that the United States will not consent to consideration of the debt revision by a general conference, such as the forthcoming monetary and economic conference of the powers.

Republican leaders who long have been critical of the Hoover foreign policies are saying that the President is finding a lot of chickens coming home to roost. As they view it, Mr. Hoover was as clay in the hands of the wily Premier Laval, who came to Washington a year ago, engaged in a series of conferences with the President and took home exactly what he came for.

As was pointed out at the time Laval succeeded in committing Mr. Hoover to linking of the war debts and reparations, a concession that every previous administration had refused. Laval asked the President point blank what America would do as to the war debts if the European powers should reduce German reparations. Mr. Hoover replied that America would do her part. This exchange was authoritatively disclosed following the final conference by an administration spokesman who interpreted the President's words as a commitment to the reduction of the war debts commensurate with any reduction in reparations.

For some morths the President toyed with a scheme for the reduction of war debts commensurately with a reduction of armament by the European powers, which, however, shied at that proposal and continued to work for a modification of the debt terms along the lines of the Hoover-Laval agreement. The powers held the Lausanne conference and agreed on a reduction of German reparations to 714 millions of dollars, contingent under the terms of a secret gentlemen's agreement on debt concessions by the United States.

Seeks European Support.

Secretary Stimson himself went to Europe and engaged in conversations which encouraged the powers to believe that the debt concessions would be forthcoming. By that time Mr. Stimson was seeking European support of his menacing policy of dealing with Japan in Manchuria.

In accord with the President's views of debt reduction as a quid pro quo for European disarmament Norman H. Davis, Democrat, and other members of the Hoover commission to the disarmament conference became involved in negotiations touching on the debt question. They protested that no commitments were made.

As a result of all these developments, however, the powers regard the United States committed by President Hoover to debt reductions. They looked for early fulfillment of the Hoover pledge if the President were reelected with a Republican congress behind him. The outcome of the election, however, has upset these calculations.

Glenn Opposes Decision Now.

Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] said today that in his opinion the debt revision question should go over to the new administration and new congress after March 4.

"I am opposed to cancellation and to reduction of the debts," he said. "As to temporary easing of the terms, I think that should go over till the Roosevelt administration and the 73d congress come in. In any event, I think France should be held to the Dec. 15 payment, which is only 20 millions.

"France has a vast store of gold and can easily afford to pay."

Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] said "it would be an awful mistake" for Gov. Roosevelt to join with President Hoover on an extension of the moratorium. He said it would be impossible for the governor to acquaint himself with the intricate question in a few days. Moreover, the President initiated the moratorium and the senator thought Mr. Hoover "should go ahead with it now; it's his problem."

Fess Says Loans Must Be Paid.

Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] thought the failure of the powers to reduce armaments leaves America cold toward debt reduction.

"The foreign loans will have to be paid; if not by foreign countries, then by our own people," he said. "The debt was adjusted on a capacity to pay basis and it is evidently sought to revise on the same basis. So long as the debtor nations reduce their capacity to pay by commitments deemed by this country as unwise and refuse to take steps to increase the capacity to pay by a reduction of these domestic matters, American public opinion would resist any step toward revision.

"If these countries will make a definite proposal to be included in the agenda submitted it would open the way to determine the wisdom or the unwisdom of the course. Congress, whose approval must be had before anything can be done, will at least demand a definite purpose which up to date has not been defined."

HOOVER PLEASED BY DEBT REPLY OF ROOSEVELT

BULLETIN.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15 (Tuesday).—(AP)—The special train carrying President Hoover back to Washington made a 10 minute stop here early today before proceding eastward at 1:35 a. m.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard President Hoover's Special Train, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Gov. Roosevelt's telegram accepting President Hoover's invitation to a conference on the war debts was received by the President on board his special train at Hutchinson, Kas., tonight.

The President made no comment public, but aids of Mr. Hoover said he was pleased and willing that the time of the conference be at Gov. Roosevelt's convenience.

Impelled by the demands of Great Britain and France for a rehearing of the war debts case, Mr. Hoover is performing the unique act of asking his successor, nearly four months before inauguration day, to share in the decision of such significant policies as those relating to the debts, to world economic rehabilitation and disarmament.

According to the view of Mr. Hoover and the presidential coterie traveling with him back to Washington, the idea of a conference is a matter of plain business efficiency. The President wishes to cooperate with the incoming administration on any project affecting "national solidarity."

Natural Step to Take.

The President's friends say if there were a corporation about to change managements it would be a natural step for the old chairman of the board to invite the new chairman to conference on matters bound to extend into the new administration.

As others see it a joint conference arriving at a joint policy would actually mean the prolongation of President Hoover's influence past March 4. Should the Roosevelt administration succeed in a satisfactory solution of the debt disarmament and economic questions a large share of the credit doubtless would be accorded Mr. Hoover for having set the Democrats on the right path. Should they, on the other hand, fail, it might be considered their fault for having bungled a job on which Mr. Hoover was so kind as to help them get started.

Gov. Roosevelt's solution of the debt problem, at least as seen through Republican eyes, is to work out tariff revisions which will permit debtor nations to dispose of their goods and so earn sufficient money to meet the debt payments.

Plan Denounced by Hoover.

President Hoover denounced such a program often and vigorously during his campaign; he not only opposed any downward revision of the tariff, but proposed an examination of present schedules to see whether they ought not to be pushed higher.

For his part the President suggested that foreign nations be given credit against their obligations for any concessions which would offer a wider market for American manufactures and farm products. Mr. Hoover has as yet to elucidate just what his proposal would include, but presumably it would mean that foreign nations would be expected to lower some of their tariffs and amend some of their laws such as the various milling laws requiring the use of domestic products.

WILSON REFUSED TAFT ADVICE ON THE MEXICAN CRISIS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The only incident in the nature of a precedent for President Hoover's invitation to President Elect Roosevelt to consult on the debt revision question occurred toward the close of the Taft administration in 1913 following the election of Woodrow Wilson.

Conditions in Mexico had been growing more and more disturbed, American lives and properties were endangered, and the question before the administration in the early part of February, 1913, was whether American troops should be sent across the border to protect American interests. Finally, two weeks before the inauguration of Mr. Wilson, President Madero of Mexico was deposed and slain while in the custody of Huerta's troops.

Henry Lane Wilson, American ambassador to Mexico, advised President Taft to recognize Huerta. About this time, possibly immediately following the assassination of Madero, President Taft sent a confidential emissary to Mr. Wilson to suggest that if it were agreeable to the President elect the state department would acquaint him with the Mexican situation in detail.

It was also understood that Mr. Taft suggested that in any action he might take with reference to Mexico he should like to be guided by the wishes of the man who was so soon to succeed him.

Mr. Wilson returned an answer by the messenger thanking Mr. Taft, but declining to give or accept counsel. The emissary is supposed to have been the late Archie Butt, aid to President Taft.

Joseph P. Tumulty, who was secretary to President Wilson, said tonight that he recalled the incident and believed Maj. Butt was the emissary. He, however, recalled no letters being exchanged by Mr. Taft and Mr. Wilson and believes the exchange to have been purely oral.

EUROPE'S DEBT MOVE BASED ON LAUSANNE PACT

Reparations Cut Hinged on U. S. Action.

The allied nations' new drive toward repudiation of their war debts to the United States is based upon the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" made last July at Lausanne.

This agreement provided that the reparations which Germany must pay the allies should be reduced from 26 billion dollars, as stipulated in the Young plan, to 714 million dollars. The reduction was not to take effect unless the United States could be prevailed upon to modify the understanding under which the allied powers are obligated to pay this country 11 billion dollars in principal and 10 billion dollars in interest in the course of the next fifty-eight years.

Thus European diplomats definitely linked war debts with reparations—a union which American statesmen have always opposed.

Seen as Cancellation Move.

Although the British and French notes received recently by the department of state at Washington ask only for modification of the allied debt agreements, it is believed that the communications mark the beginning of a new movement toward the cancellation of these obligations.

This is understood to be the opening of a new chapter in the history of the international financial tangle which began with the signing of the treaty of Versailles in which Germany and her allies accepted responsibility for the damages of the war.

The treaty made no attempt to fix the total bill which was to be submitted to Germany, although a tentative figure of 64 billion dollars was mentioned at that time. However, the reparations commission which was established under the terms of the treaty made a report in 1921, fixing Germany's liability at 32 billion dollars.

Collapse of the Mark.

Germany then plunged into a state of financial chaos which reached a climax in 1923 when the mark became virtually valueless. The reparations commission accordingly appointed a committee headed by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, which was to evolve a plan whereby Germany would be enabled to extricate itself from its predicament and meet its obligations.

This committee met in Paris in 1924 and drafted what is known as the Dawes plan. Under this arrangement Germany was to begin with a comparatively small annual reparations payment and increase the sum each year until she was paying 595 million dollars at the end of the fifth year. Annual payments of this size were to continue thereafter for an indefinite period. Thus the Dawes plan did not fix the total aggregate sum which was to be exacted from Germany. The plan was approved and went into effect in 1924.

After two or three years it became apparent that a definite sum would have to be fixed sooner or later. Germany was demanding to know just how long she would be compelled to continue paying reparations.

Young Plan Drafted.

Accordingly the reparations commission instructed a committee headed by Owen D. Young to work out a system to be substituted for the Dawes plan. This group met in Paris in February, 1929, and devised what has become known as the Young plan. Under this arrangement the total reparations were fixed at 26 billion dollars and Germany was given sixty years in which to pay.

Then came the world-wide business depression and Germany's financial plight became critical. So the Hoover moratorium was put into effect whereby all payments of international obligations were suspended between June 30, 1931, and June 30, 1932.

As the moratorium came to an end European diplomats met in the Lausanne conference, which convened last June. By early July they had reached an agreement that the German reparations would be reduced to 714 million dollars if the United States in turn would cut down the sums due from the allies. This is the background of the move to pass the entire financial burden to the American taxpayers.

Division of Reparations.

According to an agreement made at the Spa conference in 1920, German reparation payments are divided among the allies as follows: France, 52 per cent; Great Britain, 22 per cent; Italy, 10 per cent; Belgium, 8 per cent; Japan and Portugal, 1.50 per cent; Greece, Rumania and other allied countries combined, 6.50 per cent.

Inasmuch as part of the payments are made in commodities and part in cash, the situation is complicated by a dispute over the amount Germany has handed over thus far. France contends that the allies have received only $5,000,000,000, while Germany claims to have paid $16,000,000,000 in addition to colonies, territories and mines which it ceded to the allies.

United States treasury officials announced that the allies had paid $1,500,000,000 of their debt to this country.

PHILIPPINES SEND ENVOY; MAY ASK FOR COMPLETE FREEDOM

MANILA, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Senator Benigno Aquino of the Philippine legislature sailed tonight for the United States. He is due in Washington Dec. 8 to join the independence mission.

Aquino bears new secret instructions to the Philippine delegation, presumably in the form of a mandate of the legislature opposing both the Hawes and Hare bills, and demanding a new independence grant without reservation by the United States of naval bases and coaling stations.

The mandate also would provide for tariff reciprocity between the United States and the Philippines and that there be no plebiscite on independence by the Islanders in the interim of transition of government for a period not exceeding ten years. The limitation on importation of sugar to the United States free of duty would be fixed at not less than 1,500,000 long tons.

NEW VOTE COUNT SHOWS HELLER IS LEADING HASTEN

Indications that several candidates whose defeat was indicated on unofficial returns may have been winners in the balloting last Tuesday were given yesterday, when thirty teams of workers began the official canvass of the vote in the offices of the election commissioners.

Judge Samuel Heller, Republican, was one whose chances appeared more favorable. A candidate for the Municipal bench, he appeared beaten in the first count. Based on the adding machine total, with certain missing precincts unofficially supplied, Judge Heller was reported last night to have 311,655 votes and to be leading Irwin J. Hasten, Democrat, by nearly 600 votes. Hasten was one of the twelve winners for judge in the original count.

The counters are dealing first with the national, state and county offices and the Municipal court. It is expected that by Thursday they will be ready to count the votes in the congressional and legislative contests. Both James Simpson Jr. and Charles H. Weber claim victory in the 10th congressional district, while the race between Congressman Fred A. Britten and James McAndrews, in the 9th, is close.

Dismisses Habeas Action of Jailed Realty Dealer

Habeas corpus proceedings in the United States District court on behalf of Raymond E. Prochnow, real estate broker who has been in the county jail for more than two months, were dismissed for want of prosecution by Judge John P. Barnes yesterday. Prochnow was sentenced to jail by Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor for failure to comply with a court order to satisfy a judgment of $35,000 in an estate case. Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, on Prochnow's plea that his constitutional rights had been violated, set bonds of $5,000 pending a hearing.

ELGIN CONGRESS CANDIDATE TO SEEK RECOUNT

James A. Howell of Elgin, Democratic candidate for congress from the 11th district, who apparently was defeated by Congressman Frank Reid of Aurora, served formal notice yesterday on the clerks of Kane, Will, Du Page, and McHenry counties to preserve the ballots cast in their districts. This action, he explained, is a preliminary to a request for a recount which he will demand in the national house of representatives.

English-Designed Double Breasteds

bringing you that high-priced "made-for-me" look without the high price

$20 with two trousers

If there's one thing a Britisher knows how to make, it's a double-breasted jacket. He has a flare for tailoring it with brisk, keen lines that certainly do flatter the figures of us average men.

That's why we went to London for ours—and yours! We wanted vigorous, he-man punch for these smartest of all suits. Broad military shoulders! Tapered waistline! Perfectly spaced buttons (a trick that counts a lot in tracing trim lines). And to carry out just the right effect, we've even used exact reproductions of costly imported worsteds.

If you've ever secretly envied suits with that expensive "made-for-me" look, let these new English double-breasteds—and your mirror—show you how easily (and inexpensively) it can be done.

U. S. TAXPAYERS FIGHT DEBT CUT, BRITAIN IS TOLD

Repudiation Would Unload Billions on America.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—No reply has yet been received in London to the British note asking the American government for a new deal on the war debts, and none is expected until after the proposed meeting of President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt. Even then it is suggested that nothing more may come than an acknowledgment of receipt of the note and the information that the matter will have to be referred to congress.

After the haste which prompted the sending of the note two days after the American election came a period of reflection today. This was induced by realistic dispatches from British newspaper correspondents in Washington. Several pointed out that what has not been properly realized by England is that what Britain calls "cancellation" means only a transfer of the tax burden to the backs of American taxpayers, and that the American taxpayer, facing a deficit in his own budget, is not likely to make a gift of billions of dollars for the sake of Europe unless he gets something tangible in return.

May Transfer Islands.

In this connection, British opinion is that President Hoover's proposal for a conference with Gov. Roosevelt is intended to seek an agreement on tangible benefits for America in exchange for debt reduction, and many suggestions are being made here as to what may be in the President's mind.

In some quarters a disposition is found to think that at least something might be gained by trading the British West Indian islands for a whole or part of the British debt. This frame of mind is strengthened by the realization that the islands are a liability and not an asset to the British empire. A hard push from the United States for the islands might not meet much resistance.

The best opinion, however, inclines to the thought that Hoover may be thinking of bribing Europe to disarm by forgiving a part of the debt on stringent conditions of arms limitation. If this is so, Britain will be willing to do a small share, at any rate. With this in mind, the speech which Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon is going to make Wednesday before the Geneva disarmament conference bureau cannot be separated from the debts situation.

Will Present Concrete Plan.

The British foreign secretary will present a definite plan, with figures, for drastic reduction, if not abolition, of big guns, tanks, fighting airplanes, submarines and battleships and drastic proposals for the control of civil aircraft.

These five weapons are forbidden Germany by the Versailles treaty, and under the British thesis of German equality Germany must either be allowed to build them or other nations must abandon them. All of Britain's influence will be thrown in favor of abandonment.

In the matter of civil aircraft it is realized that it is impossible to retard the development of air travel, but it is hoped that a system of inspection, registration and control will make impossible the acquisition of a large force of fighting machines under the disguise of civil craft and, above all, put an end to competition in evolving new fighting types.

See Advantage to U. S.

If this end can be attained it is argued that Europe will have so much more money to spend on American goods that it would be worth America's while to help by making debt reductions dependent upon disarmament.

A story printed in the British press today that Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exechequer, may go to Washington to negotiate on the debts question was denied by the foreign office. It is more likely that the negotiations will be conducted by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador in Washington, with the help of one or two experts from the British treasury.

In the house of commons today a protest against giving the text of the British debt note to the press before it was given to parliament was made by Maj. H. L. Nathan, Laborite.

Nathan also wanted assurance that no payment would be made to the United States without the consent of the house. When no answer was returned he declared he would raise the matter again at the first opportunity.

France Eyes U. S. Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 14.—With the government postponing further debt action until the United States has officially answered the recent request for revision, the French press today employed itself in scrutinizing the purpose and probable outcome of the impending meeting of President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt.

The consensus was that the meeting was logically "in order" and therefore to be approved. Le Journal, however, pointed out that France would probably receive better treatment at the hands of the New American congress than the old.

Belgian Note Ready.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 14.—Belgium today joined the debt offensive launched by Great Britain and France and prepared a note to Washington asking for an extension of the moratorium on its war debt. The note will be cabled late tonight or early tomorrow, it was announced.

U. OF C.'S STOLEN BUST ARRIVES AT ART INSTITUTE

The 90 pound bronze bust which was stolen a week ago from the University of Chicago, was located yesterday afternoon at the Art Institute of Chicago. The bust, a likeness of Prof. J. U. Nef, who was dean of the chemistry department until his death in 1915, was taken from the lobby of the George Herbert Jones chemistry laboratory.

It appeared yesterday afternoon, according to William Ford, head of the shipping department, on the loading platform at the institute.

"This bust is donated to the Art Institute by the University of Chicago chemistry department as requested," said a letter attached to the bronze. Officials of the university believe the theft was a student prank.

"I'm sure we had nothing to do with its arrival here," Director R. B. Harshe of the Art Institute said. "Maybe we can get the university to take it back."

BIT OF WINTER MAKES EARLY VISIT TO DIXIE

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The palm trees in south Florida's tropics were given a coat of frost and farther north portions of Dixie were treated far more severely by cold and snow today.

Warning had come from Dr. R. A. Dyke of the New Orleans weather bureau, who said temperatures ranging from 20 to 30 degrees could be expected in Oklahoma, north Arkansas, and northwest portions of east Texas tomorrow.

The usual Florida temperature retreated temporarily before freezing temperatures at several points, with frost as far south as the Everglades. Some winter crops were damaged, but as yet agricultural experts are hopeful.

The coldest southern city was Asheville, N. C., where the mercury went down to 24.

Sugar cane growers and strawberry planters near the Gulf of Mexico hailed the cold and frost as godsends. The frost ripens and sweetens the cane and the cold holds back budding of strawberry plants.

Holds Union's Suit Against Pullman Company Is Legal

Federal Judge George E. Q. Johnson yesterday overruled a motion to dismiss the bill of complaint of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters against the Pullman company. U. S. GIVES OUT 7,074,000,000 FISH AND EGGS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Just to keep the supply plentiful the government distributed 7,074,000,000 fish and eggs last year.

That was nearly 50,000,000 less than for the preceding year. Most of the distribution consisted of commercial varieties, though many million game fish were included.

The bulletin said the take of fur sealskins on the Pribiloff islands again exceeded 49,000, but was slightly less than in 1931. It added that the fishing industry had suffered in common with other foodstuffs producers.

BROOKHART ILL OF PNEUMONIA AT HINSDALE

Iowa Senator's Strength Aiding Recovery.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa is ill with pneumonia at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Pope, 69 North Madison street, Hinsdale, it was learned yesterday. The senator suffered a chill while attending the funeral of Congressman Charles A. Karch a week ago in East St. Louis.

He came to Chicago in accordance with plans previously made, and went to the home of Mr. Pope, a friend, where his condition became worse and bronchial pneumonia developed.

Resistance Aids Fight.

"Everything is in his favor," Col. Hugh Scott, head of the Edward Hines Memorial hospital, said yesterday after a consultation with Dr. Carl E. Schultz, who has been attending the senator. "Senator Brookhart has a wonderful resistance. He has never disipated and has never taken alcohol, tea or coffee.

"Of course, pneumonia is always a serious matter for a man 65 years old. However, if the senator continues to improve for the next two days he will be out of the woods. We decided to leave him at the home of his friends, where he is in good hands. The senator's sister, Miss Thelma Brookhart, a trained nurse, is at the Pope home and is taking care of her brother."

Seriousness Not Realized.

Mr. Pope said yesterday that he had not realized the seriousness of Senator Brookhart's illness until the consultation of physicians.

"He had a chill in East St. Louis while waiting for the train," Mr. Pope said. "He was tired out from the campaign and had a cold when he arrived. We thought it best for him to go to bed and rest up for several days. He is feeling much better this evening and his fever had completely disappeared shortly before dinner time." Mr. Pope said Senator Brookhart hopes to be able to leave for Washington in a few days.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A contrast on prohibition — Uncle Sam spending vast sums on enforcement in the United States and servir s as landlord for night clubs and speakeasies and for a full line of night life activities, wine, women and song, in the Panama Canal Zone—was portrayed here yesterday by witnesses before the Shannon congressional committee which is investigating government competition with private enterprise.

Roy C. Jones of Kansas City, a radio station manager who spent three years on the isthmus, brought members of the committee up in their seats by declaring that barrooms and a red light district, legalized by the Panama government, are operated on land owned by the United States government.

U. S. Owns 90% of Land.

"The Panama Railroad company, owned and operated by the United States," he said, "owns 90 per cent of the land in the city of Colon. This city is controlled by the Republic of Panama. The Panama Railroad company rents this land to individuals and concerns, refusing to sell or turn over its rights to Panama. In renting this land the Panama railroad or United States government has no jurisdiction over the class of building or to what use it is put.

"Consequently on United States government land there are countless bars and houses of prostitution and cheap hotels of the lowest class.

Picture U. S. Competition.

The portrayal of the government as landlord for the underworld came as the climax to testimony from several witnesses to the effect that cutthroat rivalry by the government is driving private taxpaying business men to the wall on the isthmus. With clubhouses, soda fountains, lunchrooms, department stores, they declared, the federal government, with no overhead and no taxes to pay, is underselling private concerns.

The growth of monopoly in the Canal Zone, the witnesses set forth, has reached the point where federal employés solicit ships passing through the canal to buy their stores at the commissary, while a small army of federal jobholders, "after working hours," is following a large assortment of side lines as agents and salesmen in competition with local merchants.

Shipping interests placed long complaints before the committee to the effect that private American shipping finds itself unable to withstand government competition on the isthmus.

Most of the day's hearing was devoted to Panama. The program was arranged by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Chester Leasure being in charge of the presentation.

An argument that motor buses have to meet "subsidized competition of the railroads" was placed before the committee by Ivan Bowen of Minneapolis in behalf of the National Association of Motor Bus Operators.

"Freezing Out Private Merchants."

As developed by the testimony of Mr. Jones, the federal government in the Canal Zone is "freezing out" private taxpaying merchants by unfair practices in violation of the anti-trust laws. J. J. Enderton of Colon, representing the Panama and Colon chambers of commerce, gave similar testimony.

Members of the committee present were Chairman Joseph Shannon, Congressmen Robert Rich of Pennsylvania, William H. Stafford of Wisconsin, and Samuel B. Pettengill of Indiana.

"The government commissaries handle everything, almost, used by a human being," said Mr. Enderton. "In addition, employés are agents for companies and take orders in their spare time. The government employs unfair trade practices. In normal times it was bad enough. Now times are bad and government competition has become even worse, and private business has been whittled down."

"U. S. Stores Open to All."

"Anybody can buy in a government commissary," said Mr. Jones. "It is not restricted to canal employés. Such competition is ruinous to the local merchant.

"The Panama Railroad company operated clubhouses. Here it sells tariff-free and tax-free articles. Cigars and cigarets have caused much dissension. The Panama Railroad company gets its cigarets free of internal revenue tax, free of duty, and is enabled to sell them at a high profit for only eight cents a package, or 80 cents per carton. As this is a highly dutiable article in Panama and freight rates are relatively high, the private merchant cannot obtain these cigarets for less than nine cents a package wholesale.

"The Panama railroad can thus easily undersell these articles and still make its profit. This also induces a high degree of smuggling into the republic of Panama.

Get Trade from Ships.

"The Panama Railroad company's commissaries solicit all ships that call at or pass through the canal. By reason of their low prices and active solicitation the commissaries stock 100 per cent of these vessels of all nationalities. Another lucrative business is lost to the local merchant.

"The Panama Railroad Steamship company, a subsidiary, operates a line of vessels hauling freight for commissaries. This system is a big factor in enabling the commissaries to undersell the local merchant who must pay regular freight rates."

Mr. Jones went on to describe the government monopoly of the telegraph business and the radio broadcasting in the Canal Zone. Members of the committee pointed out that this might be part of the war department's policy as a matter of strategy. Jones then described the "side line" competition with the outside men.

Asks Abandonment of Line.

An argument that the government should abandon the Panama Railroad Steamship line was made by R. J. Baker, secretary of the American Steamship Owners' association. He also argued against the use of government transports.

"We submit," he said, "that there is absolutely no justification for the continued operation of the Panama Railroad Steamship line. It performs no service which cannot be as well or better performed by private shipping interests. It is in direct and violent competition with the commercial lines serving the canal and beyond. It should be abolished.

"We further submit that the operation of the government transports is economically unsound and constitutes an infringement of the rights of private industry, and that the carriage of government troops and supplies by our merchant marine would be in the public interest. It would benefit both the government and the private shipping industry. The benefits to the government would accrue by reason of a more economical and efficient service and to the privately owned American merchant marine by a substantial increase in revenue and prestige."

U. S. Competition in Illinois.

Early in the session the Illinois Manufacturers' association submitted a list of nearly 100 Illinois manufacturing enterprises affected by government competition. The list was supplemental to the one introduced at the South Bend, Ind., hearings and with it was made an argument by David R. Clarke, general counsel, that government in business is a substantial factor in the unemployment situation.

Dr. D. M. Campbell, speaking for the American Veterinary Medical association, said that government farm extension workers were selling medicines and serums, using franked envelopes and postcards to carry on their trade, and although unqualified and unlicensed were usurping the practice of veterinarians.

Government Garages Compete with Private Business

REVEAL HOW U. S. GARAGES INJURE PRIVATE PLANTS

Postal Dept. Runs 5 Big Service Stations Here.

A striking example of government competition with private business in Chicago was revealed yesterday in a survey of the five large postal garages within the city limits which are used for the housing, maintenance, repair, and rebuilding of the hundreds of mail trucks used by the postoffice in gathering and distributing mail.

"The garage business in Chicago is in bad shape," commented James F. Dooley, chairman of the garage owners' committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. "There is no doubt that government competition has injured it just as it has injured other lines of business. If the government's garage business were let out to private garage owners it would be extremely beneficial to our industry in general."

An Investment of $1,500,000.

The largest of the postal garages, and said at the time of its construction five years ago to be the largest and best equipped automobile service station of its kind in the world, is the government garage at 1015 Congress street. It is three stories high, in addition to a basement, contains 176,000 square feet of usable area, and represents a total investment of $1,500,000.

All of the government's central motor vehicle activities, including maintenance and repair work as well as rebuilding of cars, are carried on in the big structure. The government has leased the entire building for ten years at an annual rental of $84,000. The lease provides for a renewal of ten years at the same annual rate.

Hundreds of big mail trucks thunder in and out of this structure throughout the day and night. The building contains modern machine shops, paint shops, and a tire storage shop. Uncle Sam furnishes heat, light, water, and power.

There are a number of modern private garages in the vicinity, most of them 75 per cent vacant, the survey showed.

Other Postal Garages.

There are four other postal garages in Chicago. They are situated at 1700 North Cicero avenue, 6141 South Wabash avenue, 2930 South Wells street, and 2345 Wolfram street.

The garage in North Cicero avenue is typical of these branch garages. It was built less than two years ago and represents a reported total investment in land and building of $150,000. The building is 200 by 100 feet, standing on a lot which has 247 feet frontage on Cicero avenue and is 125 feet in depth. It has been leased by the postoffice department for ten years at a term rental of $100,000.

An inspection yesterday showed the garage to be of the most modern type, with an expensive lighting system, a modern car washing machine, and fully equipped machine shop. One hundred mail trucks operating on the west side are housed, repaired, and maintained here.

MUSEUM CLAIMS FIVE MILLIONS AS ROSENWALD GIFT

A friendly claim amounting to $5,059,300 was filed in the Probate court by the Museum of Science and Industry against the estate of the late Julius Rosenwald, its founder, yesterday. The document recited that in 1926 Mr. Rosenwald agreed to give $3,000,000 to the museum, and later agreed to supply any funds necessary for the completion of the interior of the Fine Arts building in Jackson park to house the museum.

Recently the South Park board estimated that an additional $2,000,000 will be needed, after $1,000,000 remaining of a $5,000,000 bond issue authorized to reconstruct the building, has been spent. The museum filed its claim for both sums and $59,300 additional as an interest adjustment.

Heirs of the estate have approved the claim, attorneys for the estate announced, and it will be paid in full. The executor already has supplied funds to the commissioners which will allow the work on the interior of the museum to be continued to completion for the 1933 World's Fair.

BANK RECEIVERS TO LIST ASSETS FOR R. F. C. LOANS

State Auditor Oscar Nelson yesterday instructed the receivers of 203 closed state banks to list their assets for possible application for loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The action was taken on the strength of the approval by voters of the amendment to the general banking act authorizing receivers to make such loans.

"I have not instructed the receivers to make application for loans," Auditor Nelson said. "Each bank is a separate entity and a separate problem for the corporation. In some instances it would be unwise to seek loans. I merely suggested that the receivers be prepared. The loans, of course, are up to the Finance corporation and must also be approved by courts."

Depositors of the closed Wiersema and Garfield State banks will shortly receive payments, the auditor announced. A first payment of 10 per cent, or $95,000, will be paid depositors of the Wiersema State bank. Depositors of the Garfield State bank will receive $204,700, a 5 per cent payment. The bank has already paid $1,023,475, a 25 per cent payment.

$3 worth of protection for $1 if you fight colds with Pepsodent

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence it goes 3 times as far. And whether you buy the 25c, 50c, or $1 size, you still get 3 times as much for your money.

IT didn't take the public long to figure out the difference between Pepsodent Antiseptic and other leading kinds. Common sense said, "Here's the difference between one dollar and three dollars . . . the difference between positively killing germs and being fooled by diluting old-style antiseptics."

Two kinds of antiseptics

There really are only two types of mouth washes. One is the mouth wash that kills germs only when used full strength. The other is Pepsodent Antiseptic—utterly safe when used full strength, yet powerful enough even when diluted with 2 parts of water to kill germs in 10 seconds! Pepsodent Antiseptic is at least 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence, it goes 3 times as far—gives you 3 times as much for your money—and gives you greater protection against sore throat colds and germ infections. Instead of paying $3 for three bottles, you buy one bottle and make it go as far as three.

Use Pepsodent for safety

Millions who once diluted ordinary antiseptics now discover their mistake. Be sure you choose the antiseptic that, even when mixed with water, kills germs. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—be safe—and save your money!

IMPURE BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, even when diluted with water it still kills germs.

Some of the 50 different uses for this modern antiseptic

Sore Throat Colds	Cuts and Abrasions
Head Colds	Chapped Hands
Smoker's Throat	Dandruff
Bad Breath	Skin Irritations
Mouth Irritations	Checks Under-Arm
Irritations of the Gums	Perspiration Odor
After Extractions	"Athlete's Foot"

N. U. IGNORES SUIT NAMING RUSSIAN SCIENCE TEACHER

President Scott Sees Aim to Blackmail Professor.

So far as Northwestern university is concerned, the charges that Prof. Vladimir N. Ipatieff, Russian scientist who is a special lecturer on chemistry at the university stole the affections of Mrs. Alexandra Seldowitsch, will be disregarded, President Walter Dill Scott of the university said yesterday. The charges were made by Mrs. Seldowitsch's husband, George of Berlin.

The charges were contained in a bill filed with Judge James J. Kelly of the Superior court on Saturday by Attorney Benjamin H. Ehrlich, in which Seldowitsch, by profession a chemist, now operator of a dress making salon in Berlin, seeks to set aside a divorce decree granted to his wife on Sept. 3. He alleged Prof. Ipatieff, his wife, Varia, and Mrs. Seldowitsch, live together in harmony in the Pearson hotel, and that Mrs. Ipatieff encouraged what was described as an illicit affair between the other two.

Dr. Scott Explains Stand.

"We knew of the case a year ago when Prof. Ipatieff's last year's appointment came up," said President Scott. "Prof. Ipatieff informed us of the possibility of trouble. We knew of his wife's attitude, we knew they had been expecting a lawsuit for some time. It is now filed, and our attitude has not changed. We have considered it in the nature of blackmail."

"There is nothing wrong in the letters," said Attorney Louis J. Jacobson, counsel for Mrs. Seldowitsch, alluding to letters introduced by Attorney Ehrlich. "Their interpretation into English is far fetched. Instead of saying she loved him 'passionately,' the Russian may be taken to mean 'wholeheartedly.' And when the professor's wife wrote to her husband that Mrs. Seldowitsch 'is mad about you,' it meant she was angry with him."

Denies Professor's Charge.

Attorney Ehrlich, replying to Prof. Ipatieff's charge that the suit was an attempt at blackmail, said: "I only wish to cross-examine the parties to the suit in court that I may prove it is not blackmail."

U. OF C. EXHIBITS MOLECULE DANCE IN SOUND FILM

Pictures Help Students to Understand Talks.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Down on the Midway this morning they're taking the yawns out of physics and chemistry lectures by putting talking films into them. Not that the "dance of the molecules" has been set to a jazz orchestration, or anything of that sort. Instead, the movies have gone scientific.

DR. SCHLESINGER.

What the savants of the University of Chicago set out to demonstrate is that the fundamentals of science can be far more vividly and speedily impressed on a student mind by an animated film that runs a few minutes, than by a profound lecture that lasts more than a few hours. But there is no danger of the motion picture ousting the instructors and turning into a professional robot. Lectures and films now will be dependent on each other, with the student's maximum progress the goal.

Molecules Dance on Screen.

For instance, an oral description of the activity of molecules may not register deeply with a class. But a visible demonstration via the screen, with celluloid pingpong balls impersonating the much magnified molecules skittering around inside a huge jar, clarifies the principle and leaves an indelible mental image. That's precisely what happens in the opus "Molecular Theory of Matter," one of the two films to be utilized today for the first time.

Taken alone, it was emphasized by Prof. Hermann L. Schlesinger of the chemistry department, the film could not convey the proper amount of information to a class. Shown after the basic theory has been explained and discussed, however, it provides the most graphic possible illustration to the lecture.

Prof. Schlesinger and Prof. Harvey B. Lemon of the department of physics prepared the material for the two films, "Molecular Theory of Matter" and "Oxidation and Reduction." Actual photography was done at the Midway and the film cutting and sound in New York by Erpi Picture Consultants. Twenty films are planned for the physical sciences division of the university, of which some already are under way.

Simultaneous previews of the first two films were held last night in Chicago, with Prof. Schlesinger in charge; in New York, where Vice President Woodward and Prof Lemon discussed the object of this innovation in academic procedure, and in Washington, D. C., where Dr. Carey Cronesis, associate professor of geology, was the representative.

"Each of the films runs ten minutes," Prof. Schlesinger commented, "and includes delicate, expensive, and difficult experiments with the best types of apparatus. By photographing these processes we can save much time and labor for other institutions which will buy the films but which could not afford the time and the money to conduct the actual experiments for smaller classes.

Films Great Time Savers.

"There has been packed into these ten minutes so much material and such varied experiments that even the lectures alone on these matters would occupy more than five hours, and the series of experiments several more, to say nothing of the many additional hours of preparation. This is supposing that each experiment would go off successfully in class. Frequently they don't."

"This is the first time that a university has undertaken to incorporate sound pictures definitely into its educational program," President Robert Maynard Hutchins said. "Since our classes are larger, demonstrations in the lecture room are expensive, cumbersome and time consuming and not always effective. Films appear to offer the solution."

FIRE DESTROYS DUTCH LINER AT AMSTERDAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 14.—The Pieter Corneliszoon Hooft, a 15,000 ton motorship in the Amsterdam-Batavia passenger and mail service, was completely destroyed by fire today in Amsterdam harbor. The liner was preparing to sail for India, and the flames were fed by 1,000 tons of oil just taken aboard. The vessel, regarded as one of the prides of the Dutch mercantile marine, was built at St. Nazaire, France, in 1926 and recently was remodeled. It was insured for $3,500,000, about 80 per cent of which was carried by the Lloyds of London.

Head of Cuba Inspects Hurricane Ruins.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 14.—A plot to blow up a relief train rushing President Machado to the ruins of last Wednesday's hurricane was discovered today. The train carried eight carloads of supplies for victims in Camaguey, Oriente and Santa Clara provinces.

The government blamed political oppositionists or communists for the conspiracy. Aboard the train with the president were Chief of Staff Alberto Herrera, Secretary of the Interior Octavio Zubizaretta, Secretary of Public Works Narciso Onetti, Secretary of State Orestes Ferrar and the presidents of the senate and the house of representatives.

Find Dynamite Packages.

Government censorship suppressed the publication of the attempt to assasssinate Machado and his ministers. It was reported that dynamite packages were discovered beneath the roadbed between the cities of Santa Clara and Camaguey two hours before the train arrived.

Detectives arrested several suspects and movements of the relief train are being kept in strict secrecy.

President Machado today inspected Camaguey, Moron, Ciego de Avila, and Santa Cruz del Sur to personally superintend relief work and reconstruction. He has established headquarters at Nuevitas on the north coast.

Cremation of the bodies of most of the estimated 2,500 persons killed at Santa Cruz del Sur was completed today. It was reported that soldiers, who are guarding the ruins of the town to prevent looting, shot to death 30 Negroes caught searching bodies of the dead.

Frantic appeals for assistance have been sent to Havana by relief workers, who are fighting against disease in an effort to secure food and shelter for thousands of homeless persons.

High Seas Still Raging.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 14.—(AP)—High seas were still raging today about the Cayman islands, where about 80 persons were killed and more than 300 injured by the hurricane last week, making it difficult to land relief stores.

Most of the deaths occurred on Cayman Brac Island (about 150 miles southwest of Santa Cruz del Sur, Cuba) and burial of victims there was completed today.

The British warship Dragon was proceeding to Grand Cayman island, largest of the group, to assist the distressed.

sessor and the board of tax appeals to create a new tax roll. There will have to be either a refund or a credit of taxes to property owners who have already paid. I don't feel that this court can bring a remedy to the situation."

Cites Supreme Court Ruling.

"Your honor does have jurisdiction if fraud is involved," asserted Attorney Watkins. "You can determine what part of the roll is invalid."

"I disagree," replied Judge Jarecki. "The Supreme court has decided against that. I prefer that fraud be corrected by the assessors, not by the court."

"But, your honor," said Mr. Watkins, "while we are proving an abstract point in the courts in our mandamus case, the taxpayer's property is being taken away from him. Even if he wins, the court's opinion will have no value."

"I disagree," reiterated Judge Jarecki. "If the court orders the assessing bodies to put 16 billions in omitted personal property on the rolls, that decision will help not only your clients but every other citizen. But in the meantime government must continue to exist for the protection of the public. The Supreme court has spoken on most of the questions you raise. The lower courts have spoken on all. It would do no good to delay judgment and sale while the Supreme court speaks on the remaining question."

Says Decision Binds Him.

"Does your honor take the attitude that there can be no relief in the courts?" asked Mr. Watkins.

"Well," said Judge Jarecki, "if I have taken this view it has been taken coolly, after going further than any court ever went. But the Supreme court has spoken. The law is made and I am bound to enforce it. I may not agree, but I must follow it."

Mr. Watkins was granted 60 days to prepare a bill of exception, the first step in an appeal, under a bond of $250. This bond, however, is merely to cover court costs. Before they can take an appeal the objectors must post the full amount of their taxes with the county treasurer as a bond. Mr. Watkins in effect admitted that the legal fight is over, so far as the $22,000,000 involved yesterday is concerned, when he said that in his opinion the objectors whom he represents, "in most cases," cannot produce that much money immediately.

HISTORY OF TAX MUDDLE

County Judge Jarecki's ruling yesterday, ordering the sale of properties on which $22,000,000 in 1930 taxes are unpaid, is expected by city and county officials to be a powerful influence in ending Cook county's tax muddle. This situation, involving failure to collect $200,000,000 in taxes and the consequent distress of local governments, had its beginning nearly five years ago. Some of the highlights in the tax litigation follow:

In 1928 the Illinois Supreme court dealt a death blow to the old method of assessing property for taxation when, in the Aldrich case, it found that the 1928 tax roll in Cook county was so shot with fraud as to place the burden of proof as to the fairness of an assessment upon the county collector, instead of on the taxpayer, upon whom it had always rested in the past. This automatically made a reassessment necessary.

300,000 Objections Filed.

Some 300,000 objections against 1928 assessments were filed before the old board of review as a result of the Aldrich decision. Meanwhile, the state tax commission had ordered a reassessment for 1928 and had set up rules designed to prevent the discrimination in real estate assessments which had resulted in the Aldrich ruling. The old board of review and board of assessors fought the reassessment in court, and the legislature passed acts increasing the powers of the tax commission before the assessing officials would comply with its order.

The court fight, and the difficulty in setting up the new assessing machinery under the tax commission rules, delayed the reassessment for nearly two years. Taxpayers got their 1928 tax bills in 1930. The depression had set in. Many of them had no money to pay their bills, swollen by the extravagance of the political machine then in power in the city hall.

Tax Strike Is Started.

The so-called tax strike was then born. Groups of taxpayers, of which the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers was the most prominent, raised a new legal point in efforts to stay collection of taxes on their properties through court action. Their new point was the contention that real estate was overtaxed while huge volumes of personal property—they estimated 16 billions—had escaped taxation.

The tax strike came closest to success in the Cisar case. In this case, after evidence had been submitted to him of the existence of some 16 billions of personal property in the county which it was alleged should have been placed on the tax rolls, County Judge Jarecki ruled in favor of the taxpayers and invalidated the 1928 and 1929 tax levies.

Old Tax Boards Abolished.

The Cisar ruling was an important factor in the abolishment of the old assessing and review boards which had made the rolls held invalid by Judge Jarecki. Last spring the legislature passed the Kelly bill, substituting a single assessor and a two man board of tax appeals for the old boards.

The temporary success of the plaintiffs in the Cisar case resulted in an enormous increase in tax delinquencies. When the penalty date on 1930 taxes arrived on June 1 of this year $200,000,000 in tax payments were delinquent and the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers had collected nearly $700,000 from its members to finance its litigation.

This litigation, however, received a blow in the rulings of the Illinois Supreme court in the Bistor case, in which the objecting taxpayers had lost in the lower court, and in the Cisar case. In both cases the Supreme court sustained the 1928 and 1929 tax levies, reversing Judge Jarecki in the Cisar case.

Difference Is Pointed Out.

The opinions of the high court pointed out the difference between the Aldrich case, in which the tax levy was invalidated, and the Bistor and Cisar cases, in which it was sustained. In the former instance the discrimination charged was between different pieces of real estate. In the latter two cases the alleged inequity of assessments existed between two classes of property, real estate and personalty.

The state Supreme court held, in conformance with decisions in past years, that such a situation should be remedied through political action, by election of assessing officials who would correct the alleged injustice, and not legally, by court action.

The action of Judge Jarecki yesterday was in conformity with these rulings. The Koester case, which the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers now has before the state Supreme court, seeks to mandamus the now nonexistent board of review to put the 16 billions in personalty on the tax rolls.

ATTORNEY N. G. MOORE.
[De Gueldre Photo.]

The board of tax appeals yesterday affirmed a 1931 personal property assessment of $36,630 against Attorney Nathan G. Moore, 329 Forest avenue, Oak Park. Attorney Moore, a partner in Cutting, Moore & Sidley, failed to file a schedule and refused to give the appeals board any information concerning his personal property. The assessment included a 50 per cent penalty for failure to file.

TURNGEMEINDE WILL CELEBRATE 80TH BIRTHDAY

Members of the Chicago Turngemeinde, the oldest society of German origin in Chicago, will celebrate its 80th anniversary tomorrow night at the North Side Turner hall, 820 North Clark street. Philip Brand and Julius Zimmerman, who have been members for 65 years, will be honored.

Founded in 1852, the society furnished 105 soldiers when President Lincoln called for volunteers in the civil war. The property of the Turngemeinde was destroyed in the fire of 1871, but a temporary structure was erected within a week and aid dispensed to the persons made homeless by the fire.

The Turngemeinde has sponsored the Old Settlers' picnic for the last 58 years as a reunion of the pioneers of Chicago.

ESTIMATE 10 PCT. BOOST IN 1931 REALTY TAX RATE

But Total Levy Is Due for 7 Per Cent Drop.

While the average real estate tax bill in Chicago for 1931 will be appreciably lower, the 1931 tax rates on which the bills to be sent out the first of the year are based will be about 10 per cent higher than the rate for 1930, the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency stated yesterday in a bulletin in which it makes public its estimates of the 1931 rates.

The apparent contradiction, it was explained, is due to an expected reduction of real estate assessments for 1931 by from 20 to 22 per cent. This will more than offset the higher tax rates, and the total tax levy, on both real and personal property, is expected to be below the 1930 levy placed in collection last summer.

Estimate Rate of $6.62.

The tax rates, it is estimated by the federation, will be $6.62 per $100 assessed valuation of the city of Chicago, exclusive of the rates for park purposes. In the 1930 levy, the rate exclusive of park levies was $6. Including taxes for support of the three large park districts, the estimated 1931 rates, and the actual rates for 1930 in the city, depending on the park district in which the property is situated, are as follows:

District—	1930.	1931 estimate.
South parks	$6.74	$7.38
West parks	6.58	7.29
Lincoln park	6.88	7.63

Estimate Levy of $234,420,289.

The 1930 taxes, which became payable last summer, totaled $252,876,877 in Chicago. The federation estimates, after including some tax levies which it hopes may be reduced or abandoned, that the total of the 1931 levy within the city limits will be $234,420,289, a reduction of $18,456,588, or 7.29 per cent.

OFFICERS SCOUT TALE RUM CREW DROWNED ROBINS

They Doubt Story of Boston Prisoner.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—New York police moved today to investigate an alleged revelation in Boston by a prisoner there that Raymond Robins of Chicago, missing social crusader, was drowned by rum runners from a vessel off Montauk Point.

Capt. John Ayres, of the missing persons bureau, after expressing disbelief in the story, announced however, that he would request the Boston police and United States secret service operatives in Boston to check the newest Robins rumor. Capt. Ayres had not been notified officially of the story told to Boston police.

Thrown Overboard, He Says.

The Boston police announced that an alleged swindler, Ralph J. Code, of Dorchester, under arrest there, had casually told one of his accusers, Carlisle O. Byrd, that Robins had been turned over to New Jersey rum runners Sept. 5, two days after his disappearance. Bound and weighted, the social worker was taken forty miles off Montauk Point and thrown overboard, according to his story.

Code is one of a group alleged to have stolen thousands of dollars from Mr. Byrd and six other men through a story of a $7,000,000 gold cargo on a disabled schooner. He reportedly told Mr. Byrd of Mr. Robins' death to reveal his knowledge of shipments and the underworld.

Byrd Says He's Broker.

Mr. Byrd gave his address as the Biltmore hotel, New York, and said he was a broker. Hotel authorities said they had no available records indicating he had ever stopped there. Code has no police record here.

Mr. Robins vanished Sept. 3 after leaving the City club in New York to keep an appointment with President Hoover at the White House. Mrs. Robins, also a social worker, was in Maine at the time, and she expressed the fear her husband had been slain by Florida rum runners whom he had fought vigorously.

Two Loop Stores Held Up by Same Robber; Gets $244

A tall, slender robber with easy manners yesterday afternoon held up two loop stores and escaped with a total of $244. In the Bedford Shirt company store at 43 South Wabash avenue he compelled the manager, James Vlases, to surrender $56. A short time later he entered the Enna Jettick boot shop at 24 East Adams street and took $188 from the cash register after terrorizing three employés.

MISS BURROWS FREED IN FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

A coroner's jury yesterday decided that Miss Louise Burrows, 51 years old, 550 East College road, Lake Forest, was not criminally negligent in the automobile collision on Nov. 9 in Wilmette which caused the death of Mrs. Helen Johns, 28 years old, 1228 Gregory avenue, Wilmette. Miss Burrows is a daughter of Mrs. Annie Burrows and the late William F. Burrows, a Union Stockyards official. She is well known in Chicago and Lake Forest society.

Miss Burrows said she did not remember whether or not she stopped for a traffic signal but said she believed she shifted gears at the corner. Mrs. Johns, a divorcée, died Sunday at the St. Francis hospital.

Three deaths yesterday increased the Cook county motor toll to 983 for 1932. The victims are:

George Schniderwend, 48 years old, 3513 Archer avenue. Died in the Holy Cross hospital. He lost control of his car Sunday and crashed into a light pole at Damen avenue and 24th street.

Miss Nora Gallagher, 80 years old, 6939 Eggleston avenue. Died in the County hospital. She was struck at 5808 South State street on Sept. 19.

Marvin Buda, 55 years old, 2448 West 48th street. Fatally injured last evening at 48th street and Western avenue by a truck driven by John Gardner, 1930 Sheffield avenue. He died in the Englewood hospital.

The driver whose car plunged into a group of young women early Sunday morning, causing the death of Mal. Frederick Kensel, retired, who was escorting them home after a military ball, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of manslaughter. He is John Owens, a Negro, 30 years old, 5838 Prairie avenue. Witnesses testified Owens was intoxicated and was unable to talk for six hours after the accident, which occurred in front of the armory at 52nd street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Nippon Expects Roosevelt to Heal Wounds.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Copyright: 1932: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, Nov. 14.—Spy scares and war talk now have subsided in mercurial and nervous Japan. Meanwhile public attention is turned to impending political changes, the fight in the diet over the budget, which apportions half of next year's revenue for army and navy purposes, and a defense before the league of nations and the world on the military adventure in Manchuria—an adventure which is increasing military expenses instead of being a source of new economic strength.

It is a question whether Japan can struggle out of its domestic distress, due to unemployment and high taxation, without some sort of a radical outbreak. Already there are many rumors of plots being concocted by direct actionists—superpatriotic youths and communists.

Coalition Rule Faces Fight.

Premier Admiral Makoto Saito's coalition government faces a hard fight for its existence in January. The two old parties [Seiyukai and Minseito] and a new one are jockeying for a position of power. The issues are largely financial and personal, with the business men feeling that the army is receiving too much money and that a proposed new bond issue is too great a burden.

As to the state of Manchukuo there is no road back for Japan and, while many doubt the wisdom of this move, the nation is largely a unit in supporting it to the bitter end. Manchukuo is called the lifeline of Japan for national security. Nippon is prepared to resist any effort of the league or any outside power to interfere there. The task of subduing 150,000 Chinese soldiers in this puppet state is another problem gripping the Japanese.

It is in this connection that every act of the United States is watched with suspicious interest and alarm. This was reflected by wide interest in the American presidential election, which has been the subject of comment for a week, the burden of which is the hope that the United States now will show new consideration and understanding of the situation in the far east and less hasty condemnation and note writing.

Do Not Expect Recognition.

The Japanese do not expect recognition of Manchukuo, but hope for a negative policy from America. This, with the withdrawal of the Atlantic fleet from the Pacific, would remove the only active irritants to the healing of wounds created by Secretary of State Stimson. Throughout the Pacific, in British as well as in Japanese territory, keeping the American fleet in Pacific waters is regarded as a potential menace to Japan. It has even been distorted to a rumor that the fleet actually had sailed to help China.

An article written by President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt while assistant secretary of the navy [1913-1920], in which he pleads for greater trust of Japan and better understanding of her problems, is being republished here, and Mr. Roosevelt's election is received with general satisfaction.

Although Mr. Roosevelt's service with the navy department ended in 1920, the purported article gives Japan credit for faithfully carrying out the pledges of the Washington conference in 1922, and says that, while the open door policy and the Monroe Doctrine are the only definitely recognized foreign policies of the United States, "we can now recognize that there is a real necessity to Japan of markets for raw products in that part of the Chinese mainland contiguous to her island shores."

Accepted by Readers.

Such a statement, therefore, would only apply to a time several years later than Mr. Roosevelt's assistant secretaryship, but nevertheless appears to be currently accepted among Japanese readers.

Applied to the present position, it might lead to acceptance by the new administration of a Monroe Doctrine for Japan in Asia, trusting to her promises to keep the commercial door open.

Viscount Kentaro Keneko, privy councilor of Emperor Hirohito, recently revealed that in 1905 he had an understanding with President Theodore Roosevelt that he would support a Japanese Monroe Doctrine for Asia in return for Japanese support of the American open door policy. He claimed that it was at the instance of Theodore Roosevelt that the Japanese controlled railroads in Manchuria were kept out of the hands of the Harriman interests and in the control of Japan.

Await Disclosure of Policy.

Asahi, Tokio's great liberal newspaper, says that remarkable interest awaits the disclosure of the Democratic policy on the tariff, the Philippines, and Manchuria. The newspaper expresses the hope that "the United States will take the present opportunity of renovating its cognizance about the Manchurian situation and render a valuable service to the real cause of peace by contributing something toward an improvement of the far eastern situation."

Nichi Nichi, another newspaper with a circulation of over a million, concludes that Mr. Roosevelt's administration "will by no means pursue so bold a policy as Secretary of State Stimson thus far has followed in the far east."

The interest in a possible business and trade revival is just as great as the political features, for trade between Japan and the United States and interlocking business remains the dominent reason for continuation of good relations.

Kokumin Shimbun, a newspaper of general circulation, is worried about anti-Japanese sentiments planted in America by Mr. Stimson, while Jiji Shimpo, a paper widely read among the higher classes, sums up the situation as follows:

"So long as Japan has sincerity in respecting American interests in the far east and remaining faithful to the principle of the open door to equal opportunity in China, and so long as the United States refrains from any policy of disregarding Japan's lifeline in the far east, nothing will be more definite and ample than the possibilities for American-Japanese coöperation in the common cause of the world's peace and welfare."

BREWERS READY TO REPEL ANY GANG INVASION

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday gave assurance to the brewing interests in Chicago that the police would be active in protecting brewers against any efforts of hoodlums to "muscle" themselves into control of the industry with gangster tactics. The brewers also said they would give the gangsters some "powerful" resistance.

"If, and when, beer comes back legitimate business will be protected against hoodlums," said Commissioner Allman in answer to reports that the hoodlums are purchasing breweries and lining up customers for their product.

Although not anticipating trouble with the gangsters, the brewers declared that they would make strenuous efforts to resist any hoodlum effort to gain control of the brewing business. They pointed out that by the time the gangsters could have good beer for sale the legitimate breweries would control.

Now WOOLPACK OVERCOATS

MORE WARMTH MORE WEAR and MUCH LESS WEIGHT $50

IT ISN'T a hard job to increase the wear of a fabric; make it a lot heavier, weave it tighter and you've got it. But who wants to travel around in "boiler plate" these days. Lighter weight overcoats is the trend today, but light weight and long wear don't always go together. They do in Woolpack. After 2 years of experimenting in their own laboratories, Hart Schaffner & Marx have broken all records for a long wear fabric, that's light and easy to wear. They've succeeded in packing 23,500 wool fibers into every square inch of the Woolpack overcoating. Some achievement, too. Soft, fleecy wool that drapes and feels soft, luxurious and light to wear. After Woolpack has taken thousands and thousands of rubs on our "hardboiled" rubbing machine, there's scarcely any trace of abrasion. And those rubs represent as much service as you'd give an overcoat for at least 2 years. Figure it out yourself. Rub away 13,500 wool fibers and you still have 10,000 left, more than you find at the start in an ordinary overcoat. Look better; get more warmth, more wear, and much less weight in a Woolpack. The saving's easy to see.

QUIZ INSULL JR. TODAY ON LOANS TO UTILITY TRUST

Creditors in Bankruptcy Call Son of Founder.

Samuel Insull Jr. will be called to testify before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley today concerning the collapse of one of his father's two investment trusts, the bankrupt $250,000,000 Insull Utility Investments, Inc. Young Insull was president of the trust and his father was chairman of the board.

With the testimony of Insull Jr. and that of Edward Eagle Brown, vice president of the First National bank, attorneys for the petitioning creditors expect to wind up their hunt for assets of the trust.

Seek Light on Huge Loans.

Questioning of Mr. Insull, it is understood, will be directed mainly to his version of the now famous "standstill agreement" which he negotiated on loans extended by ten New York and Chicago banks last December, four months before the trust sank into receivership and at a time when the trust allegedly was already insolvent. The loans totaled nearly $40,000,000.

Mr. Insull also will be questioned concerning the purpose for which the trust was organized just before the market break of October, 1929, and whether that object was stated in the organization papers.

The attorneys for the petitioning creditors contend and believe they have proved at previous hearings that the stated purposes of the company's existence were not followed when the trust contracted the bank loans. The loans, they contend, were not employed in the ordinary course of business and hence, according to their view, are now void.

Charge Breach of Covenant.

Mr. Insull will be questioned also as to his knowledge of the covenant the company made with investors who sank $60,000,000 in the so-called 6 per cent gold notes of the company, and whether he had the provisions of the covenant in mind when the bank loans were secured.

The covenant provided among other things that no more than 50 per cent of the assets of the trust, at a fair market value, would be pledged for loans so long as the gold notes remained unredeemed. The petitioning creditors have sought to show that by the time the standstill agreement was negotiated almost 100 per cent of the assets had been pledged.

Officers of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, First National bank, Northern Trust company, and the Harris Trust and Savings bank already have been questioned concerning the standstill agreement and the bank loans.

Seek to Recover Assets.

None of these witnesses was aware of the alleged insolvency of the trust when the banks entered the standstill agreement, they testified. Young Insull will be asked what he represented the company's condition to be when he approached them.

The purpose behind the questioning is to get money for the creditors. The bankruptcy act provides that any and all assets paid out by a company within four months prior to its insolvency shall be returned to the company for the benefit of the general creditors. The attorneys for the creditors have established that large amounts of collateral were pledged to the banks right up to the negotiation of the standstill agreement, and that the banks continued to collect interest on the loans at a rate of approximately $150,000 a month up to April 16, the day of receivership.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

ATHENS, Nov. 14.—After two days of conferences among Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities magnate, his Greek lawyer, Cristos Ladas, his English lawyer, Arthur Page, and his friend, Peter Vanech, over the transcripts of evidence given in support of the Chicago indictment charging Insull with larceny and embezzlement, Vanech said tonight that Insull would ask for his freedom before the lapse of the 60 day period of detention provided for under the extradition treaty. Insull is now detained in a hospital.

He said Insull would show the court a copy of the indictment against him. Insull charges that the indictment was designed to help the candidacy of John A. Swanson for reelection as state's attorney of Cook county. [Swanson was defeated in the election on Nov. 8.]

While the Insull defense forces have already translated the papers in the case, the United States legation today said it did not know where the warrants from Washington, D. C., were and canceled its customary press conference. If the decision of the Greek court of appeals depends upon an accumulation of evidence, Insull apparently is heavily forearmed.

MARTIN INSULL HEARING TO BE DELAYED AGAIN

The extradition hearing in the case of Martin Insull, indicted ex-president of the Middle West Utilities company, scheduled to come up before the county court at Barrie, Ont., next Friday, probably will be continued a second time. The hearing originally was set for Nov. 4, and was continued for two weeks.

Edward Bailey, K. C., of Toronto, telephoned Assistant State's Attorney John Hampton here yesterday, advising him that the hearing would be more likely to be carried through to a definite conclusion if transferred immediately to Toronto, capital of Ontario.

Mr. Bailey suggested a continuance, to which Mr. Hampton agreed. Bailey, whom State's Attorney Swanson has retained to represent Cook county in the Canadian proceedings, advised Mr. Hampton not to start for Barrie until notified by him. It was said at the state's attorney's office that this meant the case would be continued.

HORNER, CERMAK MEET INDIANA'S NEW OFFICIALS

States' Dry Laws Slated for Repeal.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

French Lick Springs, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Warm accord between Illinois and Indiana was established here today by the triumphant Democrats of those two states.

Governor Elect Horner shook hands with Governor Elect McNutt. National Committeeman Cermak talked with National Committeeman Taggart. State Chairman Donovan of Illinois compared notes with State Chairman Peters of Indiana. Senator Elect Dieterich and Senator Elect Van Nuys failed to meet because the former was called home just before the Indianan arrived.

Eager to End Dry Laws.

There is a race to keep campaign pledges, particularly the promise of speed in the revocation of state prohibition laws. But of even greater importance in the eyes of the participants was the beginning of an entente cordiale between the two states that it is hoped will be extended to include other neighbors of the central west.

The Hoosiers, who arrived in force today, are confident that they have all the advantage in a contest of speed in the cancellation of state dry laws, if they determine to use it.

The advantage that Indiana has is that under a suspension of the rules by two-thirds vote—and the Democrats alone have that majority in each chamber—it can pass a bill in two days. Under the constitution Illinois is prevented from passing a bill in less than five days because of the provision that it must be read on three legislative days in each chamber.

The Illinois group here, however, continues to devote its attention to the problem of trimming the state budget of waste and nonessentials. That has been declared to take precedence over the consideration of any patronage matters.

Horner Studies Other States.

Judge Horner has written to the capitols of the several states in Chicagoland and nearby asking for copies of their budgets, that they may be scrutinized as to appropriations, particularly as to the itemization of proposed expenditures. One of the conclusions concerning the Illinois budget is that it contains too many lump sum appropriations.

Another phase of the present budget, which is in effect until June 30, that is being studied is the large amount paid for office spaces in various office buildings in Chicago.

Not only are these separate state departments' division and bureau headquarters scattered all through the loop but they cost approximately a quarter of a million dollars a year in rent alone.

Judge Horner's advisers have urged that at a greatly reduced expense these offices, some of which are in the finest buildings in Chicago, could be centralized. Possible consolidation of reception room space, stenographic and other forces also has been pointed out.

May Share with City.

The most extreme suggestion in this field was that the state might take over part or all of one of the relatively modest buildings now open for such purposes, or even go so far as to make an arrangement with the city of Chicago, which also is paying high rentals for offices outside the city hall, whereby one building would be shared between the two governments.

The question of the legal powers of either to enter into such an arrangement has not been settled and until the lawyers have looked into the constitutional and statutory questions nothing is to be done about it.

PAPER ON TRIAL AS CIRCULATOR OF FALSE REPORT

Youngstown, O., Nov. 14.—(AP)—A charge that the Youngstown Telegram, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, "padded" circulation figures was made and denied today as four newspapermen went on trial charged with fraudulent advertising through publishing a false circulation statement.

The defendants are John T. Waters, business manager of the Telegram; James Morrisey, circulation manager; T. J. Dowling of New York, circulation manager for the Scripps-Howard newspapers; and Joseph Finster of Dallas, Tex., former circulation manager of the Telegram.

Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas asserted the Telegram published a false circulation statement in 1931. The paper, he declared, "padded its circulation for every year since 1927."

Defense Attorney Marcellus De Vaughn replied that evidence would show an honest and painstaking investigation was made of the Telegram's circulation.

REPORT DUKE OF LEINSTER WILL WED U. S. BEAUTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The duke of Leinster, known as the "daredevil duke," former husband of the actress, May Etheridge, one of the famous "Gaiety Girls," whom he divorced a couple of years ago, will soon marry Mrs. Raffaele Van Neck, an American beauty who came to England four or five years ago as Miss Raffaele, it was reported today.

Mrs. Van Neck tonight denied the report. "He is only my friend," she said. "Both he and I deny most emphatically that a marriage has been arranged between us or has ever been suggested. I am not free to marry any one at present."

Mrs. Van Neck is the only daughter of Mrs. J. J. Patterson of New York. She was married in 1928 to Capt. Van Neck of London. She was granted a divorce last summer.

SEEK 50 MILLION BOND ISSUE FOR COUNTY'S NEEDY

Bill to Be Offered in State Legislature Today.

Relief plans for the care of the needy and idle in Chicago and Cook county advanced on two fronts last night, and will be continued this morning at the reopening of the special session of the legislature at Springfield. The principal moves last night were:

The drafting of a bill for a $50,000,000 bond issue in Cook county without referendum, to be presented to the legislature today.

The announcement of new donations amounting to $242,137 to the $7,500,000 drive of the Emergency Welfare Fund of Cook County, Inc. This fund is to be used this winter for welfare work other than relief of the idle.

Hope Centers in Capital.

The main hope for local poor relief will be centered at Springfield, it was announced. Consequently, while Chicago members of the legislature were leaving for the state capital last night Democratic and civic leaders gathered and prepared the plans for the $50,000,000 nonreferendum bill. The measure was drawn up by Michael J. O'Connor, assistant county comptroller.

The bill was drafted by Mr. O'Connor on instructions of President Emmett Whealan of the county board, who is at French Lick, Ind., with Mayor Cermak, Governor Elect Horner, and others. Mr. Whealan told the assistant controller he had obtained the approval of the mayor, Judge Horner, and Representative Michael L. Igoe at a conference of state and county leaders.

"The funds obtained from the bond issue, if it is passed, will be used to continue administration of relief to the needy for the next six months," said Mr. O'Connor. "President Whealan said the conference indorsed plans to pass a state sales tax to retire the bonds, interest, and principal. As yet we cannot say how the bonds would be marketed or through what agencies the money might be administered."

Sales Tax Bill Pending.

These details will be discussed more fully at Springfield by O'Connor and the county board head and others.

Another relief measure—this one for the entire state—to come up before the legislature will be the still pending sales tax bill introduced by Representative Roland V. Libonati [Rep., Chicago]. Chicago members expressed the opinion last night that the downstaters might be reluctant to pass it.

The total in contributions raised in the Welfare Fund drive has now reached $2,019,446. The campaign is being carried on by two sections—the preliminary gifts division and the trades and industries division. The $242,137 in donations announced last night represents the efforts of the preliminary gifts group, whose goal is three million dollars. The trades and industries division's goal is 4½ million dollars and the two goals, if achieved, will mean an operating fund of 7½ million dollars.

Public Drive Launched.

Group chairmen and subchairmen of the trades division met at a dinner at the Congress hotel last night and formally launched the public drive. They represented 5,000 field workers. Speakers included Robert A. Gardner, chairman of the campaign; the Rev. Charles W. Gilkey, Melvin A. Traylor, and R. Douglas Stuart, president of the fund.

Among the donations announced yesterday was one of $94,000 from subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation which is represented in Chicago by the Illinois Steel company, the American Sheet and Tinplate company, the National Tube company, the American Bridge company, the American Steel and Wire company, the Universal Atlas Cement company, and the Illinois Scully Steel Warehouse company. Sears, Roebuck & Co. gave $10,000, bringing its gifts to $50,000. Montgomery Ward & Co. also gave $10,000, as did the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company. Pullman, Inc., donated $9,000.

Scotty Is Ready for Dog Show

POULTRY SHOW DRAWS ENTRIES FROM 40 STATES

Entries for the annual Chicago Coliseum poultry show, which will be opened Nov. 22, were closed last night when the management announced that 40 states and Canada will be represented in the thousands of exhibits for the six day exposition.

Eight state agricultural colleges will send picked judging teams in the 13th annual midwest intercollegiate poultry judging contest.

Ex-Railway Clerk Held as Forger of Rail Tickets

John Taylor Sheldon, 65 years old, of Delanson, N. Y., until six months ago chief clerk of the Erie railroad in New York City, was held to the grand jury in bond of $3,500 yesterday by United States Commissioner Walker on charges of providing free transportation in interstate commerce. Sheldon was arrested on a train bound for Kansas City from Chicago. Prosecutor Benjamin Landis said that Sheldon confessed that he had had printed 460 fraudulent railroad tickets, valued at $2,700, to be used between Buffalo and Chicago. Sheldon sold the tickets, which were forgeries of tickets of 15 railroads, the prosecutor said.

ACQUIT HUSBAND OF THE SLAYING OF WIFE'S LOVER

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Raymond Dyson, 30, architect and contractor, formerly of Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago, now a resident of the Fairhope single tax colony, was acquitted here today of the murder of Henry M. Butler, 27, real estate operator, by a jury in the Circuit court after a sensational trial lasting seven days.

Mrs. Dorothy Dyson, wife of the defendant, came here from San Francisco to bare an illicit affair that she had with Butler. The killing occurred in a hotel to which Butler was lured according to the state's evidence, by Dyson and his brother, Sam Dyson. Dyson told the jury that his wife's confession of illicit relations with Butler had driven him insane.

DRY LAW REPEAL MAY FREE HALF OF U. S. CONVICTS

11,000 Federal Prisoners Prohibition Victims.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—More than half of all federal prisoners—eleven thousand men and women sentenced to prison for violation of the federal liquor laws—will be given a new lease of life when congress repeals the 18th amendment. At least this was the view expressed by officials of the department of justice today.

Most of the prisoners serving time for liquor law violations are first and minor offenders and in the opinion of prison bureau officials would never have violated any other federal statute. Only a minority of the eleven thousand, it is said, can be classed as habitual criminals.

While it is possible that a demand for a blanket pardon of federal liquor law prisoners will follow repeal of the national prohibition act, officials here were of the opinion today that their release will be effected by adoption of a lenient parole policy.

Such a plan, in the opinion of prohibition and prison bureau officials, would permit the government to investigate the records of the prisoners individually, free the casual liquor law violator, and keep the violator with a long and varied criminal record incarcerated.

Those paroled, in the opinion of officials, eventually will be granted an executive pardon so that their records as criminals might be wiped clean of the stigma of criminal offense.

Latest figures available at the prison bureau showed that on June 30, 1931, there were 11,194 federal prisoners serving sentences in all institutions for violations of the liquor laws. The total number of prisoners serving for violation of all federal laws was 21,925.

Ratio for 1932 Similar.

Director Sanford Bates of the prison bureau states that figures for the year ending June 30, 1932, are being compiled, but that the totals showed very little difference from those for 1931. The ratio of liquor law prisoners to other prisoners remained about the same, or about half, he said.

Only persons receiving sentences of more than a year for dry law violations are sent to federal institutions, it was said. The 1931 figures showed that 5,124 of the federal dry law prisoners were in federal penitentiaries. 26 were in state institutions, 5,913 were in jails, 124 were youths sent to the national training school for boys at Washington, D. C., and 7 were in St. Elizabeth's hospital for the insane. All, however, were federal prisoners.

Pardons in California.

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Freedom came in sight today for about 1,000 persons held in California's persons and jails on charges of violating the state prohibition law when Gov. James Rolph Jr. announced he intended to pardon all these as a result of the overwhelming vote last Tuesday for repeal of the statute.

Replying to a query from a New York newspaper, the governor announced his intention to pardon all Wright act violators as soon as the results of the election are certified to him by the secretary of state. The Wright act, in unofficial election returns, was repealed by a vote of approximately 2 to 1.

About 1,000 Prisoners.

State authorities recently estimated there were 300 Wright law violators in California prisons, and about 700 held in county jails. The governor's announcement proclaimed his intention to "pardon all those who are not guilty of anything outside of the provisions of violating the Wright act."

The governor's announcement was but one of many developments in the state where willingness to abandon the old order was shown.

City authorities in Oakland and other cities in the east San Francisco bay area ordered police to stop all liquor raids. The Oakland council voted to repeal an anti-liquor ordinance. Many towns, particularly in northern California, signified their intention of forgetting prohibition.

Despite the decisiveness of the repeal vote, several legal difficulties appeared to lie ahead as the result of existing laws, old and new, relating to liquor.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Through a shifting of lines in the make up of a table showing the stand of members of congress on the dry law, several Illinois members were classified incorrectly in yesterday's TRIBUNE. The proper classification, according to the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, should be:

Four Jurors Chosen for Lighting Fraud Retrial

Four jurors were sworn in yesterday at the opening of the retrial of Harry Johnson, president of the Electrical Contracting company, and four co-defendants, who are suspended city employés. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud the city by skimping on a street lighting contract. The case was tried last spring and the jury disagreed. The other defendants besides Johnson are John Muerling, former chief electrical engineer; Eugene A. Quinn, inspector; Frank Wargoske, custodian of a city supply yard, and Joseph Duffy, a record clerk in the supply yard.

Salesman Held to Grand Jury on Bigamy Charge

Marc Mogi, 22 years old, 5726 Winthrop avenue, a shoe salesman, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Municipal Judge James F. Fardy on a charge of bigamy. His bond was fixed at $5,000. Mrs. Ruth Marcus Mogi, 1605 West 80th street, said that Mogi married her in the summer of 1931 and that they had never been divorced. Mrs. Ruth Schwartz Mogi, 26 years old, 5726 Winthrop avenue, said she and Mogi were married last August. Her complaint caused the arrest of Mogi on Sunday afternoon.

DEATH HELD ACCIDENTAL.

A coroner's jury yesterday decided that the death of Mrs. Ruth Grider, 40 years old, 840 Eastwood avenue, was accidental. Mrs. Grider died Sunday at the Illinois Masonic hospital of an overdose of sleeping medicine.

RULES MICHIGAN VOTE FAILED TO REPEAL DRY LAW

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 14.—Paul W. Voorhies, attorney general, disclosed today that he is completing a formal opinion to the effect that the action of the voters Nov. 3 in repealing the bone dry prohibition amendment does not affect the state prohibition statute, which, he contends, remains in force until its repeal by the legislature.

Local enforcement officers throughout the state have expressed varying opinions as to the status of the dry law and Gov. Wilber M. Brucker asked the attorney general to prepare an interpretation of the voters' action in substituting for the prohibition amendment one which enables the legislature to set up a liquor control commission.

The governor himself had expressed the belief that the dry law was unaffected and indicated prosecution should continue under the statute.

The amendment becomes effective Dec. 5, almost a month before the new legislature convenes. It is considered certain that one of the first acts of the incoming legislature, which will be controlled in both houses by the Democrats, will be the repeal of the prohibition statute. Governor Elect William A. Comstock, Democrat, who ran on a dripping wet platform, has already promised to free prohibition law offenders in the state prisons, "if legally possible."

Whether local enforcement officials will abide by Voorhies' opinion in their attitude toward the law is considered problematical, as some fear that a reversal by the courts would render prosecuting officials liable to damage actions. In Detroit, particularly, where there is already reported a marked relaxation in prohibition enforcement, it is believed that a test case will be insisted upon before the attorney general's rule is followed.

HANGS HIMSELF IN GARAGE.

Diet Didn't Do This!

Happy little girl, just bursting with pep, yet she has never tasted a "tonic"—and she digests anything.

Every child's stomach, liver, and bowels need stimulating at times, but give children something you know all about.

Follow the advice of that famous family physician who gave the world Syrup Pepsin. Stimulate the vital organs. Dr. Caldwell's prescription of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh herbs is a mild stimulant that will keep the system from getting sluggish.

If your youngsters don't do well at school, don't play as hard or eat as well as other children do, begin this evening with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This gentle stimulant will soon right things! The bowels will move with better regularity and thoroughness. There won't be so many sick spells or colds. You'll find it just as wonderful for adults, too, in larger spoonfuls!

Get some Syrup Pepsin and protect your household from bilious days, frequent headaches, and that sluggish state of half-health that means the bowels need stimulating. Keep this preparation on hand to use instead of a harsh cathartic that causes chronic constipation if taken too often. You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store; they have it all ready.

IMPORTED WINES, BEER NO CHEAPER WHEN LEGALIZED

1930 Tariff Clause Will Affect Them.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—While all Europe was eagerly looking to America as a profitable market for its wines and beers sober minded statisticians here today figured that a glass of imported beer would cost twenty-five cents and that foreign wine prices would be almost as prohibitive when the product is sold legally as they are now.

The brewers and wine makers of the United States, in the belief of Wall street, are fully protected against foreign competition by schedules in the Hawley-Smoot tariff act in case there is an early revision of the prohibition laws.

Away back in 1930, at the height of the Anti-Saloon league's rule, a schedule against the day when prohibition might be modified was slipped into the tariff act through the efforts of brewery and distilling interests, it was pointed out.

The Tariff Will Do It.

With light wines and beer as the favorite topic of conversation, the financial district recalled today that imposts on importation as provided would run six dollars per gallon for champagne and sparkling wines, and that for beer, ale, etc., would amount to $1 a gallon. In turn, the schedule is believed likely to push up the price of domestic products above pre-prohibition prices, if modification is effected.

The French have already expressed a fear of what they term "virtual embargo" on their wines. Both Louis Mouquin, the importer, and Raymond Recouly, the writer, have voiced these sentiments, and the matter has been discussed in the French chamber of deputies.

Present Profits to Vanish.

Those interested in the financing of beer and wine importers here were wondering if prohibition modification would be of any aid to them. It was forecast that profits would be greatly reduced and that the importations would fall far below those of prepro-hibition days. With the idea that the business would be kept at home, the formation of investment trusts for brewing and wine stocks was begun and public distribution of investment shares will soon be under way.

Figures available from the New York Trust company's magazine, "Index," showed that imports of wines in 1914 amounted to 7,448,000 gallons, of a total consumption of 52,418,000, although beer imports before prohibition were negligible, amounting in the same year to 7,171,000 gallons of a total of 2,056,407,000 gallons consumed.

The wine making business, statistics revealed, was not an important industry in this country before prohibition, but since 1920 the per capita wine consumption has increased tremendously. There were approximately 714,000 tons of grape used in wine making last year in this country—mostly for home bottling. Before wine became illegal, 234,000 tons of grapes sufficed.

In 1914 about 2,300 wage earners were employed in the production of vinous liquors, according to the trust company's figures. The same year 1,250 breweries turned out 66,000,000 barrels of beer and employed about 100,000 men. At that time there were 68,215 saloonkeepers and 101,234 barkeepers.

Ruth Elder Files Suit for Her Third Divorce

U. S. TO CONTINUE ENFORCING DRY LAWS—HARNEY

Agents' Raids Curtailed by Lack of Cash.

As long as there is a prohibition law on the books the law will be enforced by the prohibition department. This was the answer given yesterday by Malachi L. Harney, head of the prohibition forces in the Chicago area, when asked about reports that Washington authorities had given the dry forces the word to "lay low."

Regarding amendment of the dry laws to permit beer, one prohibition department official said:

"Beer of 3 or 4 per cent will satisfy no one, but such beer will be ideal for spiking purposes. The alcohol already in the beer will make the beer readily assimilate other alcohol. Thus the bootlegger will find a lucrative employment, and the price of good grain alcohol will go up. Bootleggers will not relinquish their territory, and that will create a bad situation.

Two Raids in 24 Hours.

In a 24 hour period which ended last evening, agents on the Chicago dry staff made two raids. At 5026 South Park avenue Fred Jones was arrested as the operator of a 50 gallon still. At 1128 South Michigan avenue the agents arrested Arthur Ritz and Christ Peterson and confiscated 215 pints of home brew and a quantity of colored spirits.

Immediately after the day's raid a closed meeting of all deputies was held in the administrator's office. The meeting was explained as "merely routine, dealing with reports." From other sources it was learned that the meeting was primarily concerned with the principal reason for the inactivity of the last two months.

Enforcement, especially as it deals with retail liquor traffic, depends on purchases of liquor by investigators, and the money for these purchases is virtually exhausted. Lacking these purchases for evidence the dry forces have made few raids.

With 909 cases pending and 362 injunction cases still on call there were 15 cases disposed of in the United States District court yesterday. Three defendants in two cases pleaded guilty. One was fined $25 and sentenced to one hour in the custody of the United States marshal. The other two pleas were continued. All other cases were continued.

Figuring yesterday's activity as typical of the last two months it would take almost four years to raid Chicago's 2,700 saloons and more than ten months to dispose of the cases in court. Such an estimate does not take into account new saloons constantly opening up.

CIVIC LEADERS PLEDGE SUPPORT OF STOCK SHOW

Nearly a hundred business and civic leaders met yesterday at the Union League club to plan active support of the annual International Live Stock exposition to be held at the stockyards Nov. 26 to Dec. 3. The meeting was called by Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, at the request of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Among those who pledged support of the stock show were James B. Forgan Jr., acting president of the Association of Commerce; Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railway system; M. S. Szymczak, representing Mayor Cermak; former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, and Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president of the Chicago and Cook county Federation of Women's Clubs.

"In my travels abroad," declared Mr. Lowden, "I often found more people vitally interested in our live stock exposition, particularly agriculturists and live stock breeders, than was evidenced by many in Chicago."

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

MILWAUKEE SHOWS THE WAY.

The people of Milwaukee have just voted they would rather do without the frills and fancywork of local government than be swamped in paying for them. They have ignored the strange reasoning of Mayor Hoan that it would ruin the credit of the city if its people were known to be economical and cautious in their public expenditures and taken the word of private economists that their government was costing them too much money.

Against the wishes of most of the office holders, petitioners forced a referendum at the last general election and, setting a figure which their experts said was enough to run the city without ornamental gadgets and services, said to the city council this much you may have and no more.

The vote was on a charter ordinance limiting the total budget exclusive of schools and public debt to $17,000,000 and setting the tax levy other than for schools, fire and police departments and public debt at $2,000,000. Thirty thousand petitioners had asked the council to accept the ordinance, and when it refused, under the Wisconsin law it automatically became the subject of a referendum.

The proposal met opposition. Its promoters were accused of selfish motives and there was a difference of opinion as to the advisability of taking away from the elected officials a constituted function of their offices. Despite the sensational warning of the mayor that the city's financial standing would be shattered and its services crippled and the frenzied activity of the tax eaters, more than 173,000 votes were cast on the referendum, of which 91,752 were in its favor and 81,507 against. The council waited to be served with a certified canvass of the vote and without debate fixed a tax rate to provide the maximum levy under the ordinance.

It is the first time in Milwaukee, if not in any large city, where the people have set a definite amount of money their public servants may spend. Vaguely warned by officials that the city would have to get along without some of the services it had grown accustomed to, the answer was it was all right with them. Some things they would rather do without than tax themselves lean to get.

The new tax rate of $22.40 is $3.56 per thousand of valuation lower than a year ago. It is estimated it will raise around twenty and a half million dollars, which is nearly five million dollars under the levy last year. The city also receives around nine and a half million dollars from miscellaneous sources, chiefly income, utility and gasoline taxes. The advisers of the tax reform movement say the city will have enough money at the low rate to keep necessary departments of government functioning at 100 per cent effectiveness.

These advisers say in fact the new low rate is likely to raise more actual money than the higher rate did a year ago in spite of a considerably reduced assessed valuation. With a levy of around twenty-five million dollars, there were approximately fifteen million unpaid March 31 when taxes became extended and delinquent.

Taxes were so high that property owners quit trying in some cases and let their holdings become delinquent. The taxpayers' advisory council, which took the lead in forcing the referendum, thinks with a lower valuation and a lower rate a much larger proportion of citizens will make the sacrifices necessary to pay their taxes.

Milwaukee is no longer a city where officials spend what they wish and look to a flexible tax rate or adjustable valuation to raise the money. The voters have become the taxmasters. They have said you can spend so much of our money and there you must stop. You can tax us just enough to raise this money and no more.

Experts of the advisory council say they have provided enough funds so the city can operate and that no present necessary employé need lose his job. If he quits, the place may not be refilled unless the department head can justify the need for it. They say the purely ornamental or coddling activities of government must be cut out.

The people of Milwaukee have put into action the revolt against excessive taxation, which is general. Some of these people have been on a personal depression status for a year or more. Now they have adopted that status for their government. It is a sign of intelligence. When money is easier they can raise the limit or lift it altogether.

It looks as if Milwaukee had taken a first real step toward ending the depression in its locality.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PLACE.

A news reel of President Hoover arriving in Des Moines showed him alighting from the train with Mrs. Hoover and walking to the automobile waiting for him. At the door of the car he hesitates an instant and his instinct is quite plainly revealed. It is to await the steps which Mrs. Hoover will take to enter and then to follow her. It is also quite plain that he suddenly recalls the requirements of office and steps in ahead of her. No one precedes the President into his carriage or elsewhere.

An English woman who with her husband was Theodore Roosevelt's guest at the White House related that the three stood talking at the elevator until suddenly the President exclaimed: "What are we waiting here for?" "For you, sir," said the woman. "I forget," said Roosevelt, stepping ahead, "that the President can't be a gentleman."

If a President ever forgets himself the division of protocol, department of state, Warren D. Robbins, chief, will be unfit for social responsibilities for a week and will be likely to scramble all precedence, with great diplomatic scandal, for a month thereafter. There is still a feeling that the Jeffersonian pell-mell system is more interesting.

SLANDER BY RADIO.

Illinois has a statute enacted in 1927 which gives the status of libel to slander by radio, at least so far as criminal prosecutions are concerned. Probably the statute also creates a right of civil action on the part of the person defamed, although there has been no decision of the Illinois Supreme court definitely determining this point.

A few other states have similar statutes and bills to the same effect have been introduced in a number of others. The subject is a proper one for state and not federal legislation. There have been one or two endeavors in congress to have a section on radio slander added to the radio act, but such proposals have had very little support and are generally recognized as unsound.

Slander over the radio should be given substantially the status of libel in this respect: that the scope of words which are actionable should be the same in both cases. There is, however, one respect in which there should be a difference. The newspaper publishing company is usually held responsible for all utterances published in its newspaper whether or not it actually had knowledge of their content. This is on the theory that through its employés it has had an opportunity to examine in advance everything which is published. The broadcasting company should be subjected to the same liability as the newspaper publishing company when the broadcast utterances are made by employés of the broadcaster or other persons acting under his direction or at his request. On the other hand, the broadcaster has absolutely no control over the radio speeches made by candidates for public office. The radio act forbids the exercise of any censorship by the broadcaster over such speeches. In this field the broadcaster should not be held liable; liability should be restricted to the person or the organization actually responsible for the utterances.

Unfortunately, a recent decision of the Supreme court of Nebraska has confused the situation. The case is Sorenson vs. Wood and KFAB Broadcasting company, decided June 10, 1932 (243 N. W. 82). In this case the court held the broadcaster responsible for slander uttered in the course of a political speech made in behalf of a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator opposing Senator Norris. The alleged defamation was uttered in the course of the speech and was directed against the attorney general of Nebraska. The decision has been widely criticized and subjects broadcasters to a serious dilemma between violation of the prohibition of censorship in the radio act and liability for damages (see 2 Journal of Radio Law, 708). The federal radio commission should not have any jurisdiction of the subject. It is already claiming such jurisdiction, however, and has put stations off the air because of alleged defamatory speeches made about candidates for public offices. The principal case on this subject, involving Bob Shuler in Los Angeles, is now awaiting decision in the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. Although it was argued the first week in May, the court has not yet decided it and presumably is having difficulty in agreeing on the decision.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

Ida M. Tarbell said on her seventy-fifth birthday Saturday that one of the greatest satisfactions of being 75 years old was that one could know from experience that "the country isn't going to the dogs even though the stock market has." Long a writer on economics, a biographer of business men for the last forty years, Miss Tarbell told a gathering at a women's university club tea that, although the "nation is on its back at present, progress goes on."

"The entire east, with Wall street included, could be dropped into the Atlantic ocean tomorrow and the country would survive," she said. "It would more than survive. It would go about its work steadily and calmly. I have just made a little journey through the middle west. Through it all I did not hear the note of discouragement. I knew that the people had courage, but it is amazing to discover how much."

She said houses in the middle west were "crammed from cellar to garret" with food. With commodity prices far down, the families in the rural districts have stored in barns and houses as much food as they have room for.

"The most dramatic contrast I ever saw," she continued, "was on the lake front at Chicago. There stands an exact replica of old Fort Dearborn, the wooden stockade from which the garrison went out one day early in the last century in obedience to injudicious orders and were massacred by Indians. And rising high behind this small stockade that once was Chicago are some of the most beautiful city buildings in the world.

"The contrast is amazing, dramatic. Out of the brutality, the grasping, the greediness, the arrogance, violence and ignorance of the years beauty has come—a real beauty, fitting a country such as this one that is alive, courageous, growing. There is something in us working to express us, and it will win over the depression and everything else."

[New York Sun.]

On page 18 of the October supplement to the United States Official Postal Guide nine of its type lines are devoted to the subjoined notice:

"Form 3548 Not Bearing Name of Postoffice from which sent.

"Form 3548 has been sent by a postmaster addressed to Mrs. M. E. Peters, 75 Willett street, Bloomfield, N. J., advising that a postcard is being held at his office for one cent postage. The form is not filled out to show the name of the postoffice and state from which it was sent, and it bears no postmark.

"The postmaster at the office from which this notice was sent will promptly send to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Classification, another Form 3548, completely and properly filled out. When transmitting the form please refer to C. D. 122381."

The neglectful clerk who did not fill out the postage due form has cost a good bit of time and energy and something in cash. It is to be hoped that when Mrs. Peters receives her postal card its message will be worth reading.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Here to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"BROOKLYN CHURCHES URGE Nation to Forego Turkey Thanksgiving Day and Give Money to Jobless." It's a good idea, but where does it leave the turkey farmers? And the shippers and the turkey butchers and the grocers? That's the dinged part of hard times. Stop buying anything and you throw the people that make that thing out of a job. About the only thing we feel that we could stop buying without feeling a sympathetic twinge for the people who raise it is spinach. We can think of them being hard up without shedding a single tear.

AND WHILE WE ARE ROOSTING on the subject let us say a word for Brother Turkey and tell the Brooklyn churches it might be a good idea to economize in behalf of the unemployed on something else. First cost of the Thanksgiving turkey seems like a nice little piece of money these days. But reflect. We have the turkey in all his glory on Thanksgiving day and everybody gets a bountiful meal. Then the next day we have cold turkey and gnaw the carcass. Then the next day we have turkey hash. Next day some more remnants, the dressing and what's left of the gravy turn up. That turkey furnishes glorious food for four days. After all, turkey isn't a luxury, it's economy. A drumstick, please, and some of the dressing.

NOVEMBER DAYS.

November days, November days,
When specters haunt the woodland ways,
When fallen leaves of rusty gold
Bring prophecies of lifeless mold
And barren fields and wintry haze—
Where now are all those dawning Mays
Which thrilled our hearts to song and praise?
No longer are we blithe and bold,
November days!

For in your somber browns and grays
We find no fare for springlike lays;
Our visions perish in the cold,
And we, once young, are growing old—
No matter how your firelogs blaze,
November days!

THE NOTES from the European nations to the U. S. government regarding the war indebtedness to this nation are so long and involved that very few of us have the time and patience to read them through. But as near as we can get to their meaning they seem to convey the impression in a very gentle but extremely firm manner that if a certain creditor nation thinks it is going to get back the money it loaned during a certain lamentable conflict at arms in a certain quarter of the globe to certain other countries located in another part of the world, then it, the said creditor nation and party of the first part, has another guess coming.

Now, if they will go a step farther and arrest every man or woman walking along the street chewing a toothpick we would have to admit that communism had its good points.

HUNTER'S HEADACHE.

WHY is it that a quail shooter is very apt to come home from a day's hunting suffering from a headache, whereas a duck shooter pays no such penalty for his sport?

The reasons for the difference, as found in a medical journal, are these: Modern powders are especially rich in nitrogen compounds—more so than the old powders. As they explode various nitrite gases are formed. These are moderately poisonous. A successful quail hunter, working over dogs, shoots against the wind. If he and his dog are going downwind the birds get their scent and escape. When a man shoots into the wind some of the gases produced by explosion are carried back into the hunter's face. In shooting ducks the gun is pointed in every direction, downwind and upwind, and the hunter inhales less of the gases. The one gets headache. The other does not.

A physician who has had enough shooting to satisfy any one pronounces this theory as the bunk. He says hunters are apt to come in with a headache, but the trouble is due to the jar of many explosions or to exposure, fatigue, hunger, interrupted habits—but not to inhalation of powder gases.

Whatever the cause, the fact is that hunters are very prone to headaches. To prevent this kin' I presume the simplest procedure is to buy your game in the market.

In a discussion of headaches held by the members of a medical society there was a general agreement that a physician's task had only begun when he made a diagnosis of headache. Such a diagnosis was no place to stop, but was instead the place to begin. This was just as true of migraine as it was of headaches of other types.

One of the disputants said that in his experience 85 per cent of the cases resulted from digestive disorders. Therefore, the stock method of prevention was to change the diet and the eating habits, to overcome constipation, and to give sour milk preparation in great abundance.

Another physician said his experience was radically different. Most of the headache cases he saw were suffering from eye strain. His method of prevention was to examine the eyes very carefully and to prescribe properly fitting glasses. At this point another physician got into the discussion. In his experience most headaches were due to allergy. They were caused by eating certain foods or exposure in other ways to substances to which the individual was sensitized. The method of prevention, which had been successful in his practice was to search out the food that was harmful or the something else to which there was hazardous exposure and to get around the cause in that way.

At first blush this appeared discreditable to the debaters. It seemed as though each saw every case through his own glasses. On further thought the state of facts was creditable to both patients and physicians. Each had a reputation in his specialty. The people have learned that some headaches have one cause and some another. Some, having reason to think their digestive apparatus to be the cause of their headaches, sought a specialist in that field. Others, thinking their eyes responsible, sought the eye specialist.

LIME IN THE WATER.

Mrs. A. M. R. writes:

1. Does lime in drinking water cause hardening of the arteries?
2. Is too much acid one of the causes of hardening of the arteries?

REPLY.

1. No. Eating or drinking lime is easy; getting it absorbed and stored in the tissues is a different proposition.
2. There is no proof that it is.

OLIVE OIL AND LEMON JUICE.

I. W. writes:

1. Just what does olive oil do in the treatment of gallstones?
3. Will olive oil prevent future attacks?
4. I also heard that lemon juice daily served the same purpose.

REPLY.

1. Nothing material.
2. That is an error. Olive oil and alkali unite in the digestive tract to form soapstones. These are free in the digestive tract and they are soft. If it were not for these qualities the ability of olive oil to make stones would make it a dangerous drug
3. No, nor will it cause new stones to form in the gall bladder.
4. No.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My recent tenant's lease at $32 monthly expired April 30. There was no sixty day clause. About Feb. 20 he called and said his salary had been cut and he could not pay more than $30. I accepted his offer (no witness) and, thinking it settled for another year, made no effort for a new tenant. He called April 16 and said he was going to move May 1. 1. Did this oral or verbal lease extend the expired lease at a reduced figure and could it hold in law with no witness? 2. Owing to the short notice I had difficulty in securing a desirable tenant, lost two months' rent, was put to advertising expense, and had to accept a further reduction. A. J. L.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The British reply to the latest American note protesting against the trade blacklist denies that rights of neutral traders under international law have been ruthlessly canceled, defines the blacklist measure as a municipal regulation plainly concerning only the British government and British citizens and contends that it is designed to shorten the war. The note fails to meet the American demand that the names of American firms be stricken from the blacklist, but attempts to convince the state department that the British position is just and founded on law. It leaves open the door for further negotiation, which is expected to follow. The note says the blacklist is not intended to penalize neutral trade, but is aimed to prevent Great Britain's own subjects from enriching friends of the enemy in foreign lands by buying their goods and thus turning to them money which might be used to further propaganda in favor of England's foes.

LONDON.—Russian forces have retired from the Gyergyo mountains in northern Transylvania to the Rumanian frontier, according to the war office statement from Berlin. The retirement was the result of Austro-Hungarian attacks, the report adds. The communication also chronicles a German advance against the enemy to the south of the Tulghes pass.

LONDON.—The British drive in the Ancre region, which reached a high wave yesterday, driving Germans from various well defended positions, continued today with unabated fury. Beaucourt, one of the keys to the Bapaume and only about seven miles in a direct line from the German stronghold, was stormed and captured. The Germans admit that Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre-Divion have been evacuated and that "our tenacious defense caused us considerable losses," but declared the British also suffered "considerable sacrifices."

BERLIN.—Vienna reports that the tremendously heavy losses of the Italians in their last offensive in the Isonzo region have been confirmed. The village of Castagnievizza saw the most tenacious fighting of the Austro-Italian war. Extraordinarily efficient artillery fire annihilated nearly the last man of an Italian infantry brigade [6,000 men] and an Alpine battalion. Other regiments following them suffered likewise. When hand to hand fighting came at least half of all the Italian troops launched for the attack had fallen or were out of the combat. The Italians lost about 15,000 men at Castagnievizza.

CHICAGO.—Henry Field, grandson of the founder of the Marshall Field fortune and an officer of the British royal naval division, is engaged to Miss Nancy Keene Perkins, daughter of the late Mrs. Moncure Perkins of Richmond, Va., one of the five Langhorne sisters of "Mirador," Albemarle county, whose fame for beauty has gone all over the world. Announcement of the engagement was made yesterday by Chiswell L. Langhorne, father of the five noted beauties and grandfather of Miss Perkins.

CHICAGO.—A cold wave swept down on Chicago with a vengeance yesterday. It was coldest at 7 a. m., when the mercury registered 14 above zero. Four deaths were caused directly or indirectly by the cold.

Defendant (ruefully): "Well, I did think it was a bit of luck."

NEIGHBORS.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—I maintain that our block holds the city record for the length of time these good neighbors have all lived in their present locations. At one end of the block is a church and at the other is a rented house. Between these are seven homes which have been occupied by the present owners for so many years that it is worthy of note in a city of transient cliff dwellers. The record in years is this—40, 39, 30, 27, 26, 13 and 21. This is more like the record of a country town than of a city block in Chicago. Is there another neighborhood which can outdo ours for permanency of residence? LAURA B. DONALDSON.

SPLITTING THE NEGRO VOTE.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—The overwhelming support regularly given to the Republican party and its candidates in Negro districts in face of large Democratic majorities throughout the rest of the city is easily accountable. Colored voters have been won to and held within the Republican party because of the large recognition it has given them through patronage and public office. The Democratic party can win and hold many of them by granting the same consideration. That this is true has been amply demonstrated in New York City, where Negroes consistently support Democratic candidates with large majorities.

When an almost solid Negro vote is registered against the best interests of a great city as it was in the mayoralty election of 1931 and in Tuesday's election, it is time that thoughtful men and women of the colored race should seek new political alignments. They will seek affiliation with the Democratic party if encouraged to do so.

PRIZES.

Belvidere, Ill., Nov. 8.—The Marie Knapps of our good U. S. A. have finally got into print. That's fine, for I can now say the things to her and her prize grabbing ilk that I have felt for years and other clerks and store owners have had in their minds and hearts.

Benefit card parties, bazaars, and picnics are given by organizations which send solicitors to our stores for contributions or (if prizes are bought) a price. Gladly they are given a wholesale plus ten per cent price to help the cause. Sometimes we feel the cause is not so good, but we have helped others, and never refuse to give.

After the winners have won and taken home their prizes they find they don't match the felt inside their piano or a flower on a certain lamp shade. Back they take it to the store that donated it and demand the regular price so they can go somewhere else to buy what they want, or else exchange the prize for something double the value. A. K. S.

THE BRONX CHEER.

Berwyn, Ill., Nov. 10.—I was very much upset the other day when I read the strip "Harold Teen" and noticed that Shadow gave Poison Pembrook the Bronx cheer, the cartoonist spelling it f-l-r-r-r-r with the addition of a few sprays of saliva. Is that going to be another one of those words [like tsk or tchk, or however it is spelled] that drives one crazy trying to discover the correct spelling? Anyway, I think th-r-r-r-r, with the same accompaniment as above, is closer than f-l-r-r-r.

EMILY KARLOVSKY.

AND NOW WHAT!

Chicago, Nov. 10.—In THE TRIBUNE of Nov. 10 Arthur Sears Henning states: "The country turned questioningly yesterday to the President elect for light on his policies. What the Democratic party is going to do to ameliorate the condition of the country, and how soon, was the question uppermost in the minds of the people."

After Gov. Roosevelt and his speakers have been stumping the country for the last three months, consuming thousands of radio hours, millions of words of explanation, and the newspaper editors and writers have written thousands of columns explaining why the people should vote for Roosevelt is it possible that the 23 million voters that voted for Roosevelt are still in the dark? The 15 million voters that voted for President Hoover do not need to ask for light on Roosevelt's policies or ask what the Democratic party is going to do; they found that out during the campaign.

SOMETHING LIKE A MILLENNIUM.

Oak Park, Ill., Nov. 2.—In answer to H. W. Bair on "A Forest Ranger":

Firstly, the forest service and the national park service are two very different branches of service.

Secondly, a forest ranger and a park ranger, regardless of their speaking ability, risk their lives many times a year for a very mediocre salary and they don't howl much about it if they happen to miss out on a rakeoff.

I was born and raised in Chicago, but happened to spend five years of my life in Montana and California, where I worked for the United States forest service in the summer time.

By the way, the forest service deals in millions of acres of timber lands and they are not limited to the national parks.

If you think that particular park ranger's job is easy you ought to try it—you'd fold up and die after a day of it. If you think a forest ranger's job is dusting off trees try it also. I am afraid you'd be woefully inadequate for the job, not to mention making twenty miles a day on skis under the same conditions. Also try swinging a three pound ax for fifteen hours fighting fire and keep alive in the bargain.

I am proud of the west and wish I could say I came from there—where they pay their school teachers and where crime doesn't pay. If we of Chicago, Cook county, and Illinois had the spirit of the west and not so much gift of gab and a mess of politics we would be living in something like a millennium.

A POOR LOSER.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 10. — The chairman of the Republican national committee, Mr. Sanders, surely put the finishing touches to the Grand Old Party in that radio speech last night. Of all the uncalled for, unnecessary tirades that we have had on the air that one takes the blue ribbon. And of all the hard losers and poor sports that we have had in this campaign, Sanders outshines them all. I have voted the Republican ticket all my life until this year. I am sorry that the Republican party cannot select better spokesmen than this national committeeman.

A STRAIN ON THE FAMILY TIE

OPPOSE TREATY ON ST. LAWRENCE RIVER SEAWAY

Witnesses Call Project Another Tax Burden.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—The Hoover-Bennett treaty providing for construction of the St. Lawrence river for navigation and power met with a storm of opposition when it came up for investigation today before a subcommittee of the senate freight relations committee.

Four witnesses, one representing the class one railroads of the country, and the other three acting as spokesmen for the port of Albany, the New York Waterways association and the Seaboard Great Lakes association joined in denouncing the proposed seaway project as impracticable, useless and extravagant. They asserted that it would impose a heavy burden upon the nation's taxpayers, furnish power for which there is no present market and prove of no benefit to the farmers of the midwest.

Cost in Excess of Billion.

All the witnesses united in asserting that the seaway connecting the great lakes and the Atlantic ocean via Montreal would cost in excess of a billion dollars instead of the 543 millions estimated by the engineers representing the two governments. The treaty was termed unfair in that it provided for American financing of the lion's share of the work to be done.

The proposal was also made by one witness that this country swap the British war debts for all lands in Canada east and south of the center of the St. Lawrence river if we finally agree to construct the waterway. The territory referred to embraces New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and part of Quebec.

The hearings were conducted by six senators, with William E. Borah [radical Rep., Idaho] as chairman. The others present today were Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], Robert M. La Follette [radical Rep., Wis.], Arthur N. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], and Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont]. The investigation is expected to be concluded in two weeks or less. All indications today were that even the sponsors of the treaty have given up hope of securing its ratification at this session of congress.

Here Are Principal Witnesses.

Today's principal witnesses were Peter G. Ten Eyck, president of the New York State Waterways association and originator of the idea of swapping debts for Canadian territory; E. P. Goodrich, consulting engineer for the Albany port district commission; Alfred P. Thom, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives and Reginald G. Narelle, president of the Seaboard Great Lakes association and the New York Boat Owners' association.

The Chicago water diversion came into the hearings on only one occasion. That was when Senator Glenn asked the witness, Goodrich, what effect ratification of the St. Lawrence treaty would have on the lakes to the gulf waterway. Goodrich said that the seaway would have a detrimental effect. He added also that he did not consider that the treaty allowed a sufficient water diversion for the lakes to gulf route.

Mr. Thom was the last witness of the day, and he will go on the stand at the opening of the hearing tomorrow. He asserted that the railroads consider that construction of the St Lawrence shipway was "not only economically unjustified," but would place a heavy burden on the taxpayers of the country. He said it would do an unjustifiable injury to the railroads, furnish a subsidy for a part of the people and produce no economic savings for any one.

"Very eminent engineers, Messrs. Sanderson and Porter of New York," Mr. Thom said, "have made a careful study of the question and have reached the conclusion that considering the present available markets for the power the proposed power plants on the St. Lawrence cannot be run at any profit whatever, but, on the contrary, their operation will result in a deficit.

"It is understood that the joint board of engineers have made no estimate whatever as to such profits.

Summarizes Railroad Position.

"The question of whether or not there could be any profits, and if so, how much, is, of course, a most interesting one to the taxpayers of the United States and should be carefully considered before entering upon the undertaking."

Mr. Thom summarized the railroads' position on the St. Lawrence as follows:

"1. The actual cost will be much greater than the estimates show and upon which justification is based.

"2. Due to these underestimates and to other factors there is certainly no sound reason to anticipate that the alleged savings from the transportation service can be realized. Our firm conviction is there will be no savings whatever.

Call It Subsidized Service.

"3. The costs, whatever they may prove to be, will be borne in large part by taxpayers and thus establish a subsidized service, competitive with the rail carriers.

"4. The tonnage diverted to this artificial and subsidized waterway will, if as great in amount as claimed by proponents, result in unjustifiable injury to the railroads of the United States without compensating advantage in lower transportation costs.

"5. The transportation service to be offered by this proposed waterway will be an incomplete service, limited by climatic conditions to 6½ or 7 months out of the year."

Mr. Narelle, although representing several organizations, spent but a brief period on the stand. He asserted that the seaway project should be rejected.

"The St. Lawrence," he said, "represents an absolutely unwarranted expense of a billion dollars on a project which will do no good to any one."

Both Mr. Ten Eyck and Mr. Goodrich presented briefs to the committee containing objections to the treaty. They also presented a mass of statistics designed to show that the St. Lawrence would cost far more than the original estimates.

Mr. Goodrich said he had made a careful engineering study of the project. He estimated the entire cost of the project when finally completed at 1 billion 54 million dollars.

Says U. S. Pays More than Share.

He said that on the basis of the present division of costs the United States was paying 43 millions more than her share and spending the money on works which would be turned over to Canada when completed. His estimate of costs based on a 32 foot project, instead of the 27 foot project embodied in the treaty, follows:

Engineers' estimate [as pub.]		$ 543,429,000
Lock duplicate	$ 18,700,000
Compensating works	100,000
Channel deep'g'r.	25,000,000
Welland canal deepening	25,000,000
Power projects in Canadian territory	262,600,000
Montreal harbor.	4,000,000
		335,400,000
Private capital required to improve harbors		25,000,000
Interest and administration during construction		150,638,000
		$1,054,467,000

Both Goodrich and Ten Eyck pointed out that the treaty did not arrange for financing deepening of harbors, which would be made necessary if larger boats entered the lakes.

Parted by Divorce in Waukegan

Charge Is Cruelty

William A. Gibson Jr., 363 Orchard lane, Highland Park, was granted a divorce yesterday on the ground of cruelty from Mrs. Carrie Akin Gibson. The decree was granted following a hearing in chambers before Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady at Waukegan. Mrs. Gibson was present but offered no testimony.

She is a sister of Mary Akin, former film star and wife of Edwin Carewe, motion picture director. Judge Dady was informed that Mrs. Gibson will probably go to California to live with her sister and mother, Mrs. Carrie Akin. Gibson, an executive of a national billboard company, was granted custody of their three children, Virginia, 13 years old; Robert, 11, and John, 8.

Gibson testified to three instances of cruelty. On May 25 of this year, he charged, his wife kicked him in the chest. On May 28, he asserted, she gave him a black eye, and on July 10, he charged, she wrenched his right forefinger, tearing the ligaments.

A property settlement was filed with the court, placing the Highland Park home in trust for Mrs. Gibson during her lifetime or until she remarries. When she dies or remarries it is to remain in trust for the three children.

DIVERSION WORK ON HOOVER DAM JOB COMPLETED

Colorado Is Now Flowing Underground.

Boulder City, Nev., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Diversion of the Colorado river was completed here today, with $27,000,000 spent thus far on the 165 million dollar Hoover dam project.

The full flow of the stream was sent through the two Arizona diversion tunnels after the completion of a rock fill barrier. It was accomplished in less than 24 hours after the Sunday noon blast of 150,000 pounds of dynamite that signalized the river was about to give up a portion of its bed and dive underground.

Two days will be required to pump out the still water between two temporary dams at the inlet and outlet of the diversion tunnels, so the bed may be laid bare nearly a mile to permit excavation.

Expect Bedrock by July.

The chief construction engineer, Walker R. Young, in charge of the project for the United States reclamation service, said he hoped bedrock will be reached by next July.

Some 4,000,000 cubic yards must be removed before pouring of concrete starts, the river bed being excavated to a depth of 120 feet.

With work more than a year ahead of schedule, it is now expected filling of the reservoir will be started in July, 1935, and initial power generated by Sept. 1, 1935.

Most Difficult Work Done.

Frank T. Crowe, general field superintendent of six companies, contractors, said today the most difficult part of the project is behind the engineers. Building of the dam itself, he explained, will be comparatively simple work. He said the big job was the pioneering state of shaping the great cañon walls, building the diversion tunnels and spillway bores and getting the river out of its channel.

It is now expected the project, which will provide flood protection for the Imperial valley, one of the largest blocks of hydro-electric power ever generated, reclamation for vast areas, as well as future water supply for southern California cities, will be completed by the end of 1937 instead of 1938 as originally scheduled.

URGE OHIO SENATORS TO VOTE TO RATIFY ST. LAWRENCE PACT

Toledo, O., Nov. 14.—(AP)—A resolution urging Ohio senators to vote for ratification of the treaty with Canada to provide for building the great lakes-St. Lawrence seaway was adopted by the Ohio section of the Great Lakes Harbors association today.

Among those attending the sectional meeting were C. L. Babin, vice president of the Lake Carriers' association, which has gone on record in opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway; R. F. Malia of Milwaukee, secretary of the Harbors association, and R. J. MacLean of Detroit.

TEACHERS UNITE TO FIGHT SALARY CUTS IN BUDGET

Two hundred teachers voted yesterday to form a planning committee for a fight against reductions in salaries and educational expenditures in the 1933 school budget. The meeting was held at the Central Y. M. C. A.

According to Robert Russell, secretary of the south side delegates, the average school teacher has taken a wage reduction of approximately 15 per cent for 1932. Questionnaires asking teachers how much their pay was cut through a shortened school term, payless holidays, elimination of sick leave pay and other economies were sent out recently.

Mr. Russell reported that 1,628 elementary school teachers who replied showed a pay decrease of 15 per cent, 287 senior high school teachers, 14 per cent, and 92 junior high school teachers, 16 per cent.

Smith was a circus clown for thirty-five years, playing with the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey, and other big shows. He entered the profession in 1878 and retired in 1911, intending to operate a tobacco shop at Kalamazoo, Mich.

Later he suffered a paralytic stroke and, with his wife, has since made his home with a daughter, Mrs. C. G. Travis, 4031 North Keeler avenue. Judge Marcus Kavanagh, dining at an adjoining table and observing the old couple's happiness, arose and offered his congratulations.

constantly prepared to render mutual aid against an aggressor. This force would be under the command of the league of nations.

Under the French plan, also, stocks of arms would be established in the countries of their origin and would be under the control of the league and for the use of the league's army.

In addition to the European regional security pacts there would be a special Mediterranean naval pact and a general pact for the suppression of the "most offensive naval arms."

Would Ban Air Bombardment.

France also is willing to place a ban on bombardment by planes. Under the plan all European civil air transport would be organized under international supervision. A special air force would also be placed at the disposition of the league of nations. The British delegation is expected to follow this up with an even broader proposal as regards aerial warfare.

The French proposals emphasize that the plan must be taken as a whole, disarmament being entirely dependent on the organization of security. Geographical situations, and the special conditions of each nation and continent must be taken into consideration before disarmament can be accomplished, the French insist. The problem before the conference is not alone technical, it is pointed out, but political as well.

In conclusion the proposal said: "This plan can only be carried out by stages, each subsequent stage being justified and prepared for by the proved consequences of what has gone before."

GERMANY FEARS TRAP IN FRENCH DISARM SCHEME

BERLIN, Nov. 15 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Editorial comment in Berlin morning papers today approached the French disarmament plan with extreme caution and, in one case, even expressed distrust of possible pitfalls hidden in the French reasoning. The view was maintained that the plan needed elucidation on many points.

The industrialist Deutsche Allgemine Zeitung said Germany's equality demands must under no circumstances be allowed to be undermined by specious argument. This journal said the concession of equality must come first and foremost and that no "empiric settlement" will be considered.

The Catholic newspaper Germania said: "Germany will not be the only country to say this French plan is unworkable. Germany's standpoint is that Europe must first be reformed, root and branch, before the status quo of the continent can be laid down in such a schematic, apodictic manner for an indefinite time to come. We are unable to see where genuine disarmament comes in."

The Democratic Vossische Zeitung's military contributor expressed the opinion that the plan "bristles with controvertible points and is likely to be declined by the German people."

WOMAN KILLED BY MOTOR COACH.

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Katherine Placek, 60, of East St. Louis, was killed here yesterday after she had fallen or deliberately knelt on the tracks in the path of a Missouri Pacific passenger motor coach.

Germans Charge France Is Ready for Immediate War

COLOGNE, Germany, Nov. 14.—(AP)—In an exhaustive discussion of French military organization and equipment to be presented in a special issue tomorrow, the Koelnische Illustrierte Zeitung, a widely read weekly circulated internationally and throughout Germany, reaches the conclusion that "before the gates of Germany stands the best equipped army in the world, ready to march."

Statistics, graphs, maps, photographs, quotations from the sayings of French statesmen and scientific analyses by German military experts are set forth.

The purpose is to prove to the German reader that Jules Cambon, eminent French diplomat, correctly interpreted the French people in saying, "In the army lies the soul of France."

Claim Charges Can Be Proved.

The publishers of the weekly assert that every declaration in the issue can be proved. Outstanding among the statements are these:

1. That within a week, and without special parliamentary authorization, France could put into action 46 infantry, five cavalry, and four air divisions.

2. That the French military budget does not show what the nation is spending on armaments—"France is the world's champion when it comes to camouflaging her military expenditures."

3. That the French fleet "has made tremendous, methodic progress, thanks to a long term naval program, which, though never sanctioned by the chamber of deputies, is being carried out tacitly year after year."

Charge "Aggressive Tendency."

4. That the French air fleet has a radius of activity extending "far beyond Germany, the channel and England, and beyond the Italian plains of the Po, including Turin and Milan."

5. That French army maneuvers in recent years "have evinced a clearly aggressive tendency.

6. That for more than a century French policy has not swerved from the goal of establishing a military hegemony over Europe, and that the "French system of alliances rests upon Europe like a nightmare."

The French military system combines professional troops enlisted for long term service, with a short term draft army resting upon the universal obligation of all males to serve, writes the anonymous author of an article entitled "Ready to March Within Six Days—Without Mobilization." The last three annual classes of reserves may be called to the colors, this writer says, without asking parliament or declaring mobilization.

Cites Hiding of Expenditures.

Walter Jost, a German economist, who contends that the French military budget does not show the actual outlay, makes this statement:

"Neither world public opinion nor the French taxpayer likes to see pacifistic France sacrifice more than one-third of the nation's entire income to the god Mars. Nothing is easier, then, than to hide the facts. A special credit of $200,000,000 for the gigantic fortifications on the eastern frontier need not appear as part of the military budget."

Jost concludes that while France from 1913 to 1931 increased her military expenditures about 60 per cent, Germany reduced hers 80 per cent.

Tells of Huge Fleet.

Rear Admiral Gadow, retired, who makes the assertion that the French fleet has made tremendous progress under a long term program never sanctioned by the chamber of deputies, predicts that by 1942 the French will have a fleet of large war vessels totaling 723,000 tons, to which must be added small vessels with a tonnage of 100,000.

The admiral expresses apprehension about the range of the French air fleet. An illustration accompanying his article depicts a plane described as the latest French development for night bombing—the S. A. B. 20 type—of which sixty are said to have been ordered. The plane is equipped with nine machine guns, has a radius of action of 625 miles, and can carry 5,500 pounds of bombs.

Count Max von Montgelas, retired German infantry general, contributes a review of French military policy from 1793 to the present, in which he says that everything has been made subservient to the establishment of a military hegemony over Europe.

French alliances are discussed by Karl L. von Certzen, retired German army colonel, who asserts that France is the "spider" in a web enmeshing Belgium, Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslavia, Rumania, and Poland.

"Fantastic," France Says.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The French government branded the Cologne Illustrierte Zeitung's conclusions about French military strength as fantastic and false today and simultaneously said that France will soon propose general proportional reduction of the world's navies. The government said France is unable for the present to fix the proposed French naval reduction, as this depends upon international agreement, "but French tonnage probably will be around or under 600,000."

"This means France will accept a cut of nearly 300,000 tons from her original program," it was said.

Referring to allegations as to the aggressive intentions of France, the statement said France has given convincing proof of its determination to settle pacifically international differences in adhering to the general arbitration act at Geneva, "a document to which Germany alone among the great powers has up to now abstained from subscribing."

The possession of bombing planes described by Admiral Gadow was denied, and it was added that France had not ordered any. Camouflage of the military budget was also denied.

A COLD PASSES THRU 3 STAGES!

It is Twice as Easily Stopped in the First as in the Second or Third Stages!

A cold passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Once it gets beyond the Dry Stage it is far more difficult to relieve. Therefore, treat a cold promptly.

The best thing you can take is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, because it does the four things necessary, in the way required. It opens the bowels. Kills the germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

This is the relief you want—complete, thorough and decisive! Trust to nothing less.

Effective as it is, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. No narcotics. No bad after-effects of any kind. Relief with comfort! The whole world knows Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as the standard cold tablet. Comes in handy, pocket size box, cellophane-wrapped. DRESDEN CROWDS HISS VON PAPEN; POLICE USE CLUBS

Shout "Down with Him" on Chancellor's Visit.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

DRESDEN, Nov. 14.—Chancellor von Papen paid a formal call on the government of Saxony today and the police had a busy day dispersing crowds lining the sidewalks to greet him with hisses and shouts of "Down with Papen!" The chancellor was heartily welcomed by government officials, but even while he listened to their friendly speeches a hostile crowd gathered outside the city hall waiting sullenly for his reappearance.

"I shall leave Dresden with absolute confidence that the government, acting upon orders from the president, will lead Germany out of the valley of distress," the chancellor told his official hosts.

Shakes Fist at Chancellor.

When he left the city hall the crowd resumed its hissing, and a National Socialist deputy, Kuno Mayer, stepped up to the chancellor's auto and shook his fist. Pointing at the multitude, he shouted, "This is your people, Herr Chancellor," whereupon the catcalls increased. Policemen grabbed the Nazi and arrested him.

Wherever the chancellor's car appeared the Nazis seemed to have posted their men, who had no difficulty in provoking demonstrations against Von Papen. The police used their clubs freely. In order to escape further demonstrations Von Papen postponed his departure half an hour while the police cleared the square adjoining the railroad station.

In an interview the chancellor put an end to rumors that the government intended to push aside the Weimar constitution and ignore the reichstag and the political parties to carry out its program. He said that he would try to reach a broad basis with party leaders for a cabinet that could really be called a cabinet of national concentration.

Nazis Enter Church Politics.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Entering church politics for the first time, Adolf Hitler's National Socialists today captured 1,335 parish board seats in 67 Berlin parishes.

Nonpolitical Christians were elected to 1,209 seats; Fundamentalists, 1,111; Liberals, 298; Evangelical Federationists, 87, and Religious Socialists, 86.

Meanwhile, Hermann Goering, speaker of the last reichstag, today called the new reichstag session for Dec. 6.

Clouds Prevent View Of Leonids in Chicago

Overcast skies prevented possible views early this morning of the Leonids, or so-called shooting stars, which are visible in the eastern heavens every thirty-three years. If the weather is clear, the meteoric swarm may be seen between 1 and 5 o'clock tomorrow and Thursday mornings and to a lesser degree on Friday morning. The Leonids are so named because they radiate from the constellation Leo. They are thought to be fragments of Tempel's comet, which was last observed in 1866 and which has since apparently disintegrated.

GENEVA, Nov. 14.—Following the intervention of Prentiss B. Gilbert, American consul, to save him from what seemed an inevitable jail sentence, Karl Herreshoff, 19 year old American medical student, was expelled from the country tonight Herreshoff was arrested during the rioting in Geneva last week. Detectives escorted him to a train for Paris.

Herreshoff, who is a member of a famous family of California yacht builders, spent 44 hours in a black prison cell with seven genuine rioters more or less communist. He denied that he did anything but put up his arms in defense when police went upon him as he was standing among spectators of the riot. Police said he hissed, used bad language, used his fists and generally misbehaved.

Seize Fifteen Bomb Suspects.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Fifteen men were arrested today in connection with the explosion of a bomb last night in front of the city hall. Seven persons, one of them a woman, were injured in the explosion. Police said the bombing apparently was directed against firemen, who turned the hose on a disorderly crowd last week.

HONDURAN ARMY ATTACKS REBELS; HUNDREDS SLAIN

Election Losers Revolt; Capture Cities.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Many hundreds were reported killed during twelve hours of heavy fighting between rebels and government troops today at the city of San Pedro.

Insurgent liberals, who lost in the presidential election two weeks ago, captured Nacaome, 100 miles from Tegucigalpa and the key to the southern district of Honduras. They captured San Pedro last night and government troops, assisted by Nationalists, were making a counter attack.

Outbreaks have not occurred in this city, but the situation is extremely threatening.

Other Cities Reported Taken.

The Liberals were reported to have seized the towns of Trujillo, La Ceiba and La Esperanza.

It was reported that rebel troops were in the field in the southern district also, and federal forces were hurried to Comayagua in anticipation of an attack.

Reports were received that William Coleman was one of the leaders in the rebellion and that he was killed as government troops under Gens. Funes, Rosales, and Guy Maloney stormed San Pedro. Fighting also was reported at Puerto Cortes, but there were no details.

In the Honduran election Oct. 30, Gen. Tiburcio Carias Andino, the Nationalist-Conservative candidate, won over Angel Zuniga Huete, the Liberal nominee. The inauguration has not yet taken place, and President Mejia Colindres remains as the head of the government. The president and the president elect are political allies.

Bolivians Halt Drive.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 14.—The Paraguayans and Bolivians today made conflicting announcements, each expressing confidence of their campaign in the Gran Chaco with the Bolivians claiming huge casualties inflicted upon the enemy.

The Paraguayans today attacked Fort Munoz, Bolivian key fort, but were reported to have been stopped by artillery. The forts Murguia, Smaklay and Saavedra, guarding Fort Munoz, were successfully defended by 5,000 Bolivians, dispatches said. The Paraguayans predict the capture of the four forts within a fortnight. They expect to drive all Bolivians from the southeastern Chaco with the arrival of the rainy season.

La Paz, capital of Bolivia, reported that at Fort Saavedra artillery took a heavy toll of Paraguayans. The attackers raised a white flag, but Bolivians ignored it, fearing a trick. The report estimated the Paraguayan casualties at 1,000. One hundred and one prisoners were taken.

Two Painters Killed When Scaffold Falls 3 Stories

Hugo Carlstedt, 63 years old, 8148 Woodlawn avenue, and Nels Dahl, 62 years old, 5931 South Rockwell street, were killed yesterday when the scaffold on which they were standing while painting a house at 4846 Vincennes avenue fell three floors to the ground. The Wabash avenue police said the accident was caused when the roof coping, on which the scaffold was fastened, gave way.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

CHILDREN RALLY TO AID HUNGRY STUDENTS' FUND

Send Savings to Buy Hot Lunches.

Right in line with the old adage "Youth will be served"—and by youth—when the underfed youngsters in Chicago schools get the hot lunches provided for them by yesterday's contributors to the Hungry School Children's fund. Adults are well represented as always, but the younger generation was especially conspicuous in the donors of the total of $130.67, which brings the mark to date up to $12,118.07.

Good Deed Own Reward.

It couldn't have been any too easy for Diana Togmose, 12 years old, to part with the $2.00 that was her own pocket money, nor for Mae-Belle Wight of Waukegan to make up her 7 year old mind to send the hungry boys and girls the dollar she had been saving to buy Christmas gifts. Nor for the "An Pao Group of C. F. Girls," as they signed themselves, to relinquish the $1 that meant incidentally candy bars and sticks of gum to them. But they did it—more power to them. Even small Earl Bennage, who sent his dime, knows that it will buy a lunch some noon for some hungry boy.

Women of the Rotary club helped out the fund with a welcome gift of $10, and an equal amount arrived "in honor of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Stein." That appeals to us as the finest way yet found to celebrate such an event.

Day's Gifts Acknowledged.

LEGION OFFICIALS MAKE WINTER PLANS TO HELP VETERANS

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Aid for disabled and needy veterans, coöperating with existing agencies, is the principal program of the American Legion posts this winter, national and state officers decided at a meeting at national headquarters here today. Louis A. Johnson, national commander, said the Legion would not equivocate but would go "squarely down the line" for prohibition repeal and payment of bonus as favored at the national convention in Portland, Ore., last summer.

"The Legion has been a great stabilizing force nationally in the present period of unrest," Mr. Johnson reported.

The state Legion will have no expensive program at the session of the Indiana legislature, Sherman Minton of New Albany said.

Bowman Elder and Remster Bingham, both of Indianapolis, were re-elected national treasurer and national judge advocate. Frank E. Samuel, as national adjutant, and Eben Putnam of Massachusetts, national historian, were reelected.

Coöperation of the Forty and Eight in caring for disabled and unemployed veterans and their families was pledged by John A. Elden of Cleveland.

CHARGES WOMAN SHE BEFRIENDED STOLE HUSBAND

Sixteen years ago Mrs. Anna Dolinski, 1337 Fargo avenue, introduced Miss Estelle Kulick, 5524 Pensacola avenue, to her husband, Michael, a dress manufacturer, and persuaded her husband to employ the young woman in his factory.

Yesterday Mrs. Dolinski sat in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Craig Hood while a jury was chosen to hear her $100,000 suit for alienation of affections against Miss Kulick.

Mrs. Dolinski's declaration charged that Miss Kulick became a bookkeeper in the dress factory and then managed to catch her boss' eye, and that after Dolinski persuaded his wife to go abroad for three months during the summer of 1927, he insisted by cable that she remain there. When she returned, against his wishes, he demanded a divorce which ultimately Mrs. Dolinski obtained two years later. The bill charged that Dolinski wanted the separation because of his affection for Miss Kulick, who now is head of the accounting department at the factory. The trial will begin today.

FLY TRANSPORT PLANES ACROSS U. S. IN 18¼ HOURS

A new transcontinental record of 18 hours and 17 minutes for commercial planes on the San Francisco-Chicago-New York City route was claimed by officials of United Air Lines yesterday. The record breaking flight arrived in Chicago at 8:45 a. m. yesterday. There were eleven passengers, 500 pounds of mail, and 100 pounds of express on the tri-motor Boeing transport. The plane was flown from Omaha by Pilot E. R. Mitchell.

Pilot R. E. Coulter took eight of the original passengers and two from Chicago on to New York City in another plane, with the mail and the express. The time from the coast to Chicago was 13 hours and 10 minutes. The highest average speed made on that flight was between Salt Lake City and Cheyenne, when an average of 176 miles an hour was maintained. The time from Chicago to New York was 5 hours and 7 minutes. The average time for the coast to coast flight was about 150 miles an hour. The distance is 2,760 miles.

The new record was made possible by a tail wind from the west that reached a velocity of 35 to 40 miles an hour.

Unless you want to display foggy teeth; unless you're willing to risk gingivitis or Vincent's disease or pyorrhea; unless you want sound teeth endangered so that you don't dare smile—don't stand for "pink tooth brush."

Because modern foods are soft, your gums don't get enough stimulation. That's why they become flabby and tender. That's why you may now have what is called "pink tooth brush."

Get rid of it! Clean your teeth with Ipana Tooth Paste. But each time, rub a little extra Ipana into your gums. Ipana contains sirstol, and this, with the massage, helps firm the gums.

Very shortly you'll find that your teeth are brighter. And before very long, your gums will be so healthy and hard that you can forget about "pink tooth brush."

COSMIC RAYS CALLED PRODUCT OF STRATOSPHERE

Prof. Compton Says They Are Electrical.

BY WALDEMAR KAEMFFERT.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, held at the University of Michigan this year, was selected by Prof. Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago to present his conclusions from a survey of the cosmic rays which covered 50,000 square miles, which took him from the equator to the icy north and which made it necessary for him to climb mountains 15,000 feet high.

Prof. Compton told the National academy today not only that the cosmic rays were electrons, or bits of electricity, but also that they originated a hundred miles up in the stratosphere.

World's Story or Atoms.

"What their message may be we have not learned," he said. "Perhaps they are telling us how the world has evolved, or perhaps they are bringing news of the innermost structure of the atomic nucleus."

Dr. Compton said Sauvillier, a French physicist, had advanced the theory that the rays were electrons coming from the sun's surface and that other European physicists also believed that the rays were electrons but were not so sure of their origin.

The problem of determining the nature of the cosmic rays always has been difficult, because the experimenters were not sure, as Dr. Compton showed, just what they were observing.

Yields Electric Current.

Thus photons, or highly penetrating light rays, have the property of expelling electrons from atoms. This is called ionization and manifests itself in a measurable electric current. Were experimenters detecting these secondary electrons, as they are called, or the primary rays?

In either case the question of the nature of the primary rays was still left open. They might be high speed electrons which knocked other electrons out of atoms in the air, or they might be photons with similar properties.

Electrons can be deflected by a magnet. Light cannot be thus swerved. Hence powerful magnets have been employed, Dr. Compton said, to turn the cosmic rays aside in their flight. The results obtained were conflicting. Recently Dr. Millikan and his associate, Andersen, have obtained photographs of electron tracks which are curved, and which therefore show a magnetic effect.

"It is not clear from experiments of this kind whether the trails which are being photographed are those of the primary cosmic rays or whether they may be secondary electrons produced by the primary rays," Dr. Compton explained. "For studying the original rays it would be necessary to have a magnet so large that it would affect the rays before they reach the earth's atmosphere. This is exactly what we have in the earth itself, which acts as a huge magnet."

Reports Magnetic Effects.

With this idea in mind, several investigators, Dr. Millikan among them, made tests in different latitudes. Again the results were conflicting, as Dr. Millikan could find no deflecting effect on the part of the earth. This convinced him that the cosmic rays were indeed photons, or invisible light rays. Dr. Clay of Amsterdam, on the other hand, did report a magnetic effect.

To settle the questions raised Dr. Compton portioned the earth in nine regions and assigned each to a different investigator. Though not all the investigators have had time to report, the evidence that the cosmic rays are electrons is so strong that Dr. Compton has no hesitation in accepting them as such.

SETTLE CINCINNATI MILK DRIVER STRIKE; FEDERAL ARBITER

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—An agreement to arbitrate the differences between the union milk wagon drivers and the milk dealers was reached tonight providing for the immediate return of the men to their posts. The drivers are to return at 7 a. m. tomorrow at their former rate of pay.

Fred Keightly, conciliator of the department of labor at Washington, is the sole arbitrator, and both sides have agreed to abide by his decision.

The drivers had quit in protest at a 20 per cent reduction, regarding 10 per cent as the maximum acceptable.

Attacks early today on nonunion drivers had caused a dozen distributors, including two who control a third of the retail milk business, to announce that they would discontinue deliveries unless the dispute was settled.

HUNT MURDERER AS FUGITIVE IN 50 MILE CHASE

A gunman who escaped Saturday after his automobile overturned, ending a 50 mile police chase, was believed yesterday to be Guy Ellis, sought for two murders and seven bank robberies. The chase started in Palos Park, where Policeman D. C. Boatman tried to halt the gunman and a woman companion for speeding.

MRS. MORTON.

The gunman speeded up and opened fire on the policeman, who gave chase and returned the shots. Unable to lose the pursuing car in a chase of 50 miles, the man turned into route 53, a mile south of Orland Park, where he was forced into a ditch to avoid a collision.

The man leaped from the wreckage and ran, but his woman companion was found unconscious in the wreckage. She gave her name as Mrs. Marjorie Morton, 23 years old, of Tampa, Fla. Representatives of the Burns detective agency said yesterday, after viewing the woman, that she is the wife of Ellis, who is sought for the murder of a Davenport policeman and a deaf mute witness to a bank robbery in San Pierre, Ind. The deaf mute, Albert Benham, was shot to death July 6 when he failed to comprehend bandit commands to "move on" while the robbery was in progress.

Mrs. Morton, or Ellis, was released yesterday by Willow Springs police in bond of $100 on a charge of disorderly conduct.

PROBES FREEING OF PRISONER ON FAULTY RECORD

Judge Green Questions Lawyers and Clerk.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Daniel D. Mack, William Cunningham, John Carroll, and Bernard Andrews, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry A. Lewis.

Assistant State's Attorney Otho S. Fasig yesterday declared that either "crookedness or criminal negligence" was involved in the alleged mishandling of court records which gave freedom to a prisoner through an Appellate court reversal of a Municipal court sentence. He made his charge at the inquiry opened into the case by Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green.

The prisoner freed is Raymond Hall, colored bondsman, who was arrested last Jan. 20 and charged with driving while intoxicated after his automobile had injured a woman. He was arraigned before Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden, who found the complaint incorrect and ordered an amended complaint. In April Judge Green sentenced Hall to 90 days in the Bridewell and imposed a fine of $200 after a hearing on the amended complaint.

Hall Granted an Appeal.

Hall asked leave to appeal, which was granted, but he was unable to post bond. In looking over the records of the case recently Judge Green found that Hall had been imprisoned only three days, having been released on a writ staying the Municipal court mittimus. The writ was issued by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Criminal court. Judge Green held that Judge Desort had no right to issue the writ because he said that such power rests solely with the Appellate court.

The sentence of Judge Green was reversed in the Appellate court. On investigation the judge said he found that the reversal was made because the record presented to the Appellate court showd that Hall had been sentenced on the original instead of on the amended complaint. Judge Green called interested parties to his court yesterday to continue his investigation.

Court Employé Testifies.

Miss Edna Witkowski, an employé in the office of the Municipal court clerk, testified that she inspected the records of the case that were presented to the Appellate court and that she would have noticed the error if there was one at the time. Attorney W. G. Anderson, representing Hall, said the error was one which should have been readily apparent, but declared he acted only on the transcript of the record supplied him.

Assistant State's Attorney Fasig asserted that a report given Judge Green that "orders had been given to lay off the Hall case" was false. He added that it was evident the error in the record was deliberate or the result of carelessness.

Judge Green adjourned the inquiry to Thursday to ask State's Attorney Swanson to be present. The request for the prosecutor's presence was made by John L. Fogle, chairman of the grievance committee of the Chicago Bar association. Judge Green also asked Assistant State's Attorney Edward E. Wilson, head of the department which prepares court records, to appear with Swanson for questioning.

CRUISER INDIANAPOLIS ADDED TO U. S. FLEET; IN COMMISSION TODAY

The 10,000 ton cruiser Indianapolis, recently completed at the New York shipbuilding plant at Camden, N. J., was towed across the Delaware river from the shipyard to the Philadelphia navy yard and handed over to Admiral L. A. Bostwick, commandant. He receipted for the $10,500,000 ship.

The cruiser will be placed in commission tomorrow with Capt. John M. Smeallie in command. There will be a crew of 49 officers and 553 men, including a marine guard of 40.

BEGIN DEFENSE FOR OFFICIALS OF H. O. STONE & CO.

Defense attorneys began yesterday to offer evidence in behalf of nine officials of H. O. Stone & Co., defunct real estate investment concern, who are on trial in the court of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward on charges of using the mails to defraud. W. Scott Carroll, controller of the Stone company and a defendant, was called as the first witness for the defense.

His attorney, Harry Olson, tried to introduce through the testimony of Carroll the statement of the financial condition of the Stone company prior to 1928. Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Struett objected on the ground that there was no question as to the company's solvency before that time. The jury was excused and Prosecutor Struett argued that the defense was trying to cloud the issue. Judge Woodward sustained the objection.

The effort of Attorney Olson to show that the assets of the Stone company increased from $6,000,000 in 1924 to $15,000,000 in 1928 also was overruled by Judge Woodward. The defense announced that Carroll would be on the witness stand for several days and would be examined in behalf of all the defendants.

VISITOR BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Joseph Novak, 69 years old, a farmer of Stevens Point, Wis., reported yesterday to the police that he was beaten and robbed of $48 on Sunday night in an alley near 47th street and Ashland avenue by two chance acquaintances, who had promised to take him to a friend's home.

Who are the buyers?

Where do they live, how do they live, and how much can they buy?

Yet, simple as that question is, it is largely unanswerable in most markets today.

But not in Cleveland. For the Market Survey Department of the Cleveland Plain Dealer has segregated the buyers in Greater Cleveland by 268 separate districts.

The buyers in Cleveland are known, charted, grouped by this house-to-house, person to person analysis of the Greater Cleveland area.

Colonel Leonard P. Ayres in reviewing the work of the Market Survey Department of the Cleveland Plain Dealer declares that Cleveland "knows itself better than any other city in the world."

Colonel Ayres, seldom given to superlatives, finds that "The possibilities of the use of this material as a guide in all economic, social and health programs are limitless, and the analysis of material is so carefully developed that even to one unacquainted with statistics, the basic facts stand out."

Every executive charged with sales responsibilities will find this amazing work the most definite help he has ever had in reaching the actual buyers in a major market.

For with the buyers located it becomes easy to move merchandise—the crux of all successful selling in this New Day of Merchandising.

Life in Family Forms Subject for Two Novels

"The House Under the Water," by Francis Brett Young [Harpers].

FRANZ WERFEL, a German author who has achieved fame in Europe but who has been singularly neglected by the reading public in America, has written a book that in the estimate of German writers and critics is vastly superior to either "The Pure in Heart" or "Class Reunion." Thomas Mann says of "The Pascarella Family": "Masterly! An overpoweringly rich and beautiful work"; and Frank Thiess, "I consider it Franz Werfer's most beautiful novel. . . . I do not hesitate to see in him the culmination of a great tradition."

F. B. YOUNG.

"The Pascarella Family" is set in the dreamy, glamorous, colorful Naples that has absorbed in its character some of the slow smoldering and magnificent fatalism of Mount Vesuvius, under whose shadow it lies. But it is only indirectly that the reader learns of Neapolitan life because the author confines his interest and attention to delineating an Italian family that is both typical and individual.

Tyrant Loses His Control.

Signor Pascarella is a patriarch of the old school. He rules his family with the same arbitrary tyranny that characterized the rule of the medieval lord in his feudal castle. There are six children in the motherless household, three boys and three girls. The eldest daughter, Annuziata, a girl as self-effacing as a nun, runs the household; Grazia, who is both young and beautiful, gives up a possible career in the opera in accordance with the wishes of her father; the eldest son, Placido, resists his father's will and indulges secretly in his passion for poetry; the younger sons repress their athletic and religious tendencies to please their father.

Like slow working poisons, influences from the outside and from the inside as well corrode the iron will of the tyrant. The daughters resist his control gently but firmly. The sons go to Brazil to help recoup the family fortune and come back men with destinies of their own. The magic family circle is broken and a pathetic transformation of character takes place in the ageing signor.

It is fascinating to watch the handling of dynamic characterization. Though events in the story take place within a few years' time, the reader receives the impression that he is watching the unhurried flow of life in each character, that the processes of thinking and feeling, of absorbing and giving out those subtle waves of life and experience are forming of each character a constantly changing life tissue.

Though there are unconvincing motivations from time to time, particularly in the first part of the book, "The Pascarella Family" will be remembered for its skillful technique and the superb characterization of the signor.

Young Studies Another Family.

"The House Under the Water," by Francis Brett Young, who last year wrote the successful and workmanlike "Mr. and Mrs. Pennington," is another study of a family. Tregaron is a member of an old Welch family that has an ancestral estate in Wales. Tregaron, an emotional, egotistic, tyrannical, unscrupulous man, has married an Italian of noble birth by whom he has four children, Philippa, the youngest daughter, when she sees her new home in Wales, conceives a deep and everlasting passion for the land. She is the only one in the family who seems to be the true descendant of the ancient land holding family. Diana, another daughter, dark, erratic, and bitter, loves, and finally wins, the man her sister, Virginia, a cold, calculating, and beautiful woman, is trying to marry.

Gerald, the eldest son, inherits some of his father's florid, blustering fascination as well as his self-seeking and immorality. He, through his hatred of his half brother, Rob, forces his father to turn the honest and sincere lad out of the house. One thing after another happens to the Tregaron family. They make a fortune only to lose it. Again by the project that gives the book its title they make another fortune. Tregaron invests it badly, spends it recklessly and when they have to face the crisis of their lives they are penniless.

The characters in "The House Under the Water" are very real, though most of them fall under the category of type. Francis Brett Young distinguishes himself in this book as a literary workman of the highest order as well as a skillful delineator of character. The plot and subplots are woven so smoothly that there are never hitches or halts in the emphasis or transitions. "The House Under the Water" is rich in background and episode and is of the finest type of the meaty, solid, dependable, and interesting English novel.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

I always suspect people who claim that they don't like the movies of being not bright or else not overly honest. A picture like "Maedchen in Uniform" convinces me that my suspicion is right. Anybody would HAVE to like it!

It being fashionable nowadays to read abnormalities into the simplest forms of human conduct, I suppose there are those who will infer much that is not between the lines of "Maedchen in Uniform." In fact I have a sort of starry eyed, moronic feeling as I report—in the face of widespread rumor to the contrary—that I found no suggestion of anything scandalous about this cinema's subject matter, and that its "sensationalism" lies solely in the marvelously natural acting, keen direction, and superb camera work that make it a photoplay gem among gems.

If you must be deep about the piece, say it is a fascinating study in psychology, and you'll be right. Or—that it is a subtle slap at Prussian pre-war militarism that ground its heel even into the lives of its child women. But as movie fan to movie fan—"Maedchen in Uniform" is just a swell picture that concerns itself with happenings in a Potsdam boarding school for the daughters of Prussian officers.

There comes to the institution one Manuela, a lonely, motherless girl, who suffers keenly under the stern régime until a lovely, understanding young teacher affectionately mothers her.

On the occasion of a school play when too much punch passes the girl's unaccustomed lips, she shouts aloud her love for fraulein.

Enters the principal, a fierce and warlike general, who looks and acts just like Erich von Stroheim. She hears the girl's excited words and comes down on her like a ton of lead.

Her treatment of Manuela almost results in tragedy and brings about the picture's most dynamic episode.

The story is screened with a simplicity that is, in itself, a driving force. It is remarkably cast as to types. The schoolgirls are—schoolgirls—not actresses made up as ingénues. Effervescent, defiant, rebellious, servile, sympathetic, emotional, they overrun the cold halls and dormitories, snatching at such bits of rainbows as they may spy through chinks in the stony discipline of the place.

All leads are portrayed with consummate skill. You will pity Manuela from the bottom of your hearts and love, as she does, the human young woman who strives to bring sunshine into her life.

"Maedchen in Uniform" was adapted from the play "Yesterday and Today." It has drawn raves in London, Paris, and Berlin. Dialogue is in German, but superimposed English titles make the narrative easily understood. It would be that without them, so very intelligently has it been directed.

See you tomorrow.

Miss Heming, Pryor Star in Light Comedy

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The third play in the autumn series of the American Theater society, which came to the Erlanger last night under the title "There's Always Juliet," is so light of substance that it might be described as three rounds of shadow boxing with the drama. It could easily be weighed on a jeweler's scale. It is a feather-edged trifle of sentimental comedy which gives the impression that it was written by a very young author for even younger audiences.

The piece has grace and a certain amount of charm. Moreover, it provides two accomplished players, Violet Heming and Roger Pryor, with virtuoso roles. With the assistance of the telephone, a cocktail shaker and two auxiliary characters they carry a thin romance through three acts with exemplary skill. They are deft of touch, casual of manner, ingratiating of personality, and they do everything for "There's Always Juliet" that the art of high comedy requires. The play is practically a duologue, sustained by its participants with much skill.

The refrain of one of the popular songs of the day could be used as a synopsis and review of "There's Always Juliet." One might say, "It can't give you anything but love," and tell the whole story. Love is the theme, the content, the background, and the whole works of this bit of easy playwriting by the author of "Young Woodley." Although he endeavors to key the sudden infatuation of his pair of young moderns to the classic passion of Romeo and Juliet he falls in that poetic intention. His grand affair is merely a three days' necking party with mildly humorous trimmings.

A young American in London meets a radiant British damsel of the upper classes and they click with the immediacy of sappy adolescents in a Scott Fitzgerald story. They become so chummy and affectionate that each calls the other "Steve." After one day of happiness they part in woe. He has to sail back to New York on business and she stays at home, eating a cracker and salting it with tears. But the next day the American Romeo reappears because he didn't catch the boat train, and the curtain falls on lyric outcries preparatory to instant matrimony.

"There's Always Juliet" is graceful of execution and unimportant of design. It is almost too thin a thing for the adult audience that theoretically represents the American Theater society.

Trip to Mexico

Mrs. Celeste McVoy Holden became the bride of Walter J. Kohler Jr. yesterday afternoon at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Fortunato Jerace, at 3030 Lake Shore drive, in the presence of the families, the Rev. Edward S. Ames reading the service at 4 o'clock.

Sidney S. Gorham Jr., who is married to Corinne McVoy, gave his sister-in-law in marriage, and John Kohler, whose engagement was announced recently, served his brother as best man.

The bride wore a lovely afternoon gown of Copenhagen blue velvet with a short train and a long, tight sleeved jacket with an upstanding collar. Her flowers were dark purple orchids. Lighted tapers in two candelabra, talisman and yellow roses, and bronze and yellow "mums" decorated the drawing room, where the ceremony took place in front of the huge Georgian mantel, and the dining room where a reception was held after the wedding.

Among the thirty guests were the bridegroom's parents, ex-Gov. and Mrs. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin. Mr. Kohler and his bride left last night by train for Mexico, but will be back in Chicago to spend Christmas eve with her family and then will go on to Kohler, Wis., where they will live, to spend Christmas day with his family.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIBLEY

Copyright 1932, By Isaac Goodwin Co., Inc.

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his case-book covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

BILL CARGO DEDUCES.

"An incident occurred while I was in the country last week that had the local constable quite puzzled. I wonder if you'll find it difficult, professor," said Bill Cargo as the two friends strolled along.

"Joe Decker was discovered in a clearing in the woods about a quarter of a mile from his house . . . dead from a bullet through the back," he continued. "It appeared to the constable as if he had been accidentally shot; that whoever did it had removed his Norfolk jacket and raincoat, which were lying near the body, and attempted to render first aid. A crude bandage partly covered the wound, so the constable figured whoever shot Decker started to bandage him when he heard some one coming and fled for fear of being implicated.

"The officer discovered that only one bullet had entered the body and that while there was but one bullet hole in the Norfolk jacket which Decker had worn, there were two in the raincoat, which, incidentally, was too large for him.

"It was later found that when Decker left home it was sultry and threatening and that he had taken his brother's raincoat. Several people were located who heard two shots fired in the woods at the time Decker was killed.

"The constable was frankly confused until I modestly explained to him the probable manner in which the two bullet holes had been made in the raincoat while there was only one in the Norfolk jacket and one in the body . . . and only two shots had been fired."

"That's too easy," laughed Fordney.

Illinois Leads Nation in War on Blindness

The schools of Chicago and Illinois lead the nation in preserving the eyesight of school children, according to the report of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness. The report was delivered at a luncheon of members in the Chicago Athletic association yesterday by Miss Audrey M. Hayden, executive secretary.

The report listed 42 sight saving classes established throughout the state and the many corrections made through efforts of the society in lighting and other facilities in schoolrooms. Eyes of 18,426 school children in Chicago and 13,890 children downstate were examined. The society has committees in 103 towns in the state.

As the result of tests, vocational training for children with poor vision has been introduced in the sight saving classes, according to the report. In Chicago the society bears one-fourth of the cost of the classes and the remainder is paid by the school board. During the year the society has operated without curtailment of its program of $5,800 less than in the preceding year, President Russel Tyson said.

"Not only has the material for eye testing been perfected, which has not been done elsewhere in the United States, but the actual testing has been carried on more rapidly," the report states. "Of the children examined, 638 were found to have eye defeciits. Of these we have received reports of the correction of 33 1-3 per cent, which is eight points higher than the correction report of any place in the country."

The report stressed the necessity of enactment of a law to treat the eyes of children at birth with a solution to prevent opthalmia. Illinois has 16 times as much opthalmia as New York, 11 times as much as Pennsylvania, and 9 times as much as Missouri, where such legislation is in force.

Wives of Hunters to Welcome Close of Pheasant Season Today

Husbands Will Quit Getting Up at 3:30 and Families Can Eat Steaks Instead of Rabbits.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF you are the wife of a pheasant hunter you'll be glad, no doubt, that this is the last day of the short season in Illinois, not only because it means that your husband won't be arising tomorrow at 3:30 or some such ungodly hour but because, if he has been successful, you are fed up on pheasant—even such a delicacy ceases to be a treat if one has it too often—and if he hasn't been successful you are tired of rabbit!

Shooting pheaants is one sport that can be indulged in close to home, for there are pheasants galore in the country nearby, and the traffic on all the roads west, northwest, and southwest of the city has been thicker than usual since last Thursday, with cars taking hunters to preserves and farms where they hope to find plenty of birds.

Two cocks a day, no hens are supposed to be shot, is a hunter's limit, and although there are said to be plenty of birds hereabouts we haven't heard of any one who has bagged more than his quota—he couldn't tell about it and neither would we if he had shot more than two, of course—but a hunter just back from South Dakota tells that the birds are so thick out there that he and his three companions had to be careful not to get more than their quota, for sometimes they shot more than the number allowed them out of one flock.

Barrington is a favorite place around here for those after the beautiful birds—it always seems wicked to kill and eat anything so decorative, doesn't it?—and most of the residents there had house guests over the week-end for the shooting. Armistice day on Friday gave the hunters a chance for a nice long week-end, although the first day of the season was the best and the hunters who had first chance at the cocks were the luckiest, probably.

Many Birds on Insull Estate.

The Samuel Insull place at Libertyville is a shooter's paradise, for it always has been so well policed that there hasn't been much chance for poachers, and those who used to have permission to shoot there in years past and those to whom it was open this year have found it "duck soup" to get their daily quota of birds.

It was reported that the officers of the Continental Illinois bank had turned it into a game preserve, but that isn't right, for it was just used for shooting by some of the officers and their friends, just as was done every year when the Insulls were living there. As one officer said: "It's the best use we have been able to make of the Insull collateral so far."

Russell Kelley, "Jack" Eddy, and "Hal" Cook are just back from South Dakota—they weren't the ones who told this reporter of the quantities of birds out there, though—and Carter H. Harrison and his son, Carter H. Jr., spent a highly successful week-end at the junior Mr. Harrison's farm in Barrington. Daniel E. Peterkin used to go to Beardstown—that section of Illinois is especially popular with pheasant and duck hunters—but now he finds that by stocking his own estate at Lake Geneva he has a perfect private preserve, so he and Wirt Morton were up there for the week-end.

Charles F. Glore and John A. Stevenson were "Sam" Rowe's guests at Barrington for the opening day, but their luck wasn't so good, unfortunately. The Clarence Parliaments and the Ralph Huszaghs spent Armistice day in Barrington with the Potter Smiths and the ladies of the party as well as the men did some shooting. Out in Lake Forest Mr. and Mrs. J. Andrews King and Mrs. Austin H. Niblack were among those who took

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

Give your bedroom or den or breakfast nook a double personality by adapting it to sewing purposes. Sewing machines appear as consoles or dressing stands, sewing tables have the aspect of tables for bedside or den, highboys with plenty of drawer space can house dress materials and sleeves and ironing boards can be installed inside a closet door. Naturally ingenuity is required to make any room assume a dual rôle, since rooms, like humans, get into ruts. But with the high cost of space the possibility is well worth considering.

The Murder of Caroline Bundy

By ALICE CAMPBELL.

SYNOPSIS.

Neil Starkey, American biographer, is engaged by Caroline Bundy to compile the life and letters of her late father, a famous English biologist. Caroline tells Neil that her father, a man of science, was also a mystic. Miss Bundy is in poor health and acting peculiarly. She has hired a photographer, named Tilbury, as bailiff, and he and his wife an ill bred pair, hold a strange influence over her. The three hold nightly seances in the library. Natasha Andreyev, Caroline's half-Russian niece, acts as her aunt's secretary. She detests the Tilburys. Giles Gisborne, vicar of a nearby parish, and his sister, Rachel, are friends of Neil's. Neil is attracted to Natasha, but is baffled by her odd behavior. She is giving money to a man she meets secretly. Caroline promises to visit Emily Braselton, an old friend, in Paris. Natasha drives her to London. Natasha returns a few days later and tells Neil that her aunt gave her a pearl necklace, which she sold. She receives a wire which Caroline sent from London asking her to search for an alligator bag left in the car. The bag is not found. Caroline doesn't reach Paris. The police are notified. Her body is found in a ditch near her estate. She'd been brutally murdered. The Tilburys are left Caroline's fortune, on condition they search for the Holy Grail in the ruin of an ancient abbey on the estate, which Caroline believed to be her father's wish. Natasha is arrested. It is learned that the man she'd been meeting secretly was her wastrel brother, Michael, who is wanted for theft and has left the country. News is received of his death. Natasha is brought to trial. She is freed, though still under suspicion. Neil continues the murder search. He suspects Albert Stokes, attendant at the garage where Caroline's car was kept, of stealing the lost bag, which Neil knew contained papers Tilbury might be anxious to recover. Natasha disappears. She is found unconscious, in the bottom of a cave in the abbey ruin, where Tilbury had thrown her, wounded. In the battle to find her Tilbury is killed. When Natasha recovers she tells her experiences.

INSTALLMENT LVI.

THE BRINK OF OBLIVION.

Natasha drove slowly through the town, keeping an eye out, but the boy was nowhere to be seen. She did, however, catch sight of the two Tilburys, complete with luggage, just entering the railway station. Evidently the couple were setting off on a journey, which in a measure relieved her, since it showed that no immediate plan was afoot; yet at the same time the innocuous appearance of the bustling pair so shook her conclusions that she was ready to think the whole idea of their guilt was absurd.

Damped and discouraged, she turned homeward, keeping to the by-lanes, and presently passed the rear boundary of her former habitation. Here she met the squad of workmen just returning from their labors, and knowing that the place must now be deserted she took a sudden determination to visit the ruin.

The two Alsatians, roaming at large, spied her with an enthusiasm which warmed her heart. They followed her about for some minutes while she pried into the crypt and examined the stairs down into the earth, and presently their barking ceased and they ran restlessly out into the sunshine.

It was while she was still in the crypt that she heard voices, and her heart stood still as she recognized one of them as Tilbury's. Peering cautiously out, she received a second shock. The person with him was Bert Stokes! Quickly she hid herself just inside the muddy stairway and drew the door to. If she could remain concealed for as much as half a minute she might learn all that was necessary. Anyhow she would take a chance on it.

The two came into the crypt. She heard a yawn, a stifled groan, and the sound of something heavy slumping onto the ground. There was a drowsy grumble, then silence, which lasted so long that she ventured to move the door an inch and peep through the crack.

To her amazement she beheld Tilbury, his back turned, stooping over the apparently unconscious Bert and going through his pockets. As she watched, fascinated, she saw him straighten up with a long envelope in his hand, glance at the latter's contents, and start to tear it across.

In a twinkling she flung wide the door and pounced upon him from behind. Before he knew what was happening she had seized the envelope and thrust it inside her blouse, buttoning her coat over it; but as she dashed from the exit, he uttered an oath and, pushing her back, got between her and the opening. She was not in the least frightened, certain she was a match for him.

"Wot's the idea?" he snarled with a vibration in his voice which indicated abject terror. "Give that back—see? I promise you, my girl, you won't get out of this 'ole with it. Give it back!"

He caught hold of her as she tried to dart past, tearing at her coat.

If she could get into the open, she could outstrip him in a race to the car.

What she did not realize was that in her enforced retreat she had edged towards the gaping doorway. Her first knowledge of this dawned when her foot slid on the slimy brink; but at that very moment there came the welcome sound of a motorcycle chugging to a halt at the foot of the hill! Help at last! She opened her mouth to shout, but it was too late. Tilbury, too, had heard the warning noise, and instantly clamped his hot, moist palm over her lips. At the same time with his right hand he caught up some object—a fragment of brick, she thought, and dealt her a violent blow on the temple. She was thrown backwards, slithered the length of the steps, and hurled into blackness and oblivion.

During the hours which followed she had only brief intervals of consciousness. Impenetrable, clammy darkness pressed in upon her. At one time she got to her feet and groping above just managed to touch the overhanging ledge, but the pain in her head and her broken arm was so excruciating that she sank back again, spent with the exertion, and lay, like a rat in a trap, wondering how long it would be before her assailant came to finish her off. Perhaps he would simply stop work on the excavation and leave her to die in this foul, airless hole. She still had the precious papers, but they had cost her life.

As Natasha came to the end she checked a shudder to ask Neil a sudden question.

"Why didn't he dispose of me sooner? It must have been a terrible risk, leaving me there. Dead or alive, I had the evidence on me, and there was a strong chance of my being discovered."

"If you had seen the almost impossible feat it was to get you above ground, you'd understand what he was up against. There's not only a sheer drop of over seven feet, but no way of steadying a ladder unless some one holds on to the top. The bottom ledge shelves at a bad angle, and is all soft mud. If Tilbury had got down to you, he might have found himself trapped as well, unable to climb out and certainly powerless to get you out. I don't doubt he tried, and saw how hopeless it was. That's why he sent for his wife to come back at once and help him."

"So if she had reached the house before you did . . . But even so, what would they have done with my body?"

"Hush! Don't let's talk of that."

"But there are still so many things I'm curious about. Bert, for instance. Was he drunk, or drugged?"

"The latter, I imagine. We've found an empty bottle at the lodge—chloral hydrate, which your aunt occasionally used as a sleeping mixture. Graves says that's what must have been put into the port.

"But did he never guess Tilbury was the man?"

"He probably suspected as much, but the fellow was shrewd enough to give him nothing to go on. He knew that if he paid Bert money he'd be placing himself in his power for life, whereas if he drugged the poor idiot and took the papers Bert could never state positively how he had lost them."

She remained silent, thinking this over, but presently, with renewed eagerness, returned to the subject of the papers themselves.

"You've looked at them—but do you realize I don't yet know what they actually represent?"

"Automatic writings," he answered slowly. "Or rather, faked ones, conceived and executed by Alfred Tilbury—with my help."

"Your help? Whatever do you mean?"

"That's if I had not come here, Tilbury would never have been able to imitate your grandfather's handwriting. The Bundy characters begin two days after my arrival—and I think I can tell you why."

He then related how Tilbury's intrusion into the study coincided with the disappearance of a page from one of old Bundy's letters, and how, when the page was returned, he had merely supposed it to have been picked up by the char-woman or Miss Bundy herself.

"We wondered, you and I, why your aunt was so fussy about locking everything up. I now believe it was because she wanted absolute proof that the spirit-messages were genuine, and if the person who produced them had access to her father's writing she could never have been quite sure. That explains why, when the character of the communications altered she questioned me so closely about the keys. My answer, unfortunately, set her last doubt at rest."

"Then Tilbury was never inside the study alone except on that one occasion?"

"On the contrary, after that date, he must have spent hours in there, poring over the diary and the lesser-known works. The later messages established that fact, for not only are they couched in Bundy's typical phraseology, but they contain whole sentences, quoted verbatim. How and when he managed it, I don't know—but it has occurred to me he may have taken a wax impression of the keys, which were lying in full view on the table. My back was turned, and having no suspicions of him, I went on with my reading."

There was a tap at the door, and the doctor looked upon them.

"That's enough for now." Neil went into the passage to find Gisborne just returned from the town.

"The Tilbury woman has confessed the whole business," whispered Graves. "Mr. Gisborne, here, will give you the details—but as it's altogether a horrible affair, I'd prefer not to mention it just yet to the patient."

The three men descended to the drawing room, where Neil listened to the story Connie Tilbury, in a complete collapse of morale, had finally disclosed. With illustrative excerpts from the document in Neil's possession, it forms a strange narrative, set forth in the following chapter.

Doris Suggests Critical Mate Try Housework

BY DORIS BLAKE.

There are certain husbands and fathers in this world of ours who ought to be legislated into serving one day a week on mother's job. They have no more comprehension of the work the female parent of three or four youngsters has to do in a day than an infant in arms. They're not Simon Legrees by nature. They're simply not knowing in the ways of the care and running of children and a household by a conscientious mother.

We're not talking of the mother who has a servant or two to help. We're talking of the unappreciated work of women who have no one to relieve them for a single afternoon, much less a whole day, now and then. We're talking of women whose husbands are all for a five day working week for themselves, but never offer a helping hand to the seven long days a week worker under their noses at home.

One of these husbands presents himself today. He has been married twelve years. There are four children in the family, ranging from 10 down to 4. Mother recently has taken to complaining about her long hours on her job, the repetitiousness of her duties, and how tired she gets of it all. The husband resents this line of talk. It's her rôle in life, he argues. His is to bring home the bacon.

Well, in just as much fairness, the woman might offer: "Why not bring home more bacon, then? Why not bring enough so that I could afford help?"

This is beside the point, however. There is only one way on earth of making an unsympathetic husband understand what it is to plan, cook, and serve three meals a day, day after day, to a group of five or six people; to make beds, tidy the house, wash, iron, keep the stockings mended and do the ever present fixing of clothes; to see that lessons are done, that etiquette habits at table are implanted, to keep the youngsters from tearing each other from limb to limb—anyway, to keep their shrill young voices piped down for nerves' sake. On top of all this the woman is expected to be a cheerful, uncomplaining, charmingly attired companion to the man.

The experiment has been tried and no report has yet been turned in that didn't support the premise that only by putting in twenty-four hours on his wife's job does a man begin to wonder how his wife ever does it.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Art Club Will Open Exhibit.

The Arts club is returning to its old method of having members preside at the tea tables. Most of the guests like this informal service better than being served by waiters. This afternoon at the tea that will open the first exhibition of the season there will be twelve members assisting Mrs. Potter Palmer, chairman of the reception committee, in dispensing hospitality.

The assistants will be Mrs. Joseph Adams [vice chairman], Mrs. Charles Conrad, Mrs. Parmalee J. McFadden, Mrs. Frederic C. Bartlett Jr., Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Pauline Palmer, Mrs. Clay Judson, Mrs. Clarence Hough, Mrs. Eames MacVeagh, Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg, Mrs. Andrew Sherriff, and Mrs. Charles W. Dempster.

The exhibition includes three shows, recent drawings by Maillol that were shown in New York by Pierre Matisse; modern American paintings and sculpture from the Downtown gallery in New York, and reconstructions of seventeenth century Persian fresco paintings in Isfaban by Sarkis-Katchadourian, lent by the American Institute for Persian Art and Archæology and recently exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

The presentation tea which Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Benoist of Winnetka are to give for their daughter, Miss Myra Lee Benoist, on New Year's day will really be a second debut party for her and the beginning of a second "season" here.

The young lady went to St. Louis in late October and made a debut there under the auspices of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Edmond A. B. Garesche, a prominent social leader in the city where the Benoists resided before they moved to Winnetka.

Program for Memorial Concert.

Mme. Claire Dux, Mme. Claudia Muzio, Charles Hackett, and John Charles Thomas are to give the program at the concert in memory of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick the Friends of Opera will give tomorrow afternoon in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house. With such a quartet of popular artists the room is sure to be filled to overflowing, for although only members are invited, there are hundreds of them and certainly every one who is here will be present on such a memorable occasion. Admission is to be by card only, so don't forget your card that was enclosed with your invitation, Friend of Opera!

The Antiquarian society of the Art institute will meet this morning at 10:30 o'clock in Gunsaulus hall of the Art institute to elect officers and a board of directors for the ensuing year. Mrs. Potter Palmer is president of the Antiquarians.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Nitze will go east shortly after Thanksgiving for the marriage of their son, Paul Nitze, to Miss Phyllis Pratt, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Sears Baker Pratt of New York.

The wedding is to be solemnized on Dec. 2 at Mrs. Pratt's estate at Glen Cove, L. I. The prospective bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Paepcke, are to attend the wedding also.

Graham Aldis will preside at the luncheon which will be given today by the Chicago council on foreign relations at the Palmer house when Vithalbai Patel, former president of the Indian legislative assembly and adviser to Mahatma Gandhi at the last round table conference in London, will speak on "Gandhi and India's Future."

Also at the speaker's table will be Mrs. Aldis, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kilroe, Herbert J. Friedman, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Wright, Miss Jane Addams, Mr. and Mrs. Edison Dick, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. W. Peck.

Woman's Athletic Club Program.

More than 200 guests are expected to be present tonight at the first evening program of the season of the Woman's Athletic club. Dinner is to be served at 7 o'clock and afterwards Ruth St. Denis is to give an illustrated talk on "The Dance as a Cultural Force."

Among those who are to have tables are Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. George Mason, Mrs. Brode Davis, Mrs. George C. Aldrich, Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, Mrs. William Sherman Hay, Mrs. Raymond M. Ashcraft, Mrs. Leonard A. Busby, Mrs. George M. Reynolds, Mrs. Allan M. Clement, and Mrs. Nathaniel E. Leverone.

Tomorrow afternoon the Chicago Wells club will hold a luncheon at the residence of Miss Ruth Graff at 4523 Greenwood avenue. A business meeting will precede the luncheon, with Miss Graff presiding in the absence of the president, Miss Alice Barler.

Spend Week-End at Lake Geneva

The Sangston Hettlers, the Henry C. Bartholomays, and Ernest Schmidt spent last week-end at Lake Geneva, driving up to Madison for the football game Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. John Liddell [Marion Hellyer] is expected to arrive in Riverside next Monday for a visit with the Hellyers, Silverthornes, and other members of her family here. For more than a score of years Mrs. Liddell has resided on Bubbling Well road, in Shanghai, China. She was here a year ago last summer for a few weeks' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Hardy of Hubbard Woods have changed their plans to spend the winter abroad. Mr. Hardy had planned to join his wife, who had been in Paris for about two months, some time before Christmas, but Mrs. Hardy has returned to Hubbard Woods instead, and they intend to spend the winter here.

Charles Morgan's much discussed novel, "The Fountain," will be the subject of Dr. Horace J. Bridges' lecture this morning at 11 o'clock at the Fortnightly. This will be the fourth of a series of five lectures.

The Junior Friends of Art will hold a Hungarian program and tea at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Belden-Stratford hotel.

The Elmira College club of Chicago will hold a business meeting this afternoon, following a luncheon at 1 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Ralph Myron Smith in Evanston.

The same smart audience that has filled the Erlanger theater for the openings of the other two plays in the autumn series of five new plays being presented by the American Theater society was there last night for the opening of "There's Always Juliet."

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings was there with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings and the younger Mrs. Cummings' mother and sister, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt and Mrs. T. Philip Swift.

The former Betty Frey and her new husband, Gail Borden, were there, Mrs. Borden looking very chic in a pearl gray suit and hat and orchids.

Debutante Aids Cradle

New Galoshes Are Wonders for Trim Fit

The Floppy Models Are Gone, Forever.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

THESE 1932 descendents of old time noisy galoshes are about the smoothest city slickers of them all. If you do remember the floppy clanking affairs that galumped up and down the boulevards and in and out of the best places in town, you will view with pride these suave new ideas for skinning down the size of your feet during the snowy season.

Those hideous atrocities of black felt that funerally fashioned the ancient artics, that anchored the best of feet must be museum pieces now, for the new super-slim and smooth models are here to stay. You probably shuddered with more distaste than actual cold, when you stowed your pedal extremities in the cavernous depths of those black things with five or six hardware units clamped clumsily on each side . . . and if you were lazy or a flippant flapper of that dismal period you allowed them to flop merrily but sloppily around your ankles. Anyway you wore the dratted things, your otherwise reasonably small feet looked like scows going down the Mississippi.

Follow Latest Leather Styles.

Designers, undoubtedly of male persuasion, who hated these shapeless foot weights, went into a protesting huddle and the result . . . these delightful new collections. Even the name galoshes seems too clumsy and unesthetic for the smooth unwrinkled beauties that you can wear this winter.

You will see shining examples of what rubber can be impressed with, for instance the tricky patterns of a piece of alligator hide or the exact texture of leathers that are used for fashionable pumps and walking oxfords. Until you have slipped a warm brown shade of alligatored rubber over your foot you haven't realized just what these inventive rubber wizards have been doing for the vast and appreciative mass of female shoppers out for the winter season.

New Rubbers Trim Affairs.

These really handsome "gator" galoshes fit over your instep, around your ankles and over your entire foot with incredible smoothness . . . not a bump or a bulge or even a tiny wrinkle is visible, and now these galosh designers have reduced the importance of the zipper, the zipper is still there and in the most strategic spot, but it takes an eagle eye to find it. There's no color confusion this year, you can hesitate between black and brown only and the prices are so ridiculously low that you can own the two colors without making any sort of a hole in your allowance.

If you still feel violently against submerging your feet in galoshes, your vanity can be warmed with the new rubbers that are positive wonders. Trim, slim affairs cut and fashioned with all the artistry that is usually expended on your opera pumps of classic design. In fact, if some gay young wag doesn't wear some of the new suede finished pump rubbers in lieu of the real things, and fool the spectators, it will be queer.

Soft suede finished pump model rubbers are as fuzzy and as good to look at as the pumps of suede leather, and they are a find for the gal who doesn't particularly fancy the cold clammy foothold of smooth rubber. Other pump rubbers are available in exact replicas of shoes that feature two combinations of leather . . . for instance, a rubber, impressed with the patterns of alligator toe tips and heel patches on kidskin. They are all almost too good to be true!

Miss Edythe E. Lund, 2825 Eastwood street, is vice chairman of the junior prom to be given by the junior class of the University of Illinois Friday night, Dec. 2, in Urbana. M. S. McGuffin, Ridott, and M. L. Hastings, Chicago, are co-chairmen.

Artist's Skill Is Required in Applying Rouge

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Most women are artists now in juggling line of dress to meet a silhouette discrepancy or to flatter further a good figure. They know colors that will make the figure seem less broad, less thick, less heavy.

Rouge may be put on a face in stripes, let's say, up and down stripes and thin the face down as vertical stripes do a figure. Put the rouge on in stripes across the cheek bones and the effect is to widen the face, as horizontal dress stripes widen the figure. Anyway, there's opportunity for thinning down the fulsome cheek or plumping it in that rouge pot of yours.

Unfortunately, one cannot make rules that apply to a whole body of women about rouge application. But this can be said: Unless you want to make your face look thinner, don't apply the coloring any nearer your nose than just below the pupils of your eyes. An imaginary line drawn from the center of the eyelid down might serve as a starting point for general rouging work. Don't go inside that line.

For some of you it will be sufficient to bring the rouge only up to the outer corner of the eye. Others may go on blending the coloring in right up to the hair line. If the eyes are small, keep the rouge away from them. Apply it from cheek bone to ear tip.

And don't appear publicly or privately with bright red round patches over the cheek bone, whatever else you do with your rouge. That's most decisive. Blend and blend and blend the rouge into the skin so no one can see where it begins or ends. In the blending of the coloring into the flesh coloring you have the real triumph of a good rouge application.

The plump face is better if the rouge is laid below the cheek bone, not on it or atop it.

It Is Possible to Remove Even Obdurate Stain

List of Spot Eradicators for Your Files.

BY MARY MEADE.

Yesterday, you will recall, we talked about all the stains down to the "H's," when we ran out of space and had to postpone the rest of the spots until today. If you did not clip yesterday's paper, better find it before it goes to the furnace, for, combined with today's list of stain eradicators, it will give you the upper hand with any spot which appears on the horizon.

Indelible pencil—An application of wood alcohol will usually dispose of this stain. If the material is washable complete the process by rubbing out in warm soap suds.

Ink—Place the material over a cup or bowl, moisten slightly with water, and apply potassium permanganate with an eye dropper. Rinse out in warm water and if a brown or pink stain is left remove with oxalic acid. Repeat this process until stain is removed. Colored materials should be tested in an inconspicuous place before this method is used.

Iodine—If the stain is new wash immediately in warm suds. If old sponge first with a solution of ammonia, or for nonwashable materials rub with wood alcohol.

Mildew—This is a mold which grows first on the fabric's surface and then gets into the fibers and destroys them. Mildews may be gray, green, brown, purple, or black. If the stain is new, soap and water and a sun bleach may remove it. A stronger bleach is made by saturating the stains with lemon juice and placing them in the sun. If this does not do the job, apply Javelle water if the material is white linen or cotton. For other goods use potassium permanganate, as directed for removing ink.

Paint—New stains will yield gracefully to washing in soap and water. Older stains must be soaked first in turpentine or carbon tetrachloride. A bleach may have to follow this if the paint coloring is not all removed.

Perspiration—Usually soap and water are sufficient for removing the perspiration itself, but if the acid in it has injured the color of the goods this can only be renewed by expert tinting. After washing white garments marked with perspiration the yellow tint may be removed by bleaching in a solution of hydrogen peroxide and sunshine. Warm, soapy water rubbed over stains on wool, followed by clear water sponging, will remove most stains.

Rosin and tar—These stains can be removed by gently working the substance out of the fabric in carbon tetrachloride, turpentine, or wood alcohol.

Rust—Apply a solution of oxalic acid or oxalic acid crystals to the stain, moisten with water, and hold over the spout of a boiling kettle. Rinse out in clear water and if the acid has left a stain rinse again in ammonia water. Since oxalic acid will injure some colors it should be tried first in a hidden part of the article. A less strong acid such as lemon juice or white vinegar, with or without salt, may be applied to the stain and will often remove it.

Scorch—As a rule washing with soap and water will remove slight scorches. Wetting with clear water and bleaching in the sun will also be successful unless the fibers themselves are charred.

Sugar solutions and sirups—Washing or sponging with warm water will be sufficient unless the solutions contain special coloring matters. Then a bleach will be necessary.

Varnish—Dissolve the stain in wood alcohol or turpentine, then rinse out in a fresh supply of the solvent used, rubbing gently.

Water spots—If the material is washable dip in clear warm water, let partially dry, and press. If not, hold the garment over live steam from a tea kettle until quite damp, then press. Thorough sponging on the board, followed by pressing, will also do the job.

Stains are frequently made much harder to deal with when the garment is laundered before the spots are attacked. Fresh stains are the most easily removed. Therefore, it is well to have at least one of each of the following groups ready on hand in case of disaster.

Solvents—Water is often the most successful solvent and should usually be tried first in a mild suds on any washable material unless the stain is insoluble in water. Sugar is dissolved by water and not by other solvents. Grease is usually best dissolved by other solvents, such as wood alcohol, gasoline, turpentine, or carbon tetrachloride. It is important that these solvents be used with extreme care and far from flame, as all but carbon tetrachloride are inflammable. Even without the presence of flame brisk friction of materials may cause an explosion, especially in a dry atmosphere.

Absorbents—Frequently spots which contain considerable foreign matter can be at least partly removed by rubbing into them cornmeal or fuller's earth, brushing it out several times, and applying more. With some grease stains blotters may be placed above and below the stain and a warm iron applied with good results.

Bleaches—Javelle water is a strong bleach and is excellent for white cottons or linens, but for nothing else. It is disastrous to silks and wools or colors of any kind. It may be made at home.

Hydrogen peroxide is a much milder bleach. As we buy it for medicinal purposes it is slightly acid, but for use as a bleach it should be made slightly alkaline with an ammonia solution.

Potassium permanganate will injure artificial silk and some colored materials, but is successful in removing many stains. If a brown or pink stain is left by the permanganate it may be removed by oxalic acid from cottons, silks, and linens, and by hydrogen peroxide acidified slightly with oxalic acid if the stain is on a woolen.

Two-Coat Suits for Woman Golfer Shown in Paris

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Hardy golfers who take their game in all seasons have found a fashion friend in Vera Borea. Mme. Borea is herself an enthusiastic golfer, and she has designed some two coat golf suits to wear this season that are good for coming into town as well as to wear on the links.

One of these suits is shown in the sketch today. As a suit to wear to town it has a navy blue skirt and jacket, both made of heavy piece-dyed tweed. The skirt is comfortably wide at the hem and fits the hipline. It has a front gore panel that is enlarged and rounded on the hips, where it buttons on two big, bright blue bone buttons, as you can see in the lower right hand corner. The jacket, shown in the upper right corner, is one of the short hip-length jackets that are good for sports, and it buttons close around the neck with a rounded flap, below which it is buttoned on a straight line. The sleeves are plain.

Dreiser Plans to Enter Films as a Producer

Unpublished Novel to Be Used for Movie.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 14.—When Theodore Dreiser left Hollywood for New York after making a deal for Paramount to picturize his novel, "Jennie Gerhardt," he left word that he plans to turn movie producer himself and make a picture out of an unpublished novel he has written. He said he would finance it himself.

The movie magnates can hardly wait until they get some of Dreiser's money invested in the business. They figure that what ensues will square everything for all the nasty remarks he has made about them for years.

Gwill Andre is going back to New York after completing her third film. Before she came to films Gwill was the highest paid and most sought after model in New York.

Kubec Glasmon, ex-pharmacist of Chicago who has become a highly successful film writer, became a citizen of the United States the day before Armistice day. He was born in Raciog, Poland, came to the United States in 1904, attended Northwestern university dental college and then ran a Halsted street drug store.

At the MGM studio they are using what they call a "parabolic microphone" which when aimed with sights like a gun can pick up and register the speech of the person who is the target.

Translated out of technical language it is said to employ the parabolic mirror principle that makes possible the shooting of a light beam miles long by huge navy and army searchlights. It picks up the speech of the person sought but excludes the sound and dialogue of others within a few feet of the "target." Leroy F. Baker of the studio sound department built the first one.

Lupe Velez in going to the Fox studio to play the lead for Lowe, McLaglen and Brendel in "Hot Pepper" becomes the only brunette star at that studio. All the rest, Nixon, Nissen, Gaynor, Blondell, Diana Wynyard, who are starring there at this time, are blondes.

Helen MacKellar, who plays the opera singer who becomes a drink sodden old woman in RKO's "Goose Woman," is being saluted as "Mrs. Lon Chaney" around the studio because of her makeup, converting an attractive young woman into a hag.

Moderator Appeals for Stronger Faith in Church Members

Measures to strengthen religious faith among church people were urged by Dr. Charles W. Kerr of Tulsa, Okla., in a speech before 200 members of the Presbyterian union at the Hotel La Salle last night. He is moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

"We need a more thorough reading of the Bible in private homes, and we need to reestablish the familiar altar, where courage can be gained on bended knee through prayer," he said. "We should remember, though, that the churches of today have as thorough-going, consecrated Christians as those of any other day."

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Here is a new design showing the long waistline that is so kind to the mature figure. The sleeves are interesting with an upstanding ruffle placed above the rather deep cuff. Another chic detail is the wrapped buttoned closing of the bodice. It may be worn opened, or buttoned to the shoulder—creating the smart high neck effect.

The pattern, No. 3188, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Jagel Gives Song Recital and Proves Skill in New Field

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Frederick Jagel is already in the possession of an enviable reputation for his exploits in opera and oratorio, and if he goes along the course he took at the Playhouse yesterday afternoon he will have the same sort of fame for the field of song recital as well.

His program was given under the auspices of the Musicians' Club of Women, and registered as the 184th artist recital presented by that organization. Here was a list of songs about as diverse in character as are his rôles in opera, for Mr. Jagel has about as wide a répertoire as any one in active service today. The ancients were Bach, Salvatore Rosa, and Handel. They were followed by some of the finest lieder of Hugo Wolf and Richard Strauss. The next billing was an aria, "Cielo e mar," from "La Gioconda," then a group of French and Italian, and finally one of English.

Mr. Jagel makes a somewhat better showing with songs of a dramatic character, which may be partly due to his operatic training and partly to the open tone which is his favorite means of expression. At the same time he proved himself capable of dealing faithfully and well with works of a different type, displaying careful study and musicianly feeling; in other words, the manner of a sincere artist.

UNBEATEN MICHIGAN TEAM DRIVES TO TITLE

CAN DEMOCRATS DO RIGHT BY OLD HASKELL?

Col. Lyons Is Ideal Party Candidate.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—It is my understanding that the victory of the Democratic party in last week's election was also a victory for the football party at Haskell institute, the government's school for Indians in Kansas. The Democratic victory undoubtedly calls for the appointment of some Democratic educators to replace the Republican educators who are now in charge at Haskell.

If I know my Democrats the new administration will be quick to recognize its solemn responsibility to rescue the unfortunate Indians from the intellectual contamination to which they have been exposed under Republican management. Possibly the new President will select a few Tammany braves for the faculty. In this case Col. Wild Will Lyons, the noble old chief of the Cloak-and-Suit tribe of Indians, might be happy to serve, as he would then be given charge of a whole classroom full of Indians and they could not shut him off by telling him that they were not interested in buying any cloaks or suits today.

They'd Have to Take It.

The Indian students would have to sit still and take it and Col. Lyons would be certain to overcome their sales resistance in time and sell them all beautiful pinchback suits, including an extra pair of pants, made of positively good goods and the finest workmanship.

Col. Lyons' tribal name among the Cloak and Suit Indians is Chief Bazoo, which means, in a liberal translation, Chief Talks-a-Great-Deal-with-His-Face.

He is certainly entitled to some very good position under the new administration, because he talked tirelessly for Mr. Roosevelt during the late campaign. Perhaps I should explain that when I say he talked tirelessly I only mean that he did not get tired of talking. That people did not get tired of listening to him is not for me to say. At any rate, he offered his services as a nonstop conversationalist to Mr. Jim Farley, the manager of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign, long before the convention in Chicago and worked up such speed that he has not yet been able to stop, though the election is now a matter of history.

He's an Old Westerner.

Col. Lyons has traveled much through the west where the Indians live, spreading the culture of the Cloak and Suit tribe and selling pinchback suits, including an extra pair of pants, made of positively good goods. His influence may be recognized wherever an Indian is seen wearing a pinchback suit in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, or Arizona.

Being a liberal, Col. Lyons, or Chief Bazoo, would be an ideal man for the post of superintendent of Haskell institute from the viewpoint of the football party in the school.

The football party at Haskell suffered a disaster last spring when an examination was held just after the conclusion of the spring football practice. The examination came as a surprise, and when it was over about 20 of the best Indians on the football team were discovered to have bitten the dust.

Exams Wrought Havoc.

This caused consternation in the ranks of the football party, as some of the Indians who failed to pass were veterans of many seasons on the squad who imagined that they were protected by the civil service regulations. Several of them were career men on the team who had never troubled to make specific inquiries but had come to believe that if they played football for 20 years on the Haskell varsity they would be retired on pensions sufficient to keep them in comfort for the rest of their days.

I am told that in some particularly sad cases faithful varsity players had only a few years to go to round out their 20 years of service when the examination was called which flunked them off the squad.

Switched Their Votes.

Naturally this surprise raid on the football team aroused bitter resentment among the football party at Haskell, and the party decided to vote solidly against the Republican administration, which they held responsible for the massacre. Not only that, but they decided to importune their personal friends and all the supporters of football at Haskell institute to vote the straight Democratic ticket on the ground that a Republican victory would cause grass to grow in the cheering sections and cobwebs to gather on the turnstiles wherever Haskell played.

There was consternation at Temple university, Philadelphia, also, because Temple university, of recent seasons, has been building up a great natural rivalry with Haskell institute. This rivalry was just reaching a robust financial maturity when the terrible examination took place. They were afraid some grass might grow in the Temple stadium, too, and some cobwebs gather on the turnstiles if the Republicans were returned to office.

Temple in Same Situation.

Temple university has not yet reached that comfortable ethical and financial independence which has permitted other schools to eschew football profits, deemphasize football, and give the game back to the boys.

The natural rivalry between Has-

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN the committee in charge of picking an opponent for the Pacific coast champion in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena gets around to sending out invitations it ought to keep in mind a team down Dixie way called Alabama Polytechnic.

Michigan, if it completes its season undefeated, would be a better attraction, but there is a Big Ten rule against postseason games which probably would be invoked to keep the Wolverines at home. The last Western conference eleven to take part in the New Year's day contest in California was Ohio State in 1920, and the Buckeyes, who were champions of their league, were defeated, 28 to 0.

Alabama Polytechnic, known as Auburn, has only Georgia between it and an undefeated season. Few teams in any section can match its record.

Auburn is coached by Chet Wynne, a full back at Notre Dame in 1919-'20-'21. One of his assistants is Roger Kiley, who played end on the same Irish elevens. His line coach is Jack Cannon, whose work at guard thrilled thousands in the last Notre Dame-Southern California game at Soldiers' field. The Auburn team is as thoroughly Notre Dame in its system as Notre Dame is itself. Its coaches learned their football from Knute Rockne the same as the present staff at South Bend.

Wynne's athletic activity was not limited to football in his student days. He was one of the best hurdlers in the country. He was captain of the Notre Dame track team in his senior year. Before going to Alabama Polytechnic a year ago he handled the Creighton university football team for several seasons.

Auburn to date has rolled up 241 points against 33 for the opponents. It has whipped all of its rivals. The University of Georgia team, which will have much to say about making or breaking the season for Auburn, is coached by Harry Mehre, who opened holes for Wynne to plunge through in 1919 and 1920. Mehre played center.

Reports out of Minneapolis credit Coach Bernie Bierman with a statement that the officials, not Wisconsin, were responsible for Minnesota's defeat last Saturday. The disputed decision concerned a forward pass near the end of the game. Bierman now states that the throw should have been ruled incomplete or the ball given to Minnesota on a recovered fumble. It was given to Wisconsin on Minnesota's 22 yard line and the Badgers' winning touchdown followed.

Perhaps Bierman's protest was justified. Again maybe it wasn't. It might interest you to know that a much louder squawk was raised after a Big Ten game two weeks ago. A play which culminated in a touchdown was called back and the offensive team penalized five yards for being offside.

A few days after the play occurred the coach, whose yelping resounded throughout the conference, wrote an apology to the official who ruled on the play. He admitted the decision was correct.

Hanley Excuses Regulars —Works with Yearlings

Proving that he is more concerned with the future than with the past, Coach Dick Hanley excused the Northwestern first stringers yesterday and the varsity coaching staff spent the afternoon working with the freshman squad.

The Wildcats are concerned over the loss of their captain and half back, Pug Rentner, who received two broken ribs in Saturday's contest with Notre Dame. With Rentner out, there remain but three regular half backs on the squad, Jakie Sullivan, Fred Lind and Walter Stanul. Harry Leeper will be the starting right half back against Iowa next Saturday.

Roy Augustson will continue to call signals, but may be shifted to one of the half back berths at some time during the game. George Potter, who has been slowed by injuries, will be in good condition for Iowa.

Coach Hanley appeared at the practice field with statistics to show that his Wildcats had tossed the formidable Notre Dame team for a total of 78 yards in losses Saturday.

The unorthodox defensive formations which the Wildcats used to check Notre Dame aroused a lot of comment, but will not be used against Iowa, which uses an offense entirely different from Notre Dame's.

IOWA HOPE BRIGHTENS.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—University of Iowa's battered football squad had an easy day today, but intensive practice for Saturday's final against Northwestern will start tomorrow.

Herman Schneidman, first string half back, is the only player who may be kept out of the Wildcat game because of injuries. The Quincy boy has been badly bruised since midseason and was removed from the Purdue game in the first quarter.

With the assurance that they will not have Pug Rentner to worry them Saturday, the Hawkeyes displayed some optimism. A victory in the final game would go far in offsetting the other Big Ten defeats and the Iowans believe that with some luck it may be obtained.

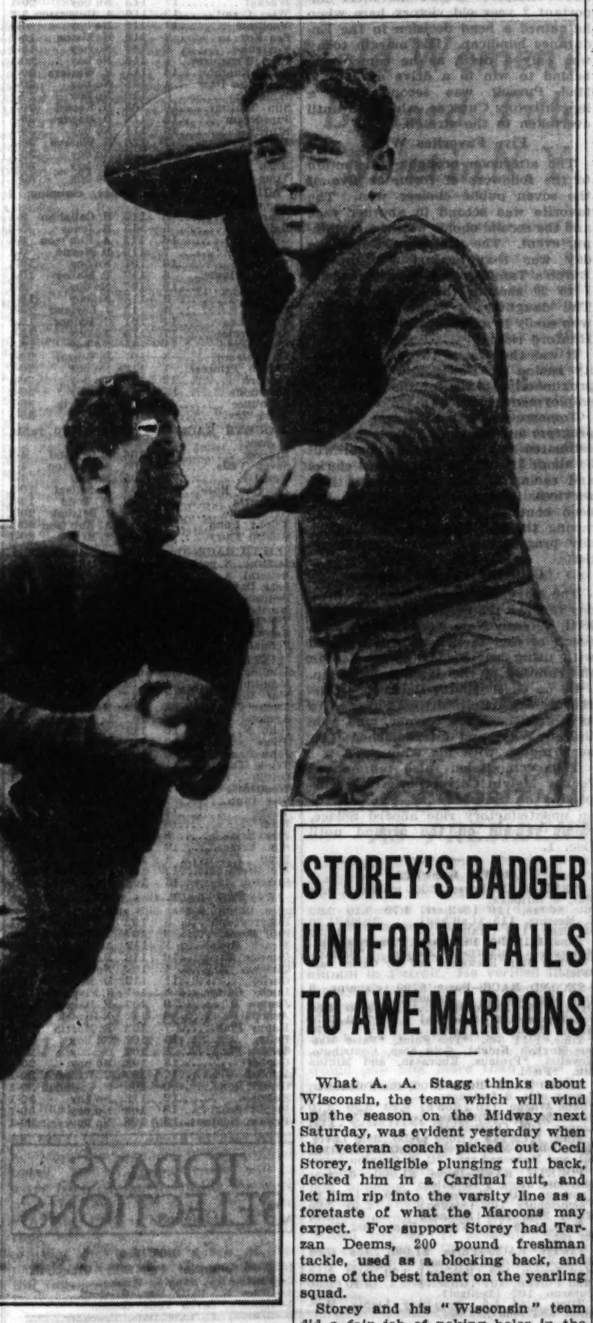
WATCH OUT FOR THIS ONE, GOPHERS!

Here's a stunt which Harry Newman, Michigan quarter back, has worked on two Big Ten opponents this season and may try against Minnesota Saturday. He goes back to pass (right) and, finding no receiver open, runs with the ball (below) with the goal line his next stop.



WOLVERINES AT PEAK OF POWER FOR MINNESOTA

Regeczi Returns as Full Back Saturday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Minnesota team, which couldn't beat Wisconsin, certainly cannot be given preference over the undefeated Michigan eleven in the final game of the season Saturday at Minneapolis.

Michigan's defense has yielded only two touchdowns this year. One of these was made by Northwestern on a forward pass and the other by Princeton which carried the ball 15 yards on line plays after Newman's fumble had given the Tigers possession.

Regeczi in Shape.

Jack Regeczi, the sophomore full back, is reported ready to take over that assignment again. This will send Pete Petoskey, regular left end, who has been in the back field, to the line except for relief work. Willis Ward, the Negro end, who has been a regular starter for a month, now will substitute either for Petoskey or for Capt. Williamson at right end.

Jack Heston, who was injured in the Ohio State game, Michigan's second Big Ten contest, now is the only regular of the squad which began the season, who is not available for duty.

Tie Good for Share in Title.

Michigan can tie Minnesota Saturday and still share in the Big Ten championship with Purdue, provided the Boilermakers defeat Indiana. In event of Purdue's defeat, the result of the Minnesota game will not affect the title.

Michigan, 26; Michigan State, 0.
Michigan, 14; Ohio State, 0.
Michigan, 32; Illinois, 0.
Michigan, 14; Princeton, 7.
Michigan, 7; Indiana, 0.
Michigan, 12; Chicago, 0.

With the exception of center, where Bernard is the mainstay, and the ends, Michigan has two capable men for each line position. The high average of defensive proficiency in the line, permits the backs to give equal attention to forward passes and balances that side of the defensive tactics. Most of the time Michigan also is able to keep its quarter back, Harry Newman, in position to handle punts, removing the possibility of quick kicks over the secondary.

They Should Outkick Lund.

Not only will this be an advantage against Minnesota, but with Regeczi in the lineup, the Wolverines should outdistance the best kicking of Francis Lund, Gopher sophomore.

Minnesota's record, which does not indicate either of consistent defense or an exceptional offense, follows:
Minnesota, 12; South Dakota State, 0.
Minnesota, 0; Purdue, 7.
Minnesota, 7; Nebraska, 6.
Minnesota, 21; Iowa, 6.
Minnesota, 7; Northwestern, 0.
Minnesota, 26; Mississippi, 0.
Minnesota, 13; Wisconsin, 20.

Michigan's defense offers security to the offense, which normally expects one score to be sufficient for victory. That offense may develop in many ways, but generally it is a pass or a run, either from scrimmage or by return of a kick. Michigan has not developed, nor has it needed, a hard driving attack composed of many short gains.

Newman Key to Offense.

The key to the offense, of course, is Harry Newman. His forward passes, or runs made possible by threat of his passes, have been the difference between sucess and failure in most of the seven games. His selection of plays also has been nearly perfect and stamps him as the leading field general in the conference. Ohio State and Indiana can testify to Newman's value.

Weather May Help Gophers.

Weather conditions may help Minnesota. Cold will decrease the efficiency of the passing, or it may lead to fumbles which will give Minnesota scoring breaks. But the Gophers are not immune to cold weather and several of their triumphs have been based on their passing attack.

Wisconsin's victory last Saturday, which deprived the Gophers of any title chance or even a tie for second place in event of victory by Minnesota over Michigan, also may hurt the team morale.

Michigan can be beaten, but it will be a major upset if Minnesota achieves victory.

MINESOTA BATTERED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Minnesota football squad was battered and bruised in losing to Wisconsin, so it received only a light workout today for the final game of the season against Michigan here Saturday. Because of a snowstorm Coach Bierman had to keep the athletes indoors.

Roy Oen, regular center, will be kept in the hospital until Wednesday or Thursday because of a groin injury. Pug Lund and Jack Manders were excused from practice because of bruises and bumps. The rest of the regulars merely limbered up for a short time and then were dismissed.

Bierman plans several changes in the lineup, but didn't show his hand today because so many regulars were unable to take part in the drill.

STOREY'S BADGER UNIFORM FAILS TO AWE MAROONS

What A. A. Stagg thinks about Wisconsin, the team which will wind up the season on the Midway next Saturday, was evident yesterday when the veteran coach picked out Cecil Storey, ineligible plunging full back, decked him in a Cardinal suit, and let him rip into the varsity line as a foretaste of what the Maroons may expect. For support Storey had Tarzan Deems, 200 pound freshman tackle, used as a blocking back, and some of the best talent on the yearling squad.

Storey and his "Wisconsin" team did a fair job of poking holes in the Maroon line, but except for a few good runs were stopped with short gains. Chicago's line appears to be dead in earnest about the coming game. Bill Cassels, senior tackle, whose father, Bert Cassels, was a hero on the 1899 championship Maroon team, is a tower of strength on the left side of the line, and his teammates are beginning to talk him up for whatever "all" teams there may be.

The varsity back field ran through a signal drill, with Pete Zimmer watching but not participating, due to a slight aggravation of his leg injury. Hugh Mendenhall, who also was hurt in the Michigan game, did not appear. He is expected to practice tomorrow.

LIGHT DRILLS FOR BADGERS.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Badgers dispensed with practice today. A week of light workouts in preparation for the game with Chicago next Saturday will begin tomorrow.

Coach Doc Spears will take no chances that his men might be injured in scrimmage. The team worked well against Minnesota after a week of dummy practice, with tackling ruled out, and is expected to function similarly against Chicago.

Several members of the Wisconsin squad appraise the impending contest with Chicago as a mere formality, although coaches argue that the game cannot be won unless Wisconsin plays the best football it is capable of producing.

Although three of the Badgers were injured in the Minnesota game, it is believed they will be in condition to play in the next game. Dave Tobias, tackle, received an arm injury and was treated at the university infirmary; Harold Smith, full back, suffered a muscle bruise, and Richard Haworth, end, was shaken up.

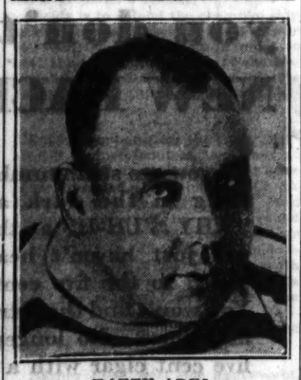
CLARENCE (TAFFY)

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Clarence is the name his folks gave him. Taffy is the name by which hockey fans throughout the United States and Canada know this Mr. Abel of the Blackhawks. And Taffy is the name that this heftiest player in hockey prefers, though the origin of the monicker is somewhat obscure.

Taffy himself says he guesses he is called Taffy because it has been suspected that his love for candy is responsible for many of his 240 pounds. But some of his mates say that lady fans of his bachelor days tried to hang the pet name Sugar on him. This, however, seemed a bit too saccharine an appellation for an eighth of a ton of he-man hockey player, so a compromise on Taffy was reached.

Taffy first attracted attention as a hockey defense man of talent as a member of the Fields Nationals, which in 1919 won the McNaughton trophy, emblematic of the United States amateur championship. Next he won acclaim as a member of the St. Paul team in the American association, playing as an amateur, as the sayin' goes. His amateur label enabled him to play with the United States Olympic team in the 1924 games at Paris.



TAFFY ABEL.

Taffy Was Partner of Ching Johnson.

In 1925-'26 Abel was with the Minneapolis Millers, a defense mate with the famed Ching Johnson, now of the New York Rangers. The following year, when the National league went into New York, Taffy and Ching went to the Rangers. Taffy played alongside the great Ching until he was sold to the Hawks in 1928, performing on a Stanley cup winner during his New York employment.

Mr. Abel has been a great favorite with the Chicago bugs since he joined the Hawks. There is no maneuver which stirs the fans as much as one of Taffy's solo barges down the ice. At home his ears are attuned to naught but applause. On the road he is the target of a razz not unlike that which in Chicago is accorded his old mate, Johnson.

He's Only 30, Despite Baldness.

Abel was born in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 30 years ago. [Don't let that bald pate fool you.] He still makes that city his home, where he is well known not only as a hockey star but as the propellor of his outboard racing boat.

Last summer Abel enjoyed one of the greatest moments of his life when he caught a rainbow trout.

It appears that the Sault Ste. Marie rapids, along which Taffy has lived all his life, harbors the finest rainbow trout on the whole continent. Fishermen come from all sections of the land to angle for Sault Ste. Marie's prize rainbow trout.

Ever since he was a little boy Taffy had been trying to get one of those piscatorial beauties, but with no success whatsoever—until last summer.

One day in June Taffy was out trying. He had about despaired for the millionth time, when, lo and behold—but let Teddy Graham of the Hawks take up the narrative here:

"Taffy was just about to give up for the day when, in a little pool much quieter than the rapids, he came upon a poor old trout. It was apparent that the fish had become so tired of it all. He was morose and didn't seem to give a damn about anything. Taffy, however, was shot into a fit of excitement. Regaining some of his poise, Taffy threw his plug alongside the tired fish. The veteran trout was wise, all right, but the sight of Taffy's plug stirred him to suicide. The old fellow took hold and Taffy, after 24 years of trying, had caught his first rainbow. The next day he bought all the fancy tackle in town and swore to clear the rapids of trout. But he never caught another rainbow."

DELAY STADIUM SUIT AGAINST BLACKHAWKS

Action on the threatened $150,000 breach of contract suit by the Chicago Stadium corporation against the Chicago National league hockey club and its president, Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, was delayed yesterday.

The praecipe was to have been filed yesterday by attorneys for the Stadium, but was held up on a technicality. The suit will charge that the Blackhawks broke a five year contract with the Stadium by transferring their hockey dates to the Coliseum. Maj. McLaughlin will contend that the Stadium broke its own contract by refusing to allow the dates sought. The Stadium is represented by Attorneys Bury, Johnson, Peters, and Dixon, who plan to file the suit on Friday.

Brown, master of the situation from the start, gave Pladner a boxing lesson in the first round, then floored the Frenchman for a count of nine with a right. A few seconds later a right to the head ended the bout.

Helene Madison Signs to Appear in Movie Comedy

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Helene Madison, national woman's swimming champion, signed a contract today to appear in a two reel comedy to be produced by Mack Sennett. The Seattle girl will start work this week in "Help, Help, Helene."

In the Wake of the News

PAYING PLAYERS.

THE University of Minnesota Daily, student newspaper, asks editorially, "Why not pay the deserving workers?" referring to football players.

This question, in many respects, is not as radical as it sounds. Method of payment would be the determining point. Under present conditions coaches, assistant coaches, scouts, ticket managers, all athletic department functionaries, newspaper reporters, ghost writers and their ghosts; in fact, just about every one except those who attract money through the turnstiles receives compensation.

In a year of depression, when, naturally, one would think many prospective college careers would be postponed, we see the "best freshman material" in many years enrolled at all colleges. Since statistics prove that a majority of central states football players are earning their way through college, wholly or in part, what is the answer? It is unescapable that this "best material" has been assured means of earning money at college or of remission of tuition fees. Why not?

The resultant question is not whether a prep athlete is being assisted through college, just as any other student might be, but whether he is being assisted "improperly." This differentiation, finely drawn, has been frequently discussed in this column.

The Wake sees objection to direct payment of football players for reasons other than those of amateur ethics. Mercenaries seldom are as valuable as volunteers. Jealousy and lack of team spirit would be unavoidable. Such players would feel they knew more than their coaches and fellow players.

In this connection we once talked with a successful coach of a college known for its recruiting and asked "How do you get such material?" He frankly replied, "O, I don't have anything to do with that. The alumni attend to it. I suspect some of the boys earn, by work more or less arduous, their tuition, room, and board. The only thing I ask the alumni is not to pay any players actual cash. Such boys know more than I do and are of no use to me. They're poor investments."

Another objections to paying players would arise if bidding for prep players were allowed. Those colleges which draw small crowds would be unable to compete financially against colleges located where crowds are larger. If football players ever are paid directly it should be done after they have earned places on the eleven and not as an inducement to enter that college.

Stagg of Chicago, Yost of Michigan, and Huff of Illinois are regarded as the western conference bulwarks. Stagg always has been adament in his stand for the amateur spirit, contending that sacrifice, even financial, for participation in athletics is more than compensated by the boy's satisfaction and honors therefrom. Yost argues somewhat along the same general lines. Yet one can hardly credit Stagg and Yost, keen in other matters, with childlike faith that none of their football stars ever was helped through college by admiring alumni. This is not said in criticism either, for there is much that can be done

Spaniels Prove Ability in Field Trials.

BY BOB BECKER.

The weatherman made it anything but easy for a few selected springer spaniels last week-end. There was broken ice on the shores of the Fox river when four springers, entered in the first annual trial of the English Springer Spaniel Club of the Central States, were called upon to retrieve mallard ducks from the water.

Despite a high wind, which made the river pretty choppy, cold water and broken ice, the dogs plunged in on command and got their birds before an appreciative gallery.

Play to a Large Crowd.

Although this first public trial ever conducted in the middle west for springer spaniels was not widely known to the rank and file of sportsmen and dog owners, a fairly large crowd assembled on the Herbert P. Crane Wild Rose farm near St. Charles, Ill., to see the dogs work upland game and do their land and water retrieving.

Dr. A. C. Gifford of Oshkosh, Wis., and the writer judged the entries on the last day of the trial, first looking over the dogs as they worked heavy cover for pheasants and rabbits and then judging their ability to retrieve in the Fox river.

Due largely to the fact many springer spaniel owners are not familiar with all the training details a springer must master to approach perfection in the field, and also to the fact that a number of Chicago dog owners did not enter their springers, the standard of spaniel work observed at this trial was not as high as that of eastern field trials.

An Education for Sportsmen.

However, the gallery enjoyed the show put on by the aggressive hard hunting springers and sportsmen unfamiliar with the work of the breed were able to secure some valuable pointers on how the spaniels can handle upland game.

Upon the conclusion of the water retrieving test, during which the dogs had to swim to a mallard which had been shot on the wing, the judges made the following awards: Third place ribbon, the highest award in the trial, to Benno Brunig Ashaba, a liver and white dog, owned by A. P. Moecher of Aurora, Ill. Certificate of merit was awarded to Vavalier Jack, a black and white dog owned by Glenn Dundore of Plainfield, Ill. This 9 months' old pup proved a snappy field worker and excellent retriever.

Two other certificates of merit went to Pont Rivington Springbok, owned by Glenn Christy of Wheaton, Ill., and Chief Warden Murphy, a liver and white dog belonging to W. J. Schloesser of Glen View. Officers of the field trial club announced that another field trial will be held next fall.

GROSS AGAIN HEADS ILLINOIS SKATE GROUP

Theodore Gross was reëlected president of the Illinois Western Skating association last night at the annual meeting at the Walton Athletic club. Toby Orb was chosen first vice president, Wallace Fee, second vice president, and Albert T. Fischer, third vice president. Ted Rullman was reëlected secretary-treasurer.

Frank M. Kalteux, recently elected president of the Amateur Skating union of the United States at its annual meeting at Detroit, has appointed Edward A. Mahlke of Chicago permanent secretary for the union for the coming year. Mahlke was secretary of the old International Skating union when that organization was the governing body of skating in the United States and Canada.

Mahlke has been associated with amateur skating for the last twenty-two years and served as secretary and later president of the Western Skating association.

Many major skating meets are being planned for the coming season, including the outdoor national at Oconomowoc, the North American indoor championships at St. Louis, and others in Minneapolis and Detroit.

BOOKIES WON'T HAVE A CHANCE AT NEW ORLEANS

Old time Chicago bookmakers who had expected to be allowed to quote their odds and take bets at the Fair Grounds track in New Orleans this winter received the word yesterday to stay away.

The Fair Grounds track in New Orleans was recently taken over by a syndicate headed by several Chicagoans, and the rumors began to fly that bookmaking would be permitted there for the first time in more than a half dozen years.

"There will be no change in our betting system," Joseph A. Murphy announced in Chicago yesterday. Since the bookmakers were given the air in New Orleans several years ago betting on the races has been by the certificate or pari-mutuel system.

Wisconsin Blackhawks to Play Shamrocks Tomorrow

The Shamrocks, professional football team, will meet the Wisconsin Blackhawks of Ft. Atkinson, Wis., tomorrow night on the 124th Field Artillery indoor gridiron at 52d and Cottage Grove avenue. The Shamrocks have won three games, tied one and lost one. In the Blackhawk lineup are seven letter men from the University of Wisconsin. In the backfield is Swede Johnson, who was with the Green Bay Packers last season.

Mad Frump Wins Bowie Purse at 3-5

Bowie, Md., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Mad Frump, bearing the silks of C. V. Whitney, scored by a neck in the Glen Echo purse, feature of the opening program of the 14 day meeting at Bowie today. Mad Frump ran back to his best form over a course he likes.

Last year the son of Mad Hatter and Frumpery scored his most important 2 year old victory here when he gained a head decision in the Endurance handicap. His margin today was only a neck, as he came from behind to win in a drive at 3 to 5. Mad Pursuit was second, half a length before Curacao, which led until overtaken in the stretch.

Five Favorites Win.

The afternoon brought satisfaction to the followers of form, as five of the seven public choices won. The favorite was second in another race and the second choice won the remaining event. The shortest price of the day was that against Preston M. Burch's Tambour, which was made a 7 to 20 shot in the Carolina purse. The daughter of General Thatcher won easily by two lengths, with Buddy Hanford riding.

It was the first of two days of charity racing at Bowie and netted approximately $13,000 for the state's unemployment fund.

Tomorrow will be the last welfare program and Manager Joseph B. Boyle estimated the second day's pool will be about $15,000, as pari-mutuel clerks and racing officials will donate their services. Approximately $238,000 has been contributed at the race tracks during the last two years at Charity day programs for unemployment relief.

Coltiletti Loses License.

The Maryland racing commission today revoked the license of Frank Coltiletti, veteran New York jockey, as a result of foul tactics he was charged with using last Friday at Pimlico in the running of the Walden handicap.

Up on G. H. [Pete] Bostwick's Garden Message, Coltiletti was alleged to have grabbed Mack Garner, who rode Golden Way, and later slashed Garner's mouth with his whip.

The commission also announced Jockey Melvin Calvert, who was suspended on Saturday at Pimlico for an unsatisfactory ride aboard Solace, would remain on the ground until Dec. 1.

The Chicago Public High school league championship football game between Englewood and Morgan Park Saturday afternon will be played on White City field, at 63d street and South Parkway avenue, it was decided yesterday at a conference between athletic directors of the two schools. The kickoff will be at 2:15 o'clock.

Army Retains International Horse Title

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The United States army show team, led by Maj. Tupper Cole, tonight turned back the bid of three nations to win the international military jumping championship for the second consecutive year at the national horse show.

Forced to give two clean performances after Tan Bark, with Lieut. E. F. Thompson in the saddle, had knocked down the picket gate, Lieut. C. W. Raguse and Maj. Cole sent the veteran equine jumpers, Ugly and Joe Aleshire, over the ten barriers without a fault. Tan Bark's four faults kept the U. S. team from equalling its perfect performance of last year.

The French team also turned in two perfect exhibitions in quest of its first championship since 1925. Judez, ridden by Capt. Pierre Clave, missed his stride on two jumps, however, and the team was charged with eight faults.

Far behind in third place with 20 faults trailed the Canadian army with the favored Irish Free State trio, winner at the Boston show, in fourth place with 24 faults.

Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana farm of Lexington, Ky., carried off the honors in the two $1,000 stakes for three gaited saddle horses, winning the division for horses over 15.2 hands with First Lady and the class styled for horses over 14.2 and under 15.2 hands with Flashing American.

ILLINOIS STABLES SCORE.

Harry Gorhan of Morris, Ill., had first place winners in two harness pony events, High Tension winning in a class for those not exceeding 11.2 hands and doubling with Karess to take the tandem event. Gorhan's Locust Flame was third in the individual class.

The entry of Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Elmhurst, Ill., was fourth today and second tonight in the competition for horses in harness over 14.2 hands and driven by a woman. She was represented by Pride of Onway and Rosey Morn. May Fair and Pick Fair, owned by George J. Peak of Winchester, Ill., were third, and Woodsport and Corinne, owned by Reed Bridgeford of Joy, Ill., were fourth.

DE PAUL TO MEET NORTH DAKOTA IN HOMECOMING

Home again yesterday after a muddy experience which ended in a scoreless tie with St. Thomas, the De Paul university football team immediately started preparations for its homecoming game Saturday at Loyola stadium. The Blue Demons will celebrate the occasion by battling North Dakota university. The Dakotans have lost only three games in as many years.

City Title Table Tennis Tourney to Start Friday

Men's and women's table tennis teams representing the public parks, the Church Athletic association, the Y. M. C. A., and the Y. W. C. A. will compete in a Chicago city championship tournament Friday and Saturday nights at the Lawson Y. M. C. A., it was announced yesterday by George Jennings. Jennings is chairman of the contest committee of the Illinois Table Tennis association, under whose auspices the matches will be held.

The tournament, sponsored by the National Table Tennis association, of which Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten conference, is regional representative, is the first of a series scheduled for the winter season.

A team composed of winners will represent the city and state in the national matches to be held in Chicago during A Century of Progress exposition next year.

Any amateur table tennis player who is over 16 years of age may take part. Entries close next Friday noon.

STATUS OF U. S., ARGENTINE POLO CUP IN DOUBT

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A new trophy donated especially by President Justo of Argentina, will be at stake in the international polo series, starting Nov. 19, between picked teams representing the United States and the Argentine, but it has not yet been determined whether it will be called the "cup of the Americas" or involve championship significance.

It was learned the so-called "cup of the Americas" for which the two nations played at Meadow Brook, Long Island, in 1928, did not exist as a perpetual trophy but was intended as a general name to be given a trophy for each Argentine-United States series.

UP TO MANAGER.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The United States Polo association regards the forthcoming United States-Argentine series in Buenos Aires as having international trophy significance, although it was pointed out today that all eight of the players who made the trip from this country did so "on their own." The U. S. P. A. did not finance the invasion.

"The arrangements, so far as the association is concerned, are all in the hands of the team manager, Carleton Burke," said F. S. O'Reilly, the secretary-treasurer. "The series is regarded as bringing together two of the best teams of the rival countries. Any designation of the matches, agreeable to Burke and the Argentine authorities, will be acceptable to us."

St. Paul Names Gibbons Police Physical Director

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The police department of St. Paul will be a rugged group of individuals from now on. Mike J. Gibbons, former boxer, has a new job. Today he became physical director of the city police department.

QUEBEC WARS ON SWEEPSTAKES AND LOTTERIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 14.—War has been declared on sweepstakes and lotteries of all kinds in the province of Quebec. Officers of the attorney general's department have issued instructions that not only are venders of tickets to be arrested, but that those who are caught purchasing tickets are liable to arrest.

Hockey pools, raffles and everything that may be classed as a lottery falls under the ban.

The Army and Navy Veterans' and Irish Hospitals sweepstakes are not exempt from the ban, and the thousands of sellers who have openly displayed their wares will be deprived of a lucrative source of revenue as a result of the department's action.

TULEY ALUMNI WIN.

Tuley High, which had no football team this year, played its first practice basketball game yesterday and was defeated by the Alumni, 18 to 10.

McMILLEN AND DUSEK RESUME DISPUTE TONIGHT

Return Mat Match Heads Coliseum Card.

Jim McMillen, former University of Illinois football star, and Rudy Dusek of Omaha will meet in the main event of an all-heavyweight wrestling show in the Coliseum tonight. They will go one fall to a finish.

McMillen and Dusek were disqualified for slugging when they met in the same ring about two months ago and were suspended by the Illinois Athletic commission. They finally were reinstated by the commission and rematched by Promoter Doc Krone. No battling is expected tonight, as each has been warned by the commission.

Zaharias Meets Marshall.

The semi-windup will bring together George Zaharias of Pueblo, Colo., and Everett Marshall, an aggressive youngster from La Junta in the same state.

Billy Sandow, who handled Strangler Lewis when the latter was at the height of his career, will be in Marshall's corner tonight. Zaharias is unpopular with the patrons because of his rough tactics, but is a drawing card because of their desire to see him beaten.

Kampfer Is Favorite.

Hans Kampfer, a young German, will oppose Joe De Vito in a preliminary match. Kampfer has been beaten only by Jim Londos in Chicago and is favored to win.

Two Indians will add color to the show. Jim Clinkstock, giant Oklahoman, is one. He will meet Stan Lurik, Chicago Pole. The other is Sun Jennings, also from Oklahoma, who grapples Jack Smith of Chicago.

The first match will go on at 8:15 o'clock.

within the rules, and, we repeat, "Why not?"

George Huff is just as unflinching an advocate of rule enforcement, but from a different angle. He once said to us: "I don't say our present rules are the best that can be drawn. I don't say players shouldn't be compensated, although personally I'm opposed to it. But we have our rules and have agreed among ourselves to enforce them. Any one who doesn't is a cheater. Cheaters do not belong in intercollegiate athletics intended to promote sportsmanship."

One may discuss pros and cons almost endlessly. Finally it simmers down to "intent" or good faith.

An athlete may be assisted to earn his education, within the rules. Many students not athletes are so helped. Similarly an athlete may be assisted beyond the rules. There is nothing new in the present situation.

Colleges know among themselves what is going on in the quest for athletic material. If there be willful offenders against the present code, denial to an offender of games with other colleges is an effective corrective. Time may come when direct payment for football playing is the best solution, although we doubt it. The Wake certainly does not feel that time is here yet.

NOW THAT N. U. IS GONE NOTRE DAME LOOKS TO NAVY

Middies to Send Strong Team to Cleveland.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Having disposed of Northwestern without serious injury, Notre Dame's first two teams rested today from the bruises of their 21 to 0 victory of last Saturday.

Next Saturday they will meet a Navy team at Cleveland stadium before a crowd of 60,000 or more, according to present ticket sales.

According to Lieutenant Commander J. L. Hall, graduate manager of Navy, Notre Dame will meet a "Navy team at full strength for the first time in several years at this stage of the season. All Navy followers have been heartened to a point of confidence as a result of the team's progress in the Columbia game and since."

Win Easily Over Maryland.

Navy lost, 7 to 6, to Columbia on a blocked kick. The Middies won a 28 to 7 victory over Maryland Saturday just about as they pleased.

Coach Hunk Anderson, who said the Northwestern game was a toss-up to be decided by a long run, passes or some break, today said that he believes Notre Dame will win from Navy.

"But not unless our running attack gets started. A wet day would make it bad for us," he said, "because the sod is pretty well worn off the field at Cleveland. We certainly couldn't go in the mud, because we haven't made a half dozen good advances on dry fields in our last three games with Pitt, Kansas and Northwestern. We've been lucky enough to win on long runs and passes in our last two games. We gained fairly well against Pitt, but couldn't do anything in scoring territory against their 6-3-2 defense."

Irish to Take It "In Stride."

Anderson said he will have to take the Navy game "in stride," and added that he hasn't even looked at the Army and Southern California scouting notes yet.

"I hope we will win both these games, and I know the team will be in there fighting. But right now I can't picture us winning either game."

NAVY DRILL IS BRIEF.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—All the members of the Naval academy football squad were on the field today, but those who took part in the Maryland game Saturday were worked only moderately and practice for all was brief.

Coach Frank Foster, of squad B, who scouted Notre Dame Saturday in its game against Northwestern, started his team in Notre Dame offensive plays. The plays will be used, however, only in dummy scrimmage against the regulars.

Head Coach Edgar [Rip] Miller said today that scrimmaging was practically over for the season and that he would devote his time to perfecting the team in mechanics. This will include attention to defense against the forward pass, one of the Navy's weaknesses this season.

FOUR AMERICAN NET STARS WIN IN AUSTRALIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 14.—All four members of the United States tennis team now on tour won their first round matches today in the New South Wales championship tournament.

Ellsworth Vines Jr., United States and Wimbledon champion, defeated Cliff Sproule, Australian Davis cup player, 2-6, 6-2, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4. Keith Gledhill, Vines' doubles partner, defeated C. Donohoe, 6-2, 9-7, 6-1. Wilmer Allison beat Jack Willard, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, and John Van Ryn defeated W. Walder, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

In the doubles matches, Vines and Gledhill defeated Dunn and Ward, 8-4, 6-4, 9-7. Allison and Van Ryn beat Dive and Peach, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

DE PAUW VOTES AGAINST GAME WITH BUTLER

Greencastle, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The joint editorial appeal by the undergraduate newspapers of Butler university and DePauw university that their footbal teams meet in a post-season charity game was rejected today by athletic authorities of De Pauw. A policy opposing post-season games and poor physical condition of the squad following an eight game schedule were given as reasons.

It was indicated, however, that the demand of the student newspapers that athletic relations be resumed, soon will be granted.

Boss Schmidt, Fistic Conqueror of Ty Cobb, Dies

Altus, Ark., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Charles [Boss] Schmidt, former catcher with the Detroit Tigers and later manager and coach of several other clubs, who claimed he was the only man who held a complete fistic triumph over Ty Cobb, died today.

As Schmidt whisically put it, "I had to lick Ty three times to make him admit it."

Schmidt died in the home of a physician here, where he was taken when he became ill of acute intestinal obstruction at Clarksville last night. He was 52 years old.

Schmidt played in three world series when Hughey Jennings was piloting the Tigers to pennants and when Ty Cobb, now in retirement, was known as the greatest ball player in the game.

Breaking into organized baseball with Springfield, Ill., in 1901, Schmidt joined the Rock Island, Ill., club three years later. He then was purchased by Minneapolis, and the Detroit Tigers bought him at the end of his first season. He caught 146 games for the Tigers in 1907 and also caught three of the world series games that fall.

11 Seniors on Purdue Squad Face Indiana

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Eleven senior members of Purdue's undefeated football squad, including most of the regulars in the line and Roy Horstmann, full back, will have more than the usual incentive for victory here Saturday when the Boilermakers tackle Indiana in the annual battle for the "Old Oaken Bucket."

The senior members of the Boilermaker squad can look back on a three year record under Coach Noble Kizer that has found Purdue victorious in 21 out of 25 games, with only three defeats and one tie. Two of the three losses have been by the margin of one point, and at no time has Purdue been held without a touchdown.

Victory over Indiana would enable the seniors to complete the best three year record in modern Purdue football history.

As far as the Purdue-Indiana series is concerned, it is "even stephen" with the seniors, for Indiana won, 7 to 6, in 1930, and Purdue came back with a 19 to 0 victory last season.

INDIANA RESERVES DRILL.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 14. — [Special.]—Indiana university reserves and varsity men who did not see a great deal of action against Illinois last Saturday, went through a hard practice this afternoon.

Men who were battered in the Illini game reported in uniform and heard a lecture by Coach Hayes on the defects of the team. Bill Rehm, tackle, and Bernard Dickey, end, were absent because of injuries. Both are probable starters against Purdue.

Ken Meenan, much-married Northwestern university football star, returned to the campus yesterday, not as a back field candidate but as an employé of the building and grounds department.

Meenan's first marriage was annulled and his second now faces dissolution in a divorce suit filed by his wife in the west. He is now raking leaves on the campus, but hopes to resume his classes in February and regain eligibility for football by next season.

An opponent has been selected, but his name will not be made public, pending approval of the Illinois athletic commission. Charles Hall, head of the Coliseum Building corporation, and Ray C. O'Shea has beaten many south side boys and is taking a step higher in meeting Parker. They are scheduled for five rounds.

In the semi-windup Danny Neenan meets Paddy Walthier at 138 pounds. The other bouts bring together Freddie Dolph and Paul Dempsey; Wilfred Hoenselaar and Jack Delaney; Jimmy Hager and Joe Serietic, and Johnny Terry and Billy Bedard. As an added attraction, Eddie Jacobs wrestles John Holden.

Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, and Max Baer of California may meet at one of the Chicago big league baseball parks next summer under the promotion of the Chicago Stadium corporation, Nate Lewis, Stadium matchmaker, said last night. Lewis said he has received assurances from both Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, and Ancil Hoffman, director of Baer, that they will sign for the match if the terms are suitable. Jacobs, Hoffman, and Lewis will endeavor to complete arrangements at a meeting in Chicago about Dec. 11.

Walker, Morton Coach, Cleared by School Board

Fred M. Walker, football and basketball coach at J. Sterling Morton High school, Cicero, who was suspended last month following charges preferred by Maj. W. P. MacLean, head of the physical education department, was exonerated and reinstated last night by the high school board.

The meeting of the board was held in the school auditorium and attended by more than 200 parents of Morton students.

Maj. MacLean had charged that Coach Walker was inefficient, had been late for classes, absent from classes, and had allowed students to take out uniforms and other school equipment without making a deposit.

The charges and Coach Walker's reply were referred to Harry V. Church, superintendent of the high school, who last night made his report, characterizing the charges as "petty and trivial."

kell and Temple will be immediately apparent to all. Haskell is in Kansas and Temple is in Philadelphia, the one a prairie high school, the other a tidewater university, an obvious community of interest. So the football party at Temple also opposed the Republican ticket and the election returns were interpreted as a bright promise of prosperity for the next four years.

The football party at Haskell trusts that when Mr. Roosevelt selects a Democratic superintendent of the school he will pick some one who can be trusted not to bother the football team with examinations which distract the players' thoughts from their football and shake their morale. The boys have gone along very well for all these years without examinations, and this unpleasant fad of the Republican administration is regarded as a dangerous and meddlesome innovation.

Col. Lyons Ideal Candidate.

Wild Will Lyons would seem to be an ideal man for the post, unless it could be that he has begun to age lately. I hesitate to suggest that his years are weighing on him, but there is just one incident which has caused me serious misgivings.

During the Democratic convention in Chicago I bet Col. Lyons one hat that Mr. Roosevelt would not receive the nomination. Mr. Roosevelt was nominated, and, although I have met Chief Talks-a-Great-Deal-With-His-Face several times since then, the matter of the bet which he won seems to have slipped his mind completely. This indicates to me that the old chief is beginning to slip. If Wild Will were in full possession of his fine old mental powers I do not think he would forget a bet which he had won.

CHOCOLATE GETS DECISION OVER NEBO AMID BOOS

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, Havana Negro, received an unpopular decision over Pete Nebo of Tampa, Fla., in a fast ten round bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight. Chocolate weighed 129½ pounds; Nebo 134¾.

Chocolate took considerable punishment in four of the first five rounds, but closed with a rally that won him the last five rounds and the decision. A part of the crowd booed heartily when the verdict was announced, although it appeared the Cuban had gained a slight edge by his rally.

Morrie Sherman, Detroit, 150¼, outpointed Eddie McKenna, 145½, New York, and Petey Hayes, 125½, was given a decision over Vidal Gregorio, 122½, of Spain in eight round bouts. Coco Kid, 134½, New Haven, Conn., stopped Mickey Paul, 135¾, New York, in the third round of another eight rounder.

START PLAY IN $2,500 PINEHURST TOURNEY TODAY

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Professional golfers swooped down today on Pinehurst, the second stop of the fall and winter tournament circuit, for the Mid-South open, which offers $2,500 prize money.

Leading the vanguard was Horton Smith, who captured first money last week in the opening fall tournament over the Kenwood course at Washington, D. C.

The Mid-South will be played tomorrow and Wednesday over the number two course, called the most difficult of the Pinehurst courses. Play will consist of the thirty-six holes of best ball on the opening day and thirty-six holes of individual competition on the second.

NAVY TO RETAIN RIP MILLER AS FOOTBALL COACH

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Edgar A. [Rip] Miller will continue as head football coach at the naval academy next season, it was learned today. Official announcement will be made from Annapolis during the week prior to the army game Dec. 3, at Franklin field, Philadelphia, it was reported.

Miller became head coach at Annapolis two seasons ago, succeeding Bill Ingram, who is now coach at the University of California.

Zuppke Plans Defense Against Passes.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Chuck Bennis, understudy to Bob Bloom at center all year, was shifted to guard on the Illinois football team today as preparations for the final game of the year against Ohio State got under way.

Apparently satisfied with the rest of the lineup, Bob Zuppke made no other changes. There were no injuries suffered in the Indiana game.

The drill was light and consisted of a long kicking session with stress on placements. Freshmen were called upon to exhibit Ohio plays in dummy scrimmage. Defensive practice this week will be designated to stop the Ohio pass attack.

BUCKEYES FEAR PASSES.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Ohio State's team took a day off today, but Coach Sam William spent his time making plans to stop the Illinois passing attack Saturday. Scrimmage against the freshman team, executing Illinois plays, is scheduled for tomorrow, while the varsity will be on the offensive on Wednesday.

Capt. Hinchman's kicking leg was injured Saturday in the Pennsylvania game and Greenberg and McAfee will be drilled to do the punting.

Hold Women's Billiard Title Meet in N. Y.

New York City will be the scene of the first national amateur women's pocket billiard tournament to be staged by the National Billiard Association of America. The match will be held Nov. 28 and 29, between Miss Georgia Veatch, Chicago city champion, and Mrs. Gertrude Baker McEvoy, New York City champion. The contest will be for 200 points, played in four blocks of 50 points each.

Mrs. McEvoy won the first amateur title in Ireland and then came to New York, and through a series of elimination contests in which over 300 girls took part captured the New York City championship. Miss Veatch, a Chicago school teacher and instructor in all lines of women's sports, including fencing, golfing, swimming, etc., started playing in her early childhood in her father's billiard room. However, it was only last fall that she went after the game in earnest. After the Chicago preliminaries, in which 250 girls took part, Miss Veatch met and defeated the best Chicago had to offer.

A silver trophy will be awarded to the winner of this tournament, which will become the champion's property after winning three consecutive championship matches.

COLLEGE OFFERS STAGG POSITION AS PRESIDENT

Among offers which Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago has received for next year, following his retirement as athletic director, is one to become president of a college.

Stagg mentioned the offer last Friday evening at a meeting of Maroon alumni in Detroit. He verified it yesterday, but would not be specific. The University of Chicago has offered him a special job at his present salary, which he is considering along with other opportunities. One of these would pay him more than twice his present salary, he said in Detroit.

Mt. Carmel and St. Mel Likely to Play at White City

Tentative arrangements were made last evening for the game between Mount Carmel and St. Mel for the championship of the Catholic High School league. It probably will be played at White City next Sunday at 2:15 o'clock. Definite decision as to time and place will be made by tomorrow.

Bears Drill for Dodgers; Grange Expected to Play

The Chicago Bears went to work yesterday for their game with the Brooklyn Dodgers at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon.

Red Grange's injured ankle is responding to treatment and he is expected to be ready to play.

Turning back the invasion of Benny Friedman and his team is sure to be hard to do, for year after year Friedman has been a jinx to the Bears at Wrigley field.

Friedman, who has been subjected to much criticism due to his failure to appear against the Cardinals here, beat the Cardinals in the east last Sunday by booting a field goal.

Benny has gone so far as to say that not only will he be in the game in person Sunday but that the Bears will wish he had remained away.

The Bears will make a trip to St. Louis for a game tomorrow night, meeting the Mound City Gunners. This contest will take the place of scrimmage this week.

Preceding the game Sunday here the Monarchs and Austin Bears will clash. The kickoff will be at 12:15. The Bears-Brooklyn game will start at 2 o'clock.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—George Barker of New York university clipped 25 seconds from the existing record here this afternoon in winning the I. C. A. A. A. A. cross-country title over the tortuous six mile Van Cortlandt park course.

Staving off a final mile challenge by Joe McCluskey, Fordham university's indoor and outdoor two mile champion, Barker sped across the tape in 28:58.4, shattering the mark of 29.24 established last year by Dan Dean of Pennsylvania, who did not defend his laurels today.

Tom Ottey of Michigan State, the leading western threat, weakened in the final mile, after running neck and neck with Barker most of the distance.

SCHOOLS ACCEPT COAL WITHOUT WEIGHING LOADS

Bulletin Gives Orders to Engineers.

A bulletin issued to school engineers, it was revealed yesterday, informs these employes that they need no longer weigh the coal from the company which supplies the fuel to 400 schools in the city. The bulletin is signed by Howard P. Savage, business manager of the school board, and contains the following instructions:

"Contracts for coal this season are based upon dealers' yard weights. Engineer-custodians are, therefore, not required to weigh all coal deliveries on school scales. If the scales at your building are in working order, weigh an occasional load to check up on yard weights. Coal tickets are to be issued in the usual manner and yard weights allowed."

A previous bulletin said: "Contracts have been awarded for bituminous coal on a b. t. u. basis for the period Sept. 26 to Dec. 31, 1932, to the Moulding-Brownell corporation. The coal will come from southern Illinois, and is high grade deep shaft steam coal."

Knows No Reason for It.

William Press Hodgkins, president of the Moulding-Brownell corporation, said he had not been informed of the bulletin on coal weighing, and knew no reason for its issuance. His concern was awarded the coal contract by the school board in competitive bidding because it was low bidder, he asserted. He said he did not have records at hand to give the figures.

In other quarters, however, it was said the contract was for 250,000 tons at a figure which would give the Moulding-Brownell corporation 70 cents a ton for hauling the coal—a rate which coal dealers said was remarkably low. In addition the company accepts tax anticipation warrants at par in payment for its service.

One of the school trustees said the Moulding-Brownell company was awarded the school coal business after another large company had abandoned its contract because of the inability of the board to pay cash for coal. This company wanted to take the warrants at 80 cents on the dollar, the price they were quoted at, and submitted a new bid on that basis, but the Moulding-Brownell company bid a lower figure in addition to agreeing to accept the warrants at par, the trustee said.

Board's Reason Given.

The reasons given for not weighing the coal when received were that the school board had not the money to keep its scales in order and that most business houses accept an official weighmaster's certificate as they would the report of a certified public accountant. At a cost of $200 a year to keep each scale in working order the figures for 400 schools would be $80,000, it was pointed out.

President Lewis E. Meyers and other trustees expressed their confidence in th Moulding-Brownell corporation. It was formed by a merger of several large material companies, it was explained. One reason advanced for its low bid was that, whereas its greatest business is conducted in the summer, it was content to get the school coal business at a low rate to take up the slack in its business and keep its trucks working during the winter. Its business in other materials is said to be much greater than in coal.

Mr. Hodgkins, the president, is a son-in-law of School Trustee Robert F. Carr, president of the Dearborn Chemical company, who had charge of raising funds in Illinois for the Democratic national committee.

ZIEGFELD HOME FURNISHINGS GO FOR SMALL SUMS

The furnishings from the boyhood home of the late Flo Ziegfeld, Follies impresario, went under the auctioneer's hammer yesterday. Few professional collectors appeared at the Victorian mansion, 1448 West Adams street, where the Ziegfeld family had lived more than 50 years. Most of the crowd milling about throughout the day were either the curious or neighbors who bought the 400 or more articles for a few cents to a few dollars.

Mrs. Willis E. Buhl of Detroit, a daughter of Dr. Florenz Ziegfeld Sr., the founder of the Chicago Musical college, was dressed in deep mourning and went from room to room as the auction was in progress. She gave way to hysteria and fled from the living room when her mother's footstool was auctioned off. Servants who had been in the house for years wept as articles which had been favorites of Mrs. Ziegfeld passed into other hands. Mrs. Ziegfeld died on Oct. 22, three months after the death of her son.

In the study, off the living room a group of the autographed photographs covered the walls, the proud collection of the elder Ziegfeld. They went for $1.25 to a second hand dealer. Among them was a picture of the late Lillian Russell given in 1893 "to Dr. Ziegfeld with the permission of my husband—I am yours, cordially, Lillian Russell." There were also photographs of famous artists and musicians of 40 years ago, and several of Dr. Ziegfeld when he was made a colonel and later a brigadier general.

FREE CAPONE AID AFTER 3 YEARS OF CONTINUANCES

A charge of carrying concealed weapons against Frank Diamond, 1736 Polk street, brother-in-law of Al Capone, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desort in the Criminal court after fifteen continuances over a period of nearly three years. Diamond was arrested on Jan. 22, 1930, in the lobby of the Hotel Sherman by Detectives William Drury and John Howe, who found a revolver in his belt.

Diamond explained that he needed the pistol to protect $1,500 which was found on his person. Diamond then failed to answer the charge in the Criminal court and a question as to the validity of the bond prevented a bond forfeiture from being entered. The case was continued eight times and stricken with leave to reinstate by Judge Peter Schwabs.

Diamond was rearrested and the case reinstated last Aug. 2. He failed to appear before Judge James J. Kelly on Aug. 15 and the bond of $10,000 was forfeited. Diamond appeared at the Criminal court two days later, the bond forfeiture was set aside, and the case assigned to Judge Rudolph F. Desort. After a series of continuances, during which Judge Desort was engaged in hearing jury cases, Diamond appeared yesterday.

Defense Attorney Tyrrell Richardson moved to suppress the evidence on the ground that the arrest was illegal. Detectives Drury and Howe admitted they were not seeking Diamond as a suspected criminal and said they had no warrant. Judge Desort ruled with the defense.

KILLS SELF AT 26 WHEN TROUBLES COME TOO FAST

Death, illness, and idleness in his family apparently proved too much for William Fries, 26 years old, who shot and killed himself yesterday in his home at 6038 Justine street.

The troubles in the Fries family started with the collapse of the Bain banks. William lost all his money and his father, Charles, also lost his savings amounting to $4,000. Not long afterward father and son lost their jobs.

Then, recently, William's grandmother, Mrs. Rosalia Fries of Crown Point, came to Chicago for medical treatment. She died a few days ago, just as William's mother, Mrs. Rose Fries, was stricken with pneumonia. Yesterday, while his mother lay ill in her bedroom and funeral services were being prepared for the grandmother, William went to his room and shot himself.

STOCK LEADERS FALL AND RISE; FINISH LOWER

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—Prices on today's stock market turned sharply lower after several changes of direction during the session. Opening prices were lower by small fractions and there followed a brief period of further recession. Then most of the losses were recovered when wheat underwent a brisk rise, but as wheat gave up most of its advance in the last two or three trading hours the stock division also turned downward.

When the closing bell ended a last hour selling wave there were losses averaging two points among the standard leaders and setbacks running as high as six points among the specialties, the extreme loser being Coca Cola on more or less adverse earnings and dividends news.

Sales Fall Off.

The constructive forces were encouraged by the falling off in volume on the decline, the total turnover failing to reach .. million and a half shares. At times the ticker was unusually quiet, which was taken to indicate that the pressure of sales was light and that the rank and file of traders were not in sympathy with the reaction.

Omission by Coca Cola of its usual extra dividend was the day's most disturbing news, and its effect was heightened by publication by that leading beverage corporation of a poor third quarter earnings report.

Although the regular quarterly dividend on the common and the regular semi-annual dividend on the class A stock were declared, Coca Cola was subject to selling all day and closed down more than six points, its action hastening the list's general recession.

Fear Beer's Competition.

The sharp drop in Coca Cola earnings was taken to explain the selling which took place in that stock a month ago. Today's recession was merely the general public's reaction to what was stale news to the street's better informed circles. At the same time Coca Cola's drop was linked to popular talk of a possible change in the prohibition laws, and there were many observers excusing the stock's weakness on the ground that new competition would develop before long.

Farm implement stocks and the mail order shares were in the van of the midday advance, when wheat had managed to climb 1¼ cents a bushels, but as the grain receded with stocks later on these shares felt the impact of selling. Recessions in the two groups included such leaders as Case, Harvester, Montgomery Ward, and Sears-Roebuck.

Steel Off a Point.

Allied Chemical and other popular issues with a stake in the welfare of agriculture also felt late liquidation pressure and closed with a setback of more than 2 points.

Although it had the reinforcement of a trade magazine's report of maintenance of the industry's capacity at 21 per cent, United States Steel was unable to buck the selling tide and posted a recession of more than a point at the close.

Others in the standard pivotal sector registered losses at the close, in most cases more than a point, including American Can, American Telephone, Du Pont, General Electric, General Motors, Radio, Western Union, and Westinghouse. Radio maintained the sizeable volume figures established a short while back.

Railroads made their best showing around noon. At other times they sold lower by fractions to more than three points. Net losses in value among the more active shares were posted by Santa Fé, Chesapeake and Ohio, Lackawanna, New York Central, Southern Pacific, and Union Pacific.

CHASE HARRIS BUYS MILWAUKEE COUNTY BONDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—Two bids were recieved today by Milwaukee county, Wis., on an issue of $1,000,000 relief bonds, the award going to the Chase Harris Forbes corporation and associates at a price of 98.15 for 4s. Public offering was made this afternoon at prices to yield from 2.25 per cent for the earliest maturity, 1933, to 4.20 for the longest, 1942.

Associated with the Chase in this financing are Kidder, Peabody & Co., Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., R. H. Moulton & Co., and Stern Bros. of Kansas City. A group headed by the National City company bid 98.09 for the bonds at 4¾s. The bonds mature $50,000 a year from 1933 to 1939, $217,005 a year in 1940 and 1941 and $216,000 in 1942.

Milwaukee county, which includes the City of Milwaukee, has an assessed valuation of $1,549,873,060 and a net bonded debt of $37,421,588, including this new issue.

Kroger Grocery and Baking company sales for the four weeks ended Nov. 5 totaled $15,667,143, a decrease of 12.4 per cent from a year ago. The number of stores in operation averaged 4,765 against 4,890, a decrease of 2.5 per cent.

YESTERDAY'S CHART

A unit of 100 pounds was used in the table appearing in yesterday's TRIBUNE giving the amount of live stock it would have required to pay the salaries of Washington bureau heads in the 12 year period from 1920-'32. Live stock is customarily quoted in 100 pound units and this basis was used in the chart. An explanation of the method used was inadvertently omitted.

Utility Head Finds Trade Gain Holds Up

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Luke C. Bradley, president of the three hundred million dollar Consolidated Electric and Gas company, reports that business in the communities served by his company is improving and that sentiment, especially among business men in smaller cities, is much better.

Consolidated Electric and Gas company is the new name for Central Public Service corporation, which has just been reorganized. Its subsidiaries operate in 514 communities in 24 states, from Maine and Florida to Puget Sound, and serves 6,500,000 people with electricity or gas.

Believe Uptrend Continues.

"I have noticed," Mr. Bradley said yesterday, "that some of the business indices have continued to point in a general upward direction since last summer. Recently, in some lines of business, the trend has been mixed, but I do not believe that the advance has ceased.

"I have been particularly encouraged by the reports from some of the smaller cities. Each week I receive a letter from the company manager in each of the 514 communities served by our operating companies.

"This system of weekly reports was started more than a year ago. For many months the news was almost universally discouraging. During the summer a few items of cheer began to creep in, and for the last two months there has been a decided improvement in the news reported by the company managers."

Quotes Plant Managers.

To illustrate his point Mr. Bradley exhibited a large sheaf of letters representing the October chapter in the story of events in the Consolidated's territory.

The plant manager at Pottsville, Pa., wrote:

"Mills on exceptional working time. Tonnage mined showed 20 per cent increase over previous week."

Charleston, S. C., reported:

"American Cigar company handled more cigars in September than in any other month for two years."

Martinsburg, W. Va., said:

"Mills operating full time—some day and night shifts."

Marshall, Mich., advised that its furnace company had resumed operations. Muncie, Ind., said that the American Sheet and Tinplate company had resumed operations at 40 per cent of capacity, after being closed since April. Wheeling, W. Va., relayed the word that the Hazel Atlas Glass company had received an order for a million bottles.

Mirror of Conditions.

In Atlanta, Ga., the Globe Cotton mills resumed operations, after being idle for eight months. At Lincoln, Ill., the Brewerton mines reëmployed all men who worked last year. At Hagerstown, Md., there was a 15 per cent employment gain since July 1. At Portland, Ore., fir mills were reported operating at 25 per cent above logging production rate.

Bangor, Me., said silk hosiery mills were advertising for knitters, for the first time in two years. Batesville, Ind., said freight shipments were increasing daily.

"The encouraging thing is," Mr. Bradley said, "that these company managers are simply mirroring what they find in their own communities. They would have no reason for trying to paint the picture brighter than it is. Until about two months ago they were all pretty discouraging.

"Something has happened since August. I'm not sure just what it is. And it would be impossible to classify the information contained in these letters. I do believe that things have taken a turn for better throughout the nation."

PITTSBURGH BANK WILL NOT OPEN THIS MORNING

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The board of directors of the Duquesne National bank announced late tonight the institution will not reopen for business. Heavy withdrawals during the last few weeks and a shrinkage of securities necessitated this action, the announcement said.

In its last statement, issued as of Sept. 30, the bank's assets were listed at $9,178,451.03. The affairs of the institution will be turned over to the controller of currency.

Sherman Law Check on Trade Packers Told

Public interest is being violated by the restraint placed on trade by the Sherman anti-trust law, according to the deduction drawn yesterday by Rush C. Butler, chairman of the committee on commerce of the American Bar association. Mr. Butler spoke before 500 meat packers' representatives attending the 27th annual convention of their institute at the Drake hotel. The law in effect puts the government in business, he said.

Attorney Butler described the processes used in enforcing the law as a series of handicaps to busines. He criticized the system by which the United States Supreme court renders judgments years after an act has been committed. This system, he said keeps men from entering into lawful and commendable contracts as well as from entering into unlawful agreements.

Basis of Fear.

"When fear of the law keeps men from entering into lawful contracts the public interest is violated. The Sherman act is the basis for such fear and is therefore more than a law—it is a power beyond the law and the conclusion is inevitable that the government is in business under the Sherman law."

Meat prices are as low as they can go and the next price movement must be upward, John W. Rath of Waterloo, Ia., chairman of the Institute of American Meat Packers, told the convention today.

"Prices now are at the 1878 level," Rath said, "and like the man who can't fall out of bed when he's sleeping on the floor, they can't go lower."

Rath commented on the high tariff that faces American packers abroad and told of attempts being made by the institute to surmount these barriers.

Meat Consumption Steady.

William W. Woods of Chicago, president of the institute, announced an increase of 4 per cent in the consumption of pork this year over 1931, due to low prices. Consumption of all kinds of meat for the year would be about the same as 1931, he said.

He presented a table showing that meat prices now are from 25 to 61 per cent lower than two years ago and from 21 to 39 per cent under 1931 levels.

In the face of this, he said, packers have been able to pay the farmers cash for their products.

Sixteen men who have passed the 50 year mark in years of service in the industry were awarded gold buttons in a ceremony presided over by Frank A. Hunter of East St. Louis, Ill.

The annual dinner is to be held tonight at the Palmer house with addresses by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress exposition, and Ralph E. Heilman, dean of the school of commerce of Northwestern university.

COCA COLA CO. EARNS $7.30 SHARE; WALGREEN REPORTS NET OF $1.75

Beverage Firm Declares Regular Payment. Omits Extra.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—Coincident with the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the common stock of the Coca Cola company and the announcement that the usual quarterly extra disbursement of 25 cents had been eliminated, the company reported net income for the first nine months of 1932 was equal to $7.30 on the common stock after taxes and dividends on the class A stock.

For the corresponding months of 1931 net earnings were equal to $9.23 a share on the common. The board had been paying extra dividends in each of the last few quarters.

Taxes Hurt Business.

President R. W. Woodruff of the company, commenting on the earnings statement, told the board that practically all decline in earnings was due to an increase in taxation and a decrease in sales during the third quarter, and that a loss in sales was to be expected in view of the excessive purchases by the trade during the second quarter in anticipation of the imposition of the federal excise tax.

The company announced plans to continue advertising activities for 1933 at new peak levels. Directors indicated that advertising appropriation for next year had been materially increased over the 1932 expenditure, which was the largest in the concern's history.

Earn $2.16 in Quarter.

Net earnings of Coca Cola for the September quarter amounted to $2,679,016, equal after class A dividends to $2.16 a share on 1,000,000 no par common shares, compared with $3,805,317, or $3.75 a share for the third quarter of 1931. Total income for the nine months was $8,802,553, against $10,942,678 in the corresponding period last year.

The Royalite Oil company, a subsidiary of the Imperial Oil, which is controlled by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, declared a dividend of $1 on common capital stock. The last previous dividend was paid in March, 1932, when 50 cents was distributed. In 1931 one payment of 50 cents was made, March 16.

Iron Fireman Manufacturing company omitted the quarterly dividend of 10 cents on the common stock due at this time.

Charles R. Walgreen, president of the Walgreen company, in his annual report to stockholders issued yesterday said that an announcement concerning the dividend prospects for the common stockholders will be made at the annual meeting next month.

The company reported net operating income of $1,867,620 for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, as compared with $2,260,351 in the previous year. Net profit was $1,633,107, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $1.75 a share on 773,859 shares outstanding at the close of the year. This compares with $2.05 a share in the previous year. Dividends never have been paid on the common stock. The profit reflects the deduction of $876,861 for depreciation of buildings, equipment, etc., and $113,724 for amortization of short lived equipment.

Surplus Is Reduced.

Earned surplus of the company has been reduced to $4,121,125, as compared with $5,933,565 at the end of the previous year through certain write-offs. Deductions included $1,584,5 for write-off of leasehold improvement and $917,071 for write-down of equipment values.

The Sept. 30 balance sheet discloses current assets of $7,925,713 and current liabilities of $2,344,944. Current assets included cash of $1,397,240.

The company opened 30 new stores during the year and closed 20 units, bringing the total now in operation to 471.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—The Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation reported today an operating profit of $776,031 for the September quarter. After all charges the company sustained a net loss of $212,013 for the period, compared with a deficit of $1,252,907 for the corresponding three months last year.

Net income from operations for the first nine months of 1932 totaled $2,286,729. After all charges, however, the company reported a net loss of $943,907, compared with a net loss of $4,154,729 for the same 1931 period.

Current assets as of Sept. 30, 1932, were $17,701,930, of which $6,770,673 was in cash and short term United States government notes. Current liabilities were $1,925,826, making net current assets $15,776,103, or more than nine times current liabilities. The company has no bank loans, bonds or preferred stock outstanding.

Report of the Houston Oil company of Texas and Houston Pipe Line company for the third 1932 quarter showed consolidated net loss of $173,685 after all charges, against net loss of $410,718 for the same 1931 interval. Operations for the first nine months resulted in net loss of $295,220, against net income of $51,494 in the 1931 period.

Bankers Defer Action on Cut in Interest Rate

The Chicago clearing house committee met yesterday to consider the proposal to reduce the interest rate on savings deposits and decided to refer the matter to a meeting of the entire clearing house association to be held in the near future.

The present interest rate is three per cent. A number of banks are understood to favor a reduction to two or two and a quarter per cent in view of the low yield at present on the type of securities in which funds from the savings departments must be invested by the banks.

Three Banks Ask Delay.

"Representatives of three banks stated at the committee meeting that their institutions had not yet had an opportunity to investigate the proposition fully and asked that it be deferred until their directors had acquainted themselves with all angles and had come to a decision," George M. Reynolds, chairman of the clearing house committee said after yesterday's session.

"For that reason we adjourned without making any recommendation. The three that have not yet made any decision are expected to do so within a few days. Then we will be ready to call a meeting of the entire clearing house association to settle the proposition. The committee must give the association a week's notice."

Two Weeks to Decide.

If the association decides to alter the interest rate on savings deposits it is understood the change would be made as of Jan. 1. Depositors, according to law, must be given 30 days notice. For that reason, the proposition will probably be settled one way or the other during the next two weeks.

Bennett Admits Canada Backs Wheat Pools

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 14.—Prime Minister Bennett today admitted in parliament that the government had guaranteed the banks against loss in their advances to the Canadian Coöperative Wheat Pools, Ltd., which has been carrying on hedging operations in the Winnipeg market to prevent violent fluctuations.

"The government had to consider," he said, "whether the interests of Canada as a whole would be best served by continuing the bonus of 5 cents per bushel which we granted last year or by supporting the Canadian Coöperative Wheat Pools, Ltd., for the purpose of protecting the general situation in connection with the marketing of wheat.

Calls Action Necessary.

"It gave us very great anxiety and concern, but it was quite apparent from the reports we received from every person interested in the trade," continued the prime minister, "that unless hedging operations could be carried on there could be no marketing of this year's crop. The result in that case would be that the price of wheat would fall back to less than 40 cents per bu. Therefore, not pegging the price, and not interfering in any sense with the operation of the law of supply and demand, but to secure the orderly and regulated disposition of the crop, the steps I have indicated were taken, and the pools, under the direction of John I. Macfarland, became the hedging agency in order to enable, with the assistance of the government, sales to take place and the crop to be marketed."

Might Lose Now.

While the prime minister admitted that some loss might be incurred if the transaction were terminated at once, he added that "it is not possible that any heavy obligations will be incurred unless something very unforeseen happens. In any event the amount involved will be less than would be involved by the payment of a bonus of 5 cents per bu. which would mean nearly $20,000,000 on the basis of this year's crop."

He said the security of the banks must not be imperiled by violent fluctuations, and admitted the government would stand to lose if the support were withdrawn now and the market wrecked. He would not hazard a guess as to when the government's support might be withdrawn.

SHORT COVERING BOOSTS PRICE OF BRITISH POUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—Publication of the British note asking for revision of the war debt to the United States led to further covering by the speculative interests, which has sold sterling exchange short and caused a further advance of 1¼ cents in the pound early today.

After closing at $3.32⅞ on Saturday, sterling opened here at $3.34½, principally, it is believed, on the covering of short positions. After the early flurry in which those positions were protected, the rate reacted in the early afternoon to $3.33 1-16, a small advance over Saturday's close.

The volume of business was small, the rate advancing sharply on moderate purchases and reacting promptly as soon as the covering was accomplished.

Traders who covered their short positions were reported to be motivated by the belief that the payment of the $95,000,000 due on the British war debt on Dec. 15 would be postponed, at least while the plea for a revision was under discussion.

This would eliminate pressure on the British government to sell sterling for dollars and so ease the market.

Both Factions Call It "Victory for Us."

Cord Going East

Los Angeles, Nov. 14.—(AP)—E. L. Cord, automobile and aviation executive, and several associates will leave here Friday for New York to attend a meeting of directors of the Aviation corporation of Delaware, he said tonight.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

The injunction obtained by E. L. Cord, Chicago automobile and airplane manufacturer, last Thursday to restrain the consolidation of the Aviation corporation, in which he is the largest stockholder, and North American Aviation, Inc., was voided yesterday by the Chancery court, according to dispatches from Wilmington, Del.

L. M. MANNING. [Grignon Photo.]

Counsel for both sides agreed that the directors' meeting of the Aviation corporation scheduled for today in New York City will be adjoured for one week to give Mr. Cord, a director, an opportunity to come east from his home at Beverly Hills, Cal., to attend the meeting. Under that agreement the merger will not be acted upon until Nov. 22 at the earliest.

Blocks Stockholder Meeting.

It was ascertained that Mr. Cord will not have an opportunity to call a meeting of stockholders before that date. The by-laws of the Aviation corporation require at least a ten day notice. Officials of the Cord corporation said the stockholders' meeting, at which Mr. Cord hopes to wrest control of the Aviation corporation from a group of New York bankers now in power, will be held on Dec. 21 as previously announced.

Today's action was taken on a motion filed last Saturday by the Aviation corporation. LaMotte T. Cohu, president of Aviation corporation and one of the bankers' group, hailed the ruling as a "victory for our side." Under the contract for the consolidation of the assets of Aviation and North American sufficient new stock of Aviation corporation will be issued to reduce Mr. Cord's holdings of 800,000 shares from about 30 to about 15 per cent.

"Scores Point for Cord."

L. B. Manning, vice president of the Cord corporation, in a statement issued in the east last night pointed out that the answer of the Aviation corporation filed in the Chancery court "disclaimed all intention of issuing new stock of Aviation corporation to acquire assets of North American Aviation, Inc., without first securing the approval of the majority of the stockholders of both corporations."

Exacting analyses of the assets of both corporations are being made by auditors and engineers of repute, and will be supplied to stockholders before their meeting on Dec. 21, he added. Mr. Manning viewed the Aviation corporation's answer in regard to stockholders' approval as a victory for the Cord forces, since it reverts the battle for control to its original phase—a battel for proxies.

In answer to a published statement of the bankers' group, Mr. Cord issued a statement last night in which he declared, "They stoop to mud slinging instead of giving a businesslike

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—Without any significant business or political news, the bond market turned reactionary today, erasing some of the gains scored last week.

Railroad bonds bore the brunt of the profit taking, having enjoyed the most rapid gains in the last few trading sessions. Losses in this division however, were for the most part limited to a point or so, and amounted to little more than a temporary halt in the uptrend.

Foreign government loans moved sympathetically with the domestic list, failing to derive any stimulus from the discussions of possible action toward reducing or postponing the war loan payments due this country on Dec. 15.

Treasury Liens Steady.

United States government loans also were little influenced by this factor, despite the fact that omission of payments would serve further to unbalance the national budget.

Besides losses in the railroad list, there occurred recessions of several points in some of the speculative utility bonds, notably issues of International Telephone and American and Foreign Power.

High grade bonds, however, held firm, with utilities particularly showing underlying strength despite anticipation of new financing to be announced shortly. Of major interest in bond circles now is the expected offering of $27,500,000 of Toledo Edison bonds.

Western Roads Slip.

Principal declines in the rail list were in obligations of Chicago and North Western, Great Northern, New York Central, and others. Issues of Baltimore and Ohio moved narrowly.

Dullness in United States government bonds was still ascribed by dealers to the many uncertainties attending the December session of congress. A slight improvement was noted today, however, constituting a mild recovery of last week's losses. Dealers anticipated another low rate on the sale of treasury bills scheduled for today.

General Foods.

Please send me information concerning General Foods corporation.—F. R. F.

General Foods corporation was incorporated in 1895 to manufacture cereal products, such as coffee substitute and breakfast foods. Since 1925 the company acquired many companies manufacturing noncompetitive products. Output now includes cake flour, tapioca, chocolate, mayonnaise, sirups, coffee, laundry products, seafood, salt, and gelatine.

Net profit for the first nine months of 1932 was $10,339,000, or $1.97 per share, against net of $14,408,000, or $2.47 per common share, for the corresponding 1931 period.

Net income for 1931, before $538,000 reserve for losses on foreign exchange, was $18,154,000, or $3.44 per share, against net of $19,089,000, or $3.63 per share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $19,422,000, against $14,556,000 for 1928.

On Sept. 30, 1932, current assets were $35,791,000 and current liabilities were $6,325,000. Cash assets were $11,604,000. Working capital was $29,466,000, against $30,382,000 on Dec. 31, 1931, and $27,578,000 on Dec. 31, 1930.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 5,251,493 shares of no par common stock.

The company has developed a process for freezing perishable food products. Distribution of these is now being conducted through the eastern section of the United States. This division is not yet on a profitable basis. Future earnings statements, however, will no be subject to deductions for experimentation on this process.

The company has been able to report comparative stability in earnings throughout the last three years. This has been due to several factors.

It deals in foodstuffs, the demand for which is ordinarily stable. It is not dependent on one or two products, but covers a wide field, both in output and territory. This has not only provided diversification, but has enabled the management to put into effect many economies of operation.

Its most important products are nationally advertised. This has served to maintain volume sales in a highly competitive market.

Represented on the board of directors are Goldman, Sachs & Co., Lehman Brothers, Chase National bank, Bankers' Trust company, and Central Hanover Bank and Trust company.

Regular quarterly dividends of 75 cents a share have been paid since 1928. The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

WHEAT RALLIES 1½ CENTS, BUT SLUMPS LATER

Corn Prices Are Firm and Close Higher.

WHEAT PRICES IN GOLD

Prices of wheat in the world's leading markets figured on a gold basis, computed from rates of exchange prevailing at the time they closed, follow:

	Mon.	Sat.
Chicago, December	.45⅝	.45⅝
Winnipeg, December	.41¾	.42⅛
Liverpool, December	.53⅜	.52
Liverpool, No. 2 Manitoba	.56⅜	.55⅝
Buenos Aires, February	.40¼	.40¼
Rotterdam, November	.47⅛	.47

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bullish enthusiasm ran high in the grain markets early Monday with December wheat selling up 1½c over Saturday's finish to 47¼c, showing 4¾c above the recent low, the largest upturn witnessed in that grain since late in August.

Houses with eastern connections were aggressive buyers of wheat early, but the late weakness in stocks caused local longs to take the selling side. The advance was largely lost toward the last with a decline in the northwest and Winnipeg having some effect. Closing trades, however, were at net gains of ⅛@¼c, with December at 45⅝@46c; May, 50¾@50⅞c, and July, 51⅞@52c.

Selling against offers and by operators who thought there had been sufficient upturn for the time being had considerable influence in wheat. Outside trade was fairly active. There was much comment heard during the day regarding the movement on the part of foreigners seeking a revision of war debts. In some quarters this was regarded as constructive as it tended to bring to a head the unfavorable economic situation which has been such a factor in depressing the price of wheat both in this country and in other exporting countries.

South Russia Faces Famine.

Numerous reports of a bullish character on wheat were circulated during the day, some of which had an effect on the Liverpool market. The latter closed ⅝@½c per bu higher with December at 52⅝c on reports of a food scarcity in Russia with famine feared in the southern sections. The latter normally furnishes the bulk of the grain which goes for export. Offerings of cash wheat from Canada and Argentina were reported as firmer.

Rumania is expected to lower the import duty on wheat unless the market in that country shows evidence of declining. It is estimated imports this season will be around 10,000,000 bu, whereas there is normally a liberal exportable surplus.

No rain of consequence was received in the dry sections of the winter wheat belt, and the Missouri monthly report indicated the reduction in acreage in that state would be larger than expected.

There was considerable buying of wheat futures at one time on a report issued by B. W. Snow calling attention to the wide difference in the spring wheat acreage given by the private estimates as compared with the government figures. He expressed the belief the crop this year might be around 240,000,000 bu, or 20,000,000 bu less than the recent official returns.

A runaway bull market is not anticipated in wheat judging from the sales of offers on the May future, good until May 31, 1933, at 85c per bu. This was about 33c above the actual price in the pit at the time. A house with eastern connections was the seller.

Corn Futures Hold Firm.

While there was not the activity shown in corn as on Saturday the market had a firm undertone and closed ⅛@⅜c higher. December was 26⅞c; May, 31¾@31⅞c, and July, 32¾c at the last. Nothing was heard regarding export business but the early advance to 27½c for the December or ½c over Saturday's finish failed to bring out the expected increase in country offerings to arrive. Purchases of only 117,000 bu from the country were reported by local handlers.

Unfavorable weather conditions over the west the last few days is affecting the movement of new corn to terminals, and this condition is expected to continue for several days.

Barley Futures React.

Barley was firm early with prices up around 1c from Saturday's finish but reacted later on selling by the northwest and closed ⅜@¾c lower. December was 32¾c and May 35c at the last. There is considerable agitation in the trade for a revision in the grades which can be delivered on future contracts, the demand being for malting grain rather than the feed type. Brokers see prospects of a big business with malters in case the proper kind of grain is certain to be delivered. Minneapolis barley was reported as close to a shipping basis with Chicago yesterday.

Oats finished unchanged to ⅛c higher with December 16¾c and May, 19c, while rye was ⅛@¼c higher. Closing of spreads with wheat and profit taking furnished the bulk of the business in the latter grain. December finished at 30¾c, and May at 34½@34⅝c.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was less active today and under increased offerings of store sugar prices declined 2 points to the basis of 3.13c for spots. Sales were only 9,100 bags of Cuban from store to a local refiner at 3.13c, although it was believed that more was available, but refiners showed no further interest. After holding fairly steady early futures turned easier on increased selling, promoted by the more liberal offerings in the spot market. Final prices were 3 to 4 points net lower. A report said that the Sugar Export corporation estimated 1,400,000 bags of its sugar damaged from 5 to 50 per cent by the hurricane. Other advices said that all mills in the Camagney district, which was the most seriously affected, suffered damage, but that the amount of sugar lost was not yet known. Sales were 11,550 tons. Prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
January	1.02	1.02	1.00	1.00	1.03

July	1.10	1.11	1.06	1.07	1.11
September	1.14	1.14	1.11	1.11	1.15

Refined sugar was unchanged. Refiners continue to list at 4.25c for fine granulated while second hands were available at around 3.17½c.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable oil was steady today on covering and local buying influenced by the steadiness of lard, with final prices 1 to 3 points net higher on active positions. Sales were only three contracts, or 450 barrels. Bleachable spot closed 3.90c; December, 4.03c; January, 4.08c; March, 4.26c; May, 4.38c.

PRICES OF HOGS CRUMBLE UNDER LARGE RECEIPTS

Cattle Market Declines; Lambs Lower.

Hog prices crumbled under pressure of 40,000 head yesterday, closing only 25@30c above the low spot, with 28,000 estimated for today. Although the increase was moderate compared with other years, available supplies were beyond requirements at last week's level of prices. A year ago yesterday Chicago handled 63,209 hogs. This run was followed by 39,120 on Tuesday.

Yesterday's top dropped to $3.65, with the general average off 15c at $3.45. These prices compare with a top of $3.95 and average of $3.65 last Friday and with a high of $4 and average of $3.80 at the high point of last week. Buying held to a good pace considering the 2c break in fresh pork loins, but there were more than enough hogs to go around. Armour, Swift, and Wilson handled a combined total of 22,000, the largest one-day buy this season.

Price Range Widens.

The holdover of 5,000 at the close consisted mostly of "pickover" stock. The range of hog prices continues to widen, with underweight stock at the top of the list. Medium and weighty butchers are increasing in numbers, which, traders believe, will be the trend all winter.

Bumper corn crops are always associated with an abundance of "lard" hogs. Packing houses anticipate a greater proportion of these "overdone" swine during the last part of the winter and early spring, because of the low cost of grain in the country.

Cattle Get Jolt.

Cattle also got a hard jolt yesterday when 20,000 came into the yards. Trading remained almost at a standstill until late in the afternoon. Practically all of last week's gains of 25@50c were rubbed out in light steers and butcher stock, while weighty beeves sank to new lows for the fall season.

Offerings were larger than usual for this time of the year. On the corresponding day in 1931, 15,807 arrived, while two years ago the Monday run was only 11,693. Indications of a good sized holdover at the close yesterday made late bargain hunters insistant in their demands for more than 50c reduction. An advance estimate of 8,000 for today added to the weakness.

Closing prices were lowest of the day and not far from the year's bottom. Choice 1,116 lb steers topped the market at $8.10, making the lowest Monday top since June 20. This price shows a decline of $2.25 compared with the high point of the year in September, and is only 45c above the low spot of the year, in June. A year ago yesterday top cattle sold at $12.55, and a week later reached $13.00.

Lambs Hit Snag.

The lamb market struck a snag yesterday and lost 25@50c of last week's sensational gains. Available supplies got ahead of the demand. Reports from the wholesale trade were encouraging, with dressed lamb selling at the highest prices since Sept. 21, but with poultry season coming on local houses were not anxious to load up with much meat. The advance in dressed lambs was attributed to the scarcity caused by last week's extremely light receipts.

Trading in live lambs dragged slowly. City butchers hand picked occasional lots of natives up to $6.25, while the majority of the crop of natives and fed westerns turned at $5.50@6.00. Aged sheep and yearlings ruled steady to 25c lower. There was a good demand for feeding lambs at $4.75@5.25, but few were available. Shipments of replacement stock from here last week, both of cattle and sheep, were smallest in several weeks.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 7,772 cattle, 14,053 hogs, and 7,249 sheep the previous Tuesday, and 6,719 cattle, 39,120 hogs, and 15,065 sheep a year ago.

Housing Bill Indorsed at the City Club

BY AL CHASE.

Unanimous approval of the proposed housing act which, if passed, will enable Illinois to take advantage of the Reconstruction Finance corporation millions to finance large housing projects for families of small means, was given yesterday at a gathering of representatives of various organizations, held at the City club. Alfred K. Stern, chairman of the Illinois state housing commission, presided at the meeting.

HERBERT BEBB. [Wallinger Photo.]

Herbert Bebb, vice president of the City club, introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: "Resolved, That we, the members of various professional, political and civic and educational organizations meeting at the call of the labor committee and the city planning and zoning committee of the City club, heartily indorse senate bills 9, 10, 11, and 12, now pending before the general assembly of the state of Illinois, to permit the organization of limited dividend housing corporations and that we urge the prompt passage of these bills by the assembly."

Give the Public More.

Ernest Grunsfeld, one of the architects of the big Rosenwald Michigan avenue garden apartments and also architect of the Adler planetarium, said that if the housing act were passed it would be possible to give the public more than they've ever had before in reasonably priced apartments, and also result in good, decent housing for people who've never had any.

Coleman Woodbury, secretary of the Illinois Housing commission, told of what already had been accomplished in New York, the only state which had a housing act at the time and thus the only commonwealth which could qualify for R. C. F. loans. Since the passage of the federal emergency relief and construction act of 1932, which authorized the loans, Ohio and Texas have passed enabling acts.

New York Projects Earn Money.

"New York has eleven housing projects built and in operation since it passed its housing act in 1926," said Mr. Woodbury, "and all of them show a net income. The reasons for this success are that there were no large promotional fees, no watered stock, careful loans, sound appraisals and good management. They weren't built and then sold to some one else who knows nothing about real estate."

Mr. Stern predicted success for the Illinois housing bills, which, he said, would be presented to the state senate either today or tomorrow. Several amendments have been made to the original bill to counteract the criticism made by downstate interests.

OVERRULE STATE PROTEST ON RAIL RATE INCREASES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today ordered freight rates increased effective Dec. 16 in Louisiana, Montana, Kentucky and Idaho.

The commission's action was taken in connection with its investigation of the refusal of a number of state railroad commissions to permit railroads to put into effect increases authorized last December. Some states authorized increases but excepted certain products while Kentucky refused to permit any.

WESTERN POWER, LIGHT IS PLACED IN RECEIVERSHIP

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Western Power, Light and Telephone company, a $27,000,000 utility holding company with properties centering in the southwestern states, has been placed in equity receivership by the federal District court. Judge James H. Wilkerson appointed Robert L. Tudor, president of the company, as equity receiver last Friday, but the order was suppressed until yesterday.

The company was promoted in 1927 when investment bankers and others were busy consolidating properties and organizing holding corporations. It acquired and consolidated under a single management a group of public utility properties in Kansas and Oklahoma formerly controlled by the Central States Telephone and Power company. It floated a substantial amount of securities in financing the acquisitions.

The receiver's bond was set at $25,000 by Judge Wilkerson. It was explained that the court order was suppressed until yesterday in order to allow ancillary proceedings to be started in Kansas City. The company's offices are located in Salina and Kansas City, Kas.

A Friendly Action.

The action here was a friendly proceeding brought by interests close to the present management. The bill was filed by Attorneys Henry J. and Charles Arron, representing a committee of bondholders.

The bill sets forth that the company defaulted Aug. 1, 1932, on interest and note maturity amounting to $455,000. The company also has impending maturities which it will be unable to meet, the bill asserts. The maturities, it is recited, are $1,060,000 of notes falling due Dec. 28, 1932, and $2,999,000 of notes which become payable Feb. 15, 1933.

The bill attributed the concern's financial predicament to the general business depression and the prevailing conditions in the money market. The current cash resources of the company have been exhausted, it is alleged. J. A. Kennedy, vice president of the company, has consented to the receivership on behalf of the concern.

Business of Company.

The lines of business engaged in by the company include electrical power, telephone, gas, water service, ice plants and the coal, wood and salt industries.

Gross income of the parent company in 1931 was $3,515,873 and $3,764,252 in 1930. The consolidated balance sheet at the close of last year carried assets at $27,307,086.

A complete change in management was effected several months ago. Mr. Tudor, a banker, succeeded Nathan L. Jones as president and all the old officers retired.

The company has several issues of securities outstanding in the hands of the public. Funded debt totals $12,380,000 consisting of $4,736,000 first lien collateral 6 per cent bonds; $3,585,000 first lien series B bonds; $2,599,000 6 per cent notes and $1,000,000 of one year notes falling due Dec. 28.

Stocks of Company.

Stocks consist of $5,500,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock, which is represented by 55,000 shares; $406,909 5 per cent preferred or 3,069 shares; 90,000 shares of $2 class A common stock and 200,000 shares of common stock.

The last dividend on the preferred stock, amounting to $1.75, was paid Jan. 1, 1932. In addition to the defaults mentioned in the bill the company failed to pay the Oct. 1 interest on its 6 per cent collateral bonds.

Securities of the company were distributed in this area by A. B. Leach & Co. George T. Leach, a member of that firm, was formerly a director of the company.

The bondholders' committee which brought the court action is composed of Francis A. Bonner, Hamilton Allport, Grant Gillian, and Raymond J. Hurley.

Bankers Weigh Probabilities of Stricter Federal Control

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—Faced with the prospect of far reaching changes in the banking laws of the country at the forthcoming session of congress, the banking community is considering what steps it should take to meet the situation.

The banking bill introduced into the senate earlier this year by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, which aroused a storm of protest from bankers in all sections of the country, is almost sure to come up again, bankers say, and the sweeping Democratic victory at the polls last Tuesday makes it certain, most of them believe, that Senator Glass will be able to obtain the passage of his bill, if not at the next session then certainly when the new congress convenes.

It was only because the last minute pressure of emergency legislation forced the Glass bill from its preferred position on the calendar that passage of the measure was avoided last spring. But the senator has vowed that he will not again permit it to be displaced.

Sets Up Rigid Rules.

The publication of the provisions of the Glass bill as it was originally drafted came as a profound shock to most bankers. The measure not only provided for changes in the relations between banks and their affiliates and for a revision of the federal reserve act, but it set up rigid limitations upon the loans and investments that national banks might make.

The effects of the bill, many bankers said, would have been such that numerous banks would have been forced to liquidate a large part of their investments and in some cases even to sell the very buildings which housed them.

Leading New York bankers and officials of the American Bankers' association hurriedly organized opposition to the measure. In response to their protests and because certain sections of the bill were found to be susceptible of diverse interpretations, the measure was twice sent back to the senate banking and currency committee for revision. The federal reserve board was called upon for comment and in a long letter, Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board, criticized parts of the bill and offered other proposals, several of which in their turn aroused keen banking opposition.

Banks Efforts Die Out.

A group of bankers, mostly heads of clearing house banks, undertook to study the entire problem and drafted a letter suggesting measures which they felt would accomplish the objects Senator Glass had in mind without so deeply affecting existing banking practices.

But when the Glass bill was displaced on the senate calendar last May, making it certain that the measure could not be voted upon at the last session of congress, this activity died down. Since then the bankers have made no further progress in reconciling their own differences of opinion on the subject and in formulating recommendations of positive nature for changes in the banking laws. With the election over and the reassembly of congress only three weeks off, the bankers found themselves this week no further advanced than they had been six months ago.

ADVOCATE ROADS REPLACE 2,000 MILES OF RAILS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Providence, R. I., Nov. 14.—A proposal has been made to the national transportation committee to tear up 2,000 miles of railroad tracks in New England and convert the roadbeds into hard surfaced highways, over which the railroads would run feeder lines of motor trucks.

The plan advocated by the Rhode Island commission on foreign and domestic commerce, a business advisory body appointed by the governor, has been presented to Calvin Coolidge, head of the national transportation committee.

It contemplates that the abandonment of the trackage would cut down the railroad capitalization about $200,000,000. Freight and passenger rates could be reduced on the trunk lines, the report assures, inasmuch as the railroads would have to earn interest on about $700,000,000 instead of $900,000,000 investment.

The report points out that there are approximately 8,000 miles of railroad in New England, 2,000 of which were built for short hauls between industrial communities which are now almost useless due to the efficiency of the motor truck for this type of transportation.

This mileage could easily be abandoned, it is stated in the report, and the rights of way sold to the states for them to construct highways. It is proposed the railroads would have prior rights on these roads and other trucks would pay toll charges.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES RECEDE ON ACTIVE TRADE

Reaction set in on the Chicago exchange yesterday carrying stock prices down from the quotations established during last week's advance. Trading continued fairly active as measured by recent volume with transactions reaching 40,000 shares.

Conspicuous in the recession were the shares which have recently been bulled on the strength of prospects for the change of the national prohibition law. Prima common, a newcomer to the list, lost ground and sold below 14 but rallied slightly before the close. Lynch corporation common was another recent favorite to lose ground.

All classes of issues were lower with the general market including the utilities, merchandising and other shares. Commonwealth Edison gave up about a point and Public Service 6 per cent preferred broke three points to 66.

ANTI-TRUST SUIT AGAINST RADIO DELAYED A WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 14.—The case of the United States of America vs. the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone and Telegraph, and others, charged with violation of the Clayton anti-monopoly and Sherman anti-trust acts, scheduled to open in the United States District court of Delaware here tomorrow morning, has been continued until Monday morning, Nov. 21.

Rumors of an amicable settlement out of court of the pending litigation, which looms as one of the greatest cases of attempted trust breaking on the part of the federal government, persisted here, but the preparations being made by the United States District court of Delaware, indicated greater likelihood that the case will go into litigation.

"BREWERY FOR SALE" ADVERTISEMENT FINDS MANY PURCHASERS

Chicago's interest in beer—from a financial point of view—was reflected yesterday in the response to an advertisement which appeared in THE TRIBUNE Sunday offering a large brewery property for sale.

Leo J. Sheridan, head of L. J. Sheridan & Co., stated yesterday that he wasn't in his office a minute until his telephone began to ring as Chicagoans sought information on the plant for which he is the agent.

The brewery offered for sale is the old McAvoy establishment occupying the entire block bounded by 23d and 24th streets, South Park boulevard, and the Illinois Central tracks, with the east 600 feet overlooking the World's Fair grounds.

Some of the inquiries, Mr. Sheridan said, were from brewing interests desiring to return to the beer manufacturing business. Others were from La Salle street houses interested in financing brewery operations. Mr. Sheridan said that he had never known an advertisement of a similar nature which resulted in bringing forth such a large number of inquiries.

Mr. Sheridan said that the brewery, which has a capacity of 400,000 barrels annually, is in such condition that it could be ready for operation in from 60 to 90 days. The old McAvoy company manufactured Malt Marrow in pre-prohibition days.

Many will recall the statue of Gambrinus, mythical Flemish king, famed as the first maker of beer, which adorned the huge building. This statue, one of four in the United States, was sold in 1928. A British syndicate owns a large interest in the property.

WESTERN ROADS TO REDUCE FARES FOR WORLD'S FAIR

H. W. Siddall announced yesterday that the member roads of the Western Passenger association will offer special passenger fares during the duration of the 1933 Chicago Century of Progress. Mr. Siddall, who is chairman of the association, states that the reduction is made as the roads' contribution to the success of the fair.

The announcement says the reduction will make effective three bases of reduced round trip fares to Chicago during the fair from as far west as Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, and all intermediate points.

Tickets honored in all classes of equipment will be on sale daily from May 26 to Oct. 15 in all points in the territory described above at one and a half fare for the round trip, with a final return limit of Nov. 15. Tickets honored in all classes of equipment with a thirty day return limit will be on sale at one and one-third the one way fare for the round trip daily from May 26 to Oct. 29, inclusive. Tickets good in coaches only at fare and a tenth for the round trip, with a sixteen days return limit, also will be en route will be permitted on each of the above tickets.

answer to stockholders of my charges of mismanagement and loss of over $38,000,000 of Aviation corporation funds. The real issue of our fight is that those in control of this corporation shall account to the stockholders for over $38,000,000 of stockholders' money that has been lost under their administration."

The battle for control of Aviation corporation has shaken the entire air transport industry, according to authorities. It was pointed out yesterday that the proposed Aviation-North American merger would give to one holding company outright ownership, or practical control, of all the large airlines in the country except one other system, United Air Lines.

Seek Ten Year Control.

Mr. Cord based his injunction suit upon the charge that the bankers' group that is in control of Aviation corporation, although they own but 7 per cent of its stock, seeks to extend its control over the consolidated systems and perpetuate that control for 10 years under an agreement that the new stock issued for the North American assets would be held in block and voted for them for that period.

Although the stock of the Aviation corporation was unchanged at 6¾ on the New York stock exchange today, there were signs of increasing shortage in the supply in the loan crowd of the exchange. The stock was quoted at an overnight premium for borrowers who were short of the issue of $1 for each 100 shares. This premium, brokers believed, was a repercussion of the struggle for control of the company.

C. E. Clifton, Oldest Lard Trader, Retires

Charles E. Clifton, the oldest lard trader on the Board of Trade, who has been a member of the exchange since 1882, has sold his membership for $5,600. It is understood he will retire. In the early days he was connected with Fowler Brothers, who were among the largest American and English packers and provision traders.
